John Dixon Hunt

The Building Of Castle Howard:

The Building of Castle Howard Charles Saumarez Smith, 1990-03-27 This book is the first complete study of the circumstances which led to the building of Castle Howard one of the greatest and best known English country houses It describes how and why Charles Howard third earl of Carlisle decided to build it how the architect Sir John Vanbrugh received his first commission how the building was paid for and where the money came from what the original interiors looked like how the gardens and park were laid out and the decision taken to build the first classical mausoleum in England designed by Nicholas Hawksmoor It relates the physical appearance of the architecture to the hopes desires and personalities of those involved in the building and makes it possible to look at the house in the way that it was intended to be seen by visitors in the eighteenth century The Building of Castle Howard should appeal to anyone who is interested in eighteenth century architecture in the history of gardens in country houses and in a historical detective story of a house which Sir John Vanbrugh was determined should be the top seat and garden of England

Gardens and the Picturesque John Dixon Hunt, 1992 A collection of Hunt's essays many previously unpublished dealing with the ways in which men and women have given meaning to gardens and landscapes especially with the ways in which gardens have represented the world of nature picturesquely

Chambers's Encyclopaedia Robert Chambers, 1879 House & Garden, 1907 Novel Images Peter Reynolds, 2013-07-18 Written specifically with the student in mind and focusing on a number of well known texts including Les Liaisons Dangereuses Nicholas Nickleby Nice Work and The Color Purple the contributions in this book demonstrate how we can look critically at literary adaptations and learn to distinguish between mythical images and the reality of the process that constructed them They argue that adaptations should not be seen as secondary or marginal because through them we can enter into an exciting debate with the literary text itself Originally published in 1993
