The British Barbershopper A Study In Socio Musical Values:

The British Barbershopper Liz Garnett, 2005 Barbershop singing is a distinctive and under documented facet of Britain's musical landscape Imported from the USA in the 1960s it has developed into an active and highly organized musical community characterized by strong social support structures and a proselytizing passion for its particular style This style is defined within the community in largely music theoretical terms and is both highly prescriptive and continually contested but there is also a host of performance traditions that articulate barbershop's identity as a distinct and specific genre Liz Garnett documents and analyses the social and musical practices of this specialized community of music makers and extends this analysis to theorize the relationship between music and self identity The book engages with a range of sociological and musicological theoretical frameworks in order to explore the role of harmony ritual sexual politics performance styles and tag singing in barbershop This analysis shows how musical style and cultural discourses can be seen to interact in the formation of identity Garnett provides the first in depth scholarly insight into the British barbershop community and contributes to ongoing debates in the semiotics and the sociology of music Provided by publisher

Values and Music Education Estelle R. Jorgensen, 2021-11-09 What values should form the foundation of music education And once we decide on those values how do we ensure we are acting on them In Values and Music Education esteemed author Estelle R Jorgensen explores how values apply to the practice of music education We may declare values but they can be hard to see in action Jorgensen examines nine quartets of related values and offers readers a roadmap for thinking constructively and critically about the values they hold In doing so she takes a broad view of both music and education while drawing on a wide sweep of multidisciplinary literature Not only does Jorgensen demonstrate an analytical and dialectical philosophical approach to examining values but she also seeks to show how theoretical and practical issues are interconnected An important addition to the field of music education Values and

Music Education highlights values that have been forgotten or marginalized underscores those that seem perennial and illustrates how values can be double edged swords

A Different Voice, a Different Song Caroline Bithell, 2014 A Different Voice A Different Song traces the history of a grassroots scene that has until now operated largely beneath the radar but that has been gently gathering force since the 1970s At the core of this scene today are the natural voice movement founded on the premise that everyone can sing and a growing transnational community of amateur singers participating in multicultural music activity Author Caroline Bithell reveals the intriguing web of circumstances and motivations that link these two trends highlighting their potential with respect to current social political and educational agendas She investigates how and why songs from the world s oral traditions have provided the linchpin for the natural voice movement revealing how the musical traditions of other cultures not only provide a colourful repertoire but also inform the ideological methodological and ethical principles on which the movement itself is founded A Different Voice A Different Song draws on long term ethnographic research including participant observation at choir rehearsals performances workshops and camps as well as interviews with voice teachers choir and workshop leaders camp and festival organisers and general participants Bithell shows how amateur singers who are not musically literate can become competent participants in a vibrant musical community and in the process find their voice metaphorically as well as literally She then follows some of these singers as they journey to distant locations to learn new songs in their natural habitat She theorises these trends in terms of the politics of participation the transformative potential of performance building social capital the global village and reclaiming the arts of celebration and conviviality The stories that emerge reveal a nuanced web of intersections between the local and global one which demands a revision of the dominant discourses of authenticity cultural appropriation and agency in the post colonial world and ultimately points towards a more progressive politics of difference A Different Voice a Different Song will be an essential text for practitioners involved in the natural voice movement and other vocal methodologies and choral worlds As a significant study in the fields of ethnomusicology music education and community music the book will also be of interest to scholars studying the democratisation of the voice the dynamics of participation world musics in performance the transformative power of harmony singing and the potential of music making for sustaining community and aiding intercultural understanding

Powerful Voices Joshua S Duchan, 2012-04-04 The first scholarly account of the music and culture of collegiate a cappella

Popular History Now and Then Barbara Korte, Sylvia Paletschek, 2014-03-15 The present boom in popular history is not unprecedented The contributions to this volume investigate peaks of historical interest which favour popular approaches from around 1800 to the present They analyse the media genres and institutions through which historical knowledge has been disseminated from artefacts to the archive from poetry to photography from music to murals and from periodicals to popular TV series They ask how major traditions in the popular imagery of the past have evolved and changed over time Cultural contexts covered in the book include Western and Southern Europe the United States and West Africa Contributors come from a range of disciplines including history literary and cultural studies musicology as well as social and cultural anthropology

The British Pop Dandy Stan Hawkins, 2017-07-05 Who are pop dandies Why are stars like David Bowie Jarvis Cocker Pete Doherty and Robbie Williams so dandified Taking up a wide range of British pop stars Hawkins seeks to find out why so many have cast themselves in roles that often take style to absurd extremes In this study male pop artists are mapped against a cultural and historical background through a genealogy of personalities such as Oscar Wilde W H Auden Andy Warhol No Coward Derek Jarmen David Beckham and countless others A critical analysis of issues and approaches to musical performance through masculinity becomes the focal point of this fascinating study Ranging from the sixties to beyond the twentieth century The British Pop Dandy considers the construction of the male pop icon through the spectacle of videos live concerts and films Why do we derive pleasure from the performing body and how is entertainment linked to categories of gender and sexuality The author insists that pop performances can be understood through human characteristics that relate to the particulars of dandyism camp and glamour and this he theorizes through the work of Charles Baudelaire One of the political objectives of the dandy is to liberate himself through a denial of the structures that assume fixed identity Not least it is acts of queering in pop music that characterize entire generations of male artists in the UK Setting out to discover what distinguishes the British pop dandy Hawkins considers the role of music and performance in the articulation of hyperbolic display It is argued that the recorded voice is a construction that idealizes self representation and absorbs the listener's attention Particularly camp address in singing practice is taken up in conjunction with a discussion of intimacy which forms part of the strategy of the performer In a range of songs and videos selected for music analysis Hawkins points to the uniqueness of the voice as it expresses a transgressive quality

Guerrilla Music Leon de Bruin, Jane Southcott, 2024-05-13 Guerrilla Music Musicking as Resistance Defiance and Subversion explores human initiations and responses to music as a process and product intrinsically part of our culture history place time and ecological musical worlds The contributors challenge scholarly approaches wherein music is detached from the social relationships in which it is produced transmitted used and judged Guerrilla is a trope long applied to socio political machinations human conflict and confrontation Guerrilla Music provocatively explores research involving music practices stories communities and musickers worldwide that resist defy and subvert by silence and non compliance reluctant subordination subversive depowering resistive counterpoint or destructive violent dismantling Contexts spanning the subcultural local glocal and universal highlight the potency passions actions and life worlds of music musicians and those that become engulfed in musical maelstroms that incite change Guerrilla Music both invigorates and advances scholarly debates about social power colonisation and difference by exploring the social semiotics of music making and communities identifying powerful new ways of understanding human communication and what musicking means in the twenty first century

Choral Conducting and the Construction of Meaning Liz Garnett, 2017-07-05 It is a truism in teaching choral

conducting that the director should look like s he wishes the choir to sound The conductor s physical demeanour has a direct effect on how the choir sings at a level that is largely unconscious and involuntary It is also a matter of simple observation that different choral traditions exhibit not only different styles of vocal production and delivery but also different gestural vocabularies which are shared not only between conductors within that tradition but also with the singers It is as possible to distinguish a gospel choir from a barbershop chorus or a cathedral choir by visual cues alone as it is simply by listening But how can these forms of physical communication be explained Do they belong to a pre cultural realm of primate social bonding or do they rely on the context and conventions of a particular choral culture Is body language an inherent part of musical performance styles or does it come afterwards in response to music At a practical level to what extent can a practitioner from one tradition mandate an approach as good practice and to what extent can another refuse it on the grounds that we don t do it that way This book explores these questions at both theoretical and practical levels It examines textual and ethnographic sources and draws on theories from critical musicology and nonverbal communication studies to analyse them By comparing a variety of choral traditions it investigates the extent to which the connections between conductor demeanour and choral sound operate at a general level and in what ways they are constructed within a specific idiom Its findings will be of interest both to those engaged in the study of music as a cultural practice and to practitioners involved in a choral conducting context that increasingly demands fluency in a variety of styles

Sociology of Music Leon Stefanija, 2024-09-26 The textbook provides students with insight into and overview of the basics of social research on music It addresses the Who What When Where Why How of music research through four perspectives from the sociological study of music a historical survey of the social study of music when theoretical points of view what and methodological how and pragmatic aspects who why how The other Ws where and why are included within the four main perspectives The four perspectives history theory methodology and practice are complementary Some of the names included in the theory and practice of music are also listed as a part of the history of music sociology and vice versa In this way the book encompasses what Howard S Becker has conceptualized as an art world Kurt Blaukopf as musical practice and Christopher Small as musicking Covering all the relevant details yet concise in structure this book is ideal for students of the sociology of music musical education musicology and of arts and aesthetics
