The good wife's guide

- Have dinner ready. Plan ahead, even the night before, to have a delicious meal ready, on time for his return. This is a way of letting him know that you have been thinking about him and are concerned about his needs. Most men are hungry when they come home and the prospect of a good meal (especially his favourite dish) is part of the warm welcome needed.
- Prepare yourself. Take 15 minutes to rest so you'll be refreshed when he arrives. Touch up your make-up, put a ribbon in your hair and be fresh-looking. He has just been with a lot of work-weary people.
- Be a little gay and a little more interesting for him. His boring day may need a lift and one of your duties is to provide it.
- Clear away the clutter. Make one last trip through the main part of the house just before your husband arrives.

- Gather up schoolbooks, toys, paper etc and then run a dustcloth over the tables.
- Over the cooler months of the year you should prepare and light a fire for him to warm by. Your husband will feel he has reached a haven of rest and order, and it will give you a lift too. After all, catering for his comfort will provide you with immense personal satisfaction.
- Prepare the children. Take a few minutes to wash the children's hands and faces (if they are small), comb their hair and, if necessary, change their clothes. They are little treasures and he would like to see them playing the part. Minimise all noise. At the time of his arrival, eliminate all noise of the washer, dryer or vacuum. Try to encourage the children to be quiet.
- Be happy to see him.
- Greet him with a warm smile and show sincerity in your desire to please him.
- Listen to him. You may have a dozen important things to tell him, but the moment of his arrival is not the time. Let him talk first - remember, his topics of conversation are more important than yours.
- Make the evening his. Never complain if he comes home late or goes out to dinner, or other places of entertainment without you. Instead, try to understand his world of strain and pressure and his very real need to be at home and relax.
- Your goal. Try to make sure your home is a place of peace, order and tranquility where your husband can renew himself in body and spirit.
- Don't greet him with complaints and problems.
- Don't complain if he's late home for dinner or even if he stays out all night. Count this as minor compared to what he might have gone through that day.
- Make him comfortable. Have him lean back in a comfortable chair or have him lie down in the bedroom. Have a cool or warm drink ready for him.
- Arrange his pillow and offer to take off his shoes. Speak in a low, soothing and pleasant voice.
- Don't ask him questions about his actions or question his judgment or integrity. Remember, he is the master of the house and as such will always exercise his will with fairness and truthfulness. You have no right to question him.
- A good wife always knows her place.

Spar, 2013-09-17 Fifty years after the Equal Pay Act why are women still living in a man's world Debora L Spar never thought of herself as a feminist Raised after the tumult of the 1960s she presumed the gender war was over As one of the youngest female professors to be tenured at Harvard Business School and a mother of three she swore to young women that they could have it all We thought we could just glide into the new era of equality with babies board seats and husbands in tow she writes We were wrong Now she is the president of Barnard College arguably the most important all women's college in the United States And in Wonder Women Sex Power and the Quest for Perfection a fresh wise original book she asks why a half century after the publication of Betty Friedan's The Feminine Mystique do women still feel stuck In this groundbreaking and compulsively readable book Spar explores how American women's lives have and have not changed over the past fifty years Armed with reams of new research she details how women struggled for power and instead got stuck in an endless quest for perfection The challenges confronting women are more complex than ever and they are challenges that come inherently and inevitably from being female Spar is acutely aware that it's time to change course Both deeply personal and statistically rich Wonder Women is Spar's story and the story of our culture It is cultural history at its best and a road map for the future Good Housekeeping, 1922
