The Cambridge Quintet A Work Of Scientific Speculation:

The Cambridge Quintet J. L. Casti, 1998-03-16 In this narrative tour de force five of the greatest minds of the 20th century argue whether machines will ever have the ability to think like humans and whether they should be allowed to do so Cambridge Quintet John L. Casti, 1996-05-21 Consciousness and Cognition Henri Cohen, Brigitte Stemmer, 2011-10-10 What were the circumstances that led to the development of our cognitive abilities from a primitive hominid to an essentially modern human The answer to this question is of profound importance to understanding our present nature Since the steep path of our cognitive development is the attribute that most distinguishes humans from other mammals this is also a quest to determine human origins This collection of outstanding scientific problems and the revelation of the many ways they can be addressed indicates the scope of the field to be explored and reveals some avenues along which research is advancing Distinguished scientists and researchers who have advanced the discussion of the mind and brain contribute state of the art presentations of their field of expertise Chapters offer speculative and provocative views on topics such as body culture evolution feelings genetics history humor knowledge language machines neuroanatomy pathology and perception This book will appeal to researchers and students in cognitive neuroscience experimental psychology cognitive science and philosophy Includes a contribution by Noam Chomsky one of the most cited authors of our time Bloomsbury Scientists Michael Boulter, 2017-09-25 Bloomsbury Scientists is the story of the network of scientists and artists living in a square mile of London before and after the First World War This inspired group of men and women viewed creativity and freedom as the driving force behind nature and each strove to understand this in their own inventive way Their collective energy changed the social mood of the era and brought a new synthesis of knowledge to ideas in science and art Class barriers were threatened as power shifted from the landed oligarchy to those with talent and the will to make a difference The Long Tomorrow Michael R. Rose, 2005-09-15 Equally important Rose surveys the entire field offering colorful portraits of many leading scientists and shedding light on research findings from around the world We learn that rodents given fifteen to forty percent fewer calories live about that much longer and that volunteers in Biosphere II who lived on reduced caloric intake for two years all had improved vital signs Perhaps most interesting we discover that aging hits a plateau and stops at least it does so in fruit flies Jacket Genetic Programming Theory and Practice XIX Leonardo Trujillo, Stephan M. Winkler, Sara Silva, Wolfgang Banzhaf, 2023-03-11 This book brings together some of the most impactful researchers in the field of Genetic Programming GP each one working on unique and interesting intersections of theoretical development and practical applications of this evolutionary based machine learning paradigm Topics of particular interest for this year's book include powerful modeling techniques through GP based symbolic regression novel selection mechanisms that help guide the evolutionary process modular approaches to GP and applications in cybersecurity biomedicine and program synthesis as well as papers by practitioner of GP that focus on usability and real world results In summary readers will get a glimpse of the current state of the art in GP research Mandy Hoffen and a Conspiracy to Resurrect Life and Social Justice in Science Curriculum with Henrietta Lacks Dana Compton McCullough, 2021-06-01 This book is a theoretical inquiry into alternative pedagogies that challenge current standardized practices in the field of science education Through Mandy Hoffen a fictional persona Dana McCullough the author explores how stories of Henrietta Lacks become part of a conspiracy to change science education Mandy Hoffen however never expected to find herself in the middle of a conspiracy As a science teacher of 20 plus years she worked diligently to meet the needs of her charges who are currently ninth and tenth grade biology students in an age of standardized testing The author also creates imaginary dialogues which serve as the theoretical framework for each chapter Each chapter unfolds in a form of a play with imaginary settings and events that bring Henrietta Lacks back from the grave to participate in conversations about science society and social justice The imaginary conversations are based on the author's experiences in graduate courses direct quotations from philosophers of science historians of science science educators curriculum theorists and stories of students in their study of Henrietta Lacks in a high school biology classroom The play describes the journey of a graduate student high school teacher as she researches the importance of the philosophy of science history of science science curriculum and social justice in science education Through reflections on fictional conversations stories of Henrietta Lacks are examined and described in multiple settings beginning in an imaginary academic meeting and ending with student conversations in a classroom Each setting provides a space for conversations wherein participants explore their personal connections with science science curriculum issues of social justice related to science and Henrietta Lacks This book will be of interest to graduate students scholars and undergraduates in curriculum studies educational foundations and teacher education and those interested in alternative research methodologies This is the first book to intentionally address the stories of Henrietta Lacks and their importance in the field of curriculum studies science studies and current standardized high school science curriculum The Moment of Complexity Mark C. Taylor, 2003-09 We live in a moment of unprecedented complexity an era in which change occurs faster than our ability to comprehend it With The Moment of Complexity Mark C Taylor offers a map for the unfamiliar terrain opening in our midst unfolding an original philosophy of our time through a remarkable synthesis of science and culture According to Taylor complexity is not just a breakthrough scientific concept but the defining quality of the post Cold War era The flux of digital currents swirling around us he argues has created a new network culture with its own distinctive logic and dynamic Historical Epistemology and European Philosophy of Science Fabio Minazzi, 2022-04-01 This book offers a comprehensive analysis on the evolution of philosophy of science with a special emphasis on the European tradition of the twentieth century At first it shows how the epistemological problem of the objectivity of knowledge and axiomatic knowledge have been previously tackled by transcendentalism critical rationalism and hermeneutics In turn it analyses the axiological dimension of scientific research moving from traditional model of science and of scientific methods to the construction of a new image of knowledge that leverages the philosophical tradition of the Milan School Using this historical epistemological approach the author rethinks the Kantian Transcendental showing how it could be better integrated in the current philosophy of science to answer important questions such as the relationship between science and history scientific and social perspectives and philosophy and technology among others Not only this book provides a comprehensive study of the evolution of European Philosophy of Science in the twentieth century yet it offers a new historical and epistemological based approach that could be used to answers many urgent questions of contemporary societies

Science, Democracy, and Curriculum Studies John A. Weaver, 2018-08-30 In this book John A Weaver suggests curriculum studies scholars need to engage more in science matters It offers a review of science studies writing from Ludwick Fleck and Thomas Kuhn to Philip Mirowski The volume includes chapters on the rhetoric of science with a focus on the history of rhetoric and economics then on the rhetoric of models statistics and data a critique of neoliberalism and its impact on science policy and the foundations of democracy Harry Collin s and Robert Evans theory of expertise followed by chapters on feminism with a focus on the work of Sharon Traweek Karen Barad and Vinciane Despret postcolonial thought with attention paid to the work of Daniela Bleichmar Londa Schiebinger Judith Carney Sylvia Wynter Paul Gilroy and Sandra Harding and a final chapter on Nietzsche s philosophy of science Each section is introduced by an interlude drawing on autobiographical connections between curriculum studies and science studies
