inhuman brutality appalling hardship and ever present death While Barry Custance Baker was enduring his 1000 days of captivity his young wife Phyllis was attempting to correspond with him and the families of Barrys unit Fortunately these moving letters have been preserved and appear edited by their daughter Hilary in this book along with Barrys graphic memoir written after the War Surviving the Death Railways combination of first hand account correspondence and comment provide a unique insight into the long nightmare experienced by those in the Far East and at home The result is a powerful and inspiring account of one of the most shameful chapters in the history of mankind which makes for compelling reading

From Shanghai to the Burma Railway Rory Laird,2020-04-30 A graphic record of one man s experience in an infamous POW camp during World War II and how he survived being forced to build the Death Railway Captured after fighting in the Malayan Campaign Richard Laird was incarcerated in Changi before being drafted as slave labor with F Force on the notorious Burma Railway He was one of only 400 out of 1600 to survive Songkurai No 2 Camp despite disease and terrible hardship His moving memoir begins with a rare description of ex patriate life in 1930s Shanghai with the Sino Japanese war raging around the European cantonments An additional dimension to his story is the developing relationship between the author and Bobbie Coupar Patrick to whom he became engaged shortly before the fall of Singapore Bobbie s letters graphically described her dramatic escape to Australia and work for Force 136 They were reunited in Colombo Ceylon and their son has been instrumental in compiling this exceptional record Three appendices round off this superb book including the official report on the hardships and losses suffered by F Force A compelling story that deserves to be widely read Firetrench

Asian Labor in the Wartime Japanese Empire Paul H. Kratoska,2014-12-18 During the Pacific War the Japanese government used a wide range of methods to recruit workers for construction projects throughout the occupied territories Mistreatment of workers was a major grievance both in widely publicized cases such as the use of prisoners of war and forced Asian labor to construct the Thailand Burma Death Railway and in a very large number of smaller projects In this book an international group of specialists on the Occupation period examine the labor needs and the recruitment and use of workers whether forced military or otherwise throughout the Japanese empire This is the first study to look at Japanese labor policies comparatively across all the occupied territories of Asia during the war years It also provides a graphic context for examining Japanese colonialism and relations between the Japanese and the people living in the various occupied territories

'Boredom is the Enemy' Amanda Laugesen,2016-04-15 War is often characterised as one percent terror 99 per cent boredom Whilst much ink has been spilt on the one per cent relatively little work has been directed toward the other 99 per cent of a soldier s time As such this book will be welcomed by those seeking a fuller understanding of what makes soldiers endure war and how they cope with prolonged periods of inaction It explores the issue of military boredom and investigates how soldiers spent their time when not engaged in battle work or training through a study of their creative imaginative and intellectual lives It examines the efforts of military authorities to provide solutions to military boredom and the problem of discipline and morale through the provisioning of entertainment and education but more importantly explores the ways in which soldiers responded to such efforts arguing that soldiers used entertainment and education in ways that suited them The focus in the book is on Australians and their experiences primarily during the First World War but with subsequent chapters taking the story through the Second World War to the Vietnam War This focus on a single national group allows questions to be raised about what might or might not be exceptional about the experiences of a particular national group and the ways national identity can shape an individual's relationship and engagement with education and entertainment It can also suggest the continuities and changes in these experiences through the course of three wars The story of Australians at war illuminates a much broader story of the experience of war and people's responses to war in the twentieth century
