Brown, 2017-01-31 In eighteenth century England the encounter between humans and other animals took a singular turn with the discovery of the great apes and the rise of bourgeois pet keeping These historical changes created a new cultural and intellectual context for the understanding and representation of animal kind and the nonhuman animal has thus played a significant role in imaginative literature from that period to the present day In Homeless Dogs and Melancholy Apes Laura Brown shows how the literary works of the eighteenth century use animal kind to bring abstract philosophical ontological and metaphysical questions into the realm of everyday experience affording a uniquely flexible perspective on difference hierarchy intimacy diversity and transcendence Writers of this first age of the rise of the animal in the modern literary imagination used their nonhuman characters from the lapdogs of Alexander Pope and his contemporaries to the ill mannered monkey of Frances Burney's Evelina or the ape like Yahoos of Jonathan Swift to explore questions of human identity and self definition human love and the experience of intimacy and human diversity and the boundaries of convention Later literary works continued to use imaginary animals to question human conventions of form and thought Brown pursues this engagement with animal kind into the nineteenth century through works by Mary Shelley Charles Dickens and Elizabeth Barrett Browning and into the twentieth with a concluding account of Paul Auster's dog novel Timbuktu Auster's work suggests that today as in the eighteenth century imagining other animals opens up a potential for dissonance that creates distinctive opportunities for human creativity
