Society And Politics In Medieval Italy The Evolution Of The Civil Life 1000 135:

The New Cambridge Medieval History: c. 1024-c. 1198. Pt. 1 and 2 Rosamond McKitterick, Paul Fouracre, Timothy Reuter, David Edward Luscombe, David Abulafia, Jonathan Riley-Smith, Christopher Allmand, Michael Jones, 1995 Crusading and Warfare in Medieval and Renaissance Europe Norman Housley, 2024-10-28 These studies span the period from the origins of the crusading movement in the 11th century until its final active phase during the Renaissance Some of the articles spring from Norman Housley's work on crusading against Christian heretics mercenary companies and lay powers which were involved in conflict with the Church Others reflect his interest in the way crusading developed after the fall of the Holy Land to the Muslims in 1291 A third group looks at other forms taken by religious warfare in Europe during the late Middle Ages and Renaissance Certain themes recur throughout One is the variety of ways in which war in God's name was portrayed and justified Another is the conflict of interest brought about by the diversity of crusading in the period from c 1200 onwards Above all the author shows the complexity longevity and significance of a movement whose impact on medieval society was massive and whose repercussions were profound Society and Politics in Mediaeval Italy J.K. Christ Among Them Edoardo Mungiello, 2009-05-27 This essay newly interprets the rise of the individual within the Italian peninsula between 1180 and 1300 It follows the historical events and the cultural products that define the period keeping in mind that the creators were conscious of a tangible real Christ in their midst For it is the time when Jesus was known to be in the Eucharist as a carnal potentiality as well as a time when Europeans on Crusade had reached his temporal abode As Christ as neighbor became a consistent idea the relationship towards that idea became one of accommodation making subsequent worship a form of individualism The later Renaissance was as much a specific reaction to a particular understanding of Christology within the cultural sphere as it was a reawakening of Classical ideals through a new paradigm of European selfhood outside of Christianity Understood in this way the Incarnation helped to produce an action based Christianity amenable to the needs of the Roman Church The later insistence upon text and notions of personal conscience that identifies the Reformation can now be seen as a true end to the Renaissance Christian praxis which began with the excitement over Christ among them The State as a Firm R.D. Auster, M. Silver, 2012-12-06 We seem to be witnessing the rebirth of the concept of an integrated social science a complete theory of human action and interaction in all its ramifications and complications What we call society is simply the totality of human exchange Economics is a theory of human exchange of certain types Although the qualities of what is being exchanged as well as the conditions of exchange may vary economic theory has recently broadened its scope sufficiently to begin to be general enough to handle these problems as well In the present work we attempt to see what insights are revealed by the application of economic categories to political history We feel there are many At this point Silver stops Auster continues A quick spin around the policy block in the new model so to speak hence Chapter 8 For the rest however this is truly a joint work The authors names appear in alphabetical order After 12 years of professional association claims to precedence in origination could too clearly be self deception Silver is even more pessimistic than Auster in particular about which types of reforms will be accepted With the rise to affluence of most members of our society the mass itself has become concerned with political reform as almost a new form of entertainment Unfortunately they have no idea how to improve matters

High Way to Heaven: The Augustinian Platform Between Reform and Reformation, 1292-1524 Eric Leland Saak, 2021-12-28 This volume reveals the political religious theological institutional and mythical ideals that formed the self identity of the Augustinian Order from Giles of Rome to the emergence of Martin Luther Based on detailed philological analysis this interdisciplinary study not only transforms the understanding of Augustine's heritage in the later Middle Ages but also that of Luther's relationship to his Order The work offers a new interpretative model of late medieval religious culture that sheds new light on the relationship between late medieval Passion devotion the increasing demonization of the Jews and the rise of catechetical literature It is the first volume of a planned trilogy that seeks to return late medieval Augustinian theology to the historical context of Augustinian religion
