- 1 The Common Snapping Turtle Chelydra serpentina This species is ubiquitous in North America and can be found in a range of freshwater settings It has a rough ridged shell but not the strongly spiked appearance of the alligator snapping turtle Common snapping turtles are normally smaller than alligators with shell lengths of 10 18 inches and weights ranging from 10 35 pounds though some can grow larger in captivity They are more active hunters using a combination of ambush and active foraging to obtain prey such as fish insects amphibians and plants
- 2 Alligator snapping turtle Macrochelys temminckii Alligator snapping turtles live mostly in the southeastern United States where they prefer slow moving rivers lakes and swamps They are substantially larger with some individuals weighing up to 200 pounds with shells measuring 26 inches or more This species is known for its striking spiked shell and a peculiar pink worm like appendage in its mouth that it employs as a bait to entice prey These turtles are more passive hunters resting stationary on river or lake bottoms with their jaws open to catch fish Because of its size food needs and habitat requirements the alligator snapping turtle is regarded more difficult to care for as a pet      Snapping-turtle guides ,2003      Alligator Snapping Turtle Charlotte
