

Public Accounting vs Private Accounting

#1. Exposure

Public Accounting

Professionals who work in a Public accounting environment tend to have broad exposure to variety of industries and sectors, as they deal with wide mixture of clientele.

Private Accounting

Since Private accounting work is limited, it does not allow the professionals to expand their horizons.

#2. Career Advancement

Public Accounting

Professionals who work in the public accounting firms move up the ladder quickly.

Private Accounting

The growth in the career is limited and slow in the private accounting environment.

#3. Environment

Public Accounting

The significance of maintaining accounting records in decision making is well known. Hence, there is always a huge amount of pressure on the public accountants to carry out their duties efficiently.

Private Accounting

The private accounting work, by virtue of its nature, provides stress free work environment to its accountants.

#4. Certification

Public Accounting

Public accounting firms stresses more on professional accounting certifications such as Certified public accountant (CPA) for its employees.

Private Accounting

Unlike Public accounting, private accounting firms does not stress too much on getting the international certifications such as CPA. Professionals can move up the ladder without professional certifications.

#5. Flexibility

Public Accounting

Professionals in public accounting firms may be asked to travel to the client's place without prior notice.

Private Accounting

Private accounting work provides its professionals flexible and steady work environment.

#6. Specialization

Public Accounting

Many public accounting firms encourage their clients to cover specific industries, which allow the professionals to become specialist in their respective area.

Private Accounting

Unlike Public accounting firms, Professionals in private accounting setting does not get opportunity to specialize in their respective fields.
