Social Attitudes In Northern Ireland 1990 91:

Contemporary Northern Irish Society Colin Coulter, 1999-10-20 This is a critical overview of the various sources of social and political identity in Northern Ireland The book examines the key variables of sociology status class and gender and in this case ethno religion and explains why ethno religious sentiment has become the principle source of political identity A range of themes are covered the role and status of women the representations of the conflict and peace process in the media sport and the importance of popular music

British Social Attitudes Roger Jowell, 1992 Britain is on the whole a well documented nation We know or are able to find out a great deal about our characteristics as a society who we are and what we do But we know much less about our character what we think about our world and ourselves Very little systematic material is publicly available on the nation's values whether or how they have been changing and the extent to which different sections of the population vary in their attitudes and beliefs British Social Attitudes compiles describes and comments upon a wide range of current social attitudes The information is obtained from around 3000 interviews carried out by SCPR among a nationwide sample sample in an annual series of surveys The series seeks to chart changes in British social values during the 1980s and 1990s in relation to other changes in society and is core funded by the Sainsbury Family Charitable Trusts

Facets of the Conflict in Northern Ireland Seamus Dunn, 2016-07-27 an important volume for anyone anxious to understand the fundamentals of politics in Northern Ireland today Margaret O Callaghan Irish Times Facets of the Conflict in Northern Ireland is written by practising social science researchers all currently or recently working within Northern Ireland It provides an up to date background to the conflict and much of the material used arises from the wide range of funded researches carried out at the Centre for the Study of Conflict University of Ulster during the past sixteen years Each chapter focuses on a different facet of the problem and these include social legal political religious economic and cultural matters

Socio-ideological fantasy and the Northern Ireland conflict Adrian Millar, 2013-07-19 Conducting a Lacanian inspired psychoanalysis of some of the most candid interview materials ever gathered from former IRA members and loyalists the author demonstrates through a careful examination of their slips of the tongue jokes rationalisations and contradictions that it is the unconscious dynamics of socio ideological fantasy i e the unconscious pleasure people find in suffering domination submission ignorance failure and rivalry over jouissance that lead to the reproduction of antagonism between the Catholic and Protestant communities in Northern Ireland In the light of this he concludes that traditional approaches to conflict resolution which overlook the unconscious are doomed to failure and that a Lacanian psychoanalytic understanding of socio ideological fantasy has great potential for informing the way we understand and study all inter religious and ethnic conflicts Whether you find yourself agreeing with the arguments in this book or not you are sure to find it a welcome change from both the existing mainly conservative analyses of the Northern Ireland conflict and traditional approaches to conflict resolution

Culture and Identity Politics in Northern Ireland Máiréad Nic Craith, 2003-05-02 Civilization and culture have traditionally been regarded as mutually exclusive concepts In this comparative case study of Northern Ireland M ir ad Nic Craith explores the commitment of unionists to a civic culture blind British state contrasting this with nationalist demands for official recognition of Irish culture The cultural turn in Northern Irish politics and the development of a bicultural infrastructure is examined here in the context of differing interpretations of equality and increasing demands for intercultural communication within as well as between communities Religion and Politics John T. S.

Madeley,2019-07-15 This title was first published in 2003 This subject area of this work cross cuts conventional sub disciplinary boundaries in the study of comparative politics Connections between religion and and politics can be identified in all of the thematic areas covered by the articles within Ireland and the Politics of Change William J. Crotty,David A.

Schmitt,2014-06-17 Ireland and the Politics of Change provides a timely assessment of the fundamental changes that have occurred in Irish society over the last several decades from the standpoint of their political significance There is a particular concern with the leadership role of government and other political institutions in stimulating managing and responding to the changes taking place that are of fundamental importance to understanding contemporary politics and today s Ireland in the world community Considerable social economic demographic and international change has taken place within Ireland and Northern Ireland and without in relation to the rest of the world and particularly in response to the association with the European Union Ireland and the Politics of Change examines institutional developments economic forces demographic and attitudinal profiles and group based religious gender class concerns as they have evolved and assesses their significance for policy enactment and political representation Rethinking Ethnicity Richard Jenkins,1997-06-23 How do concepts of ethnicity and social identity impact on our everyday lives Richard Jenkins reassesses the concept of ethnicity by critically examining developing and expanding the anthropological model The result is a compact refreshing and stimulating enquiry into an indispensable concept for making sense of the contemporary and past world Women's Working Lives John

Culture and Policy in Northern Ireland Hastings Donnan, Graham McFarlane, 1997 The Politics of Conflict and Transformation Gladys Ganiel, David Mitchell, 2021-11-24 This book contains original research on conflict peacebuilding and the current state of identities and relationships in relation to the Northern Ireland conflict It accesses the state of national identity politics in Northern Ireland a generation after the 1998 Agreement as well as the impact and meaning of Brexit It considers feminist and faith based peace activism during the Troubles and expressions of Irish national identity It also includes revealing comparative case studies Protestant Catholic conflict elsewhere in Europe and nationalism in the Balkans The Politics of Conflict and Transformation The Island of Ireland in Comparative Perspective arises from a conference celebrating the work of Jennifer Todd Professor in the School of Politics and International Relations at University College Dublin who has been one of the most influential scholars of her generation Her research has examined conflict and transformation in Ireland from the level of grassroots identities to geopolitical forces She has placed contemporary crises in the peace process in the context of patterns of conflict and change over centuries She has both expounded the rich detail of the Northern Ireland and Irish British conflicts and placed them in their regional and global contexts Written by some of the leading scholars on peace and conflict in Ireland the chapters in this edited volume build on Todd's work and are a testament to the thematic and methodological breadth and depth of her output This book will be of interest to students and scholars of Irish and British history and politics Peace and Conflict Studies and the sociology of identity conflict and peacebuilding The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Irish Political Studies The Crowned Harp Graham Ellison, Jim Smyth, 2000-05-20 This book is a detailed analysis of policing in Northern Ireland Tracing its history from 1922 Ellison and Smyth portray the Royal Ulster Constabulary RUC as an organisation burdened by its past as a colonial police force They analyse its perceived close relationship with unionism and why for many nationalists the RUC embodied the problem of the legitimacy of Northern Ireland arguing that decisions made on the organisation composition and ideology of policing in the early years of the state had consequences which went beyond the everyday practice of policing Examining the reorganisations of the RUC in the 1970s and 1980s Ellison and Smyth focus on the various structural legal and ideological components the professionalisation of the force and the development of a coherent if contradictory ideology Public Opinion William A. Blade, 2002 Twenty four news networks a plethora of newspapers and magazines vibrant news talk radio and the ubiquitous Internet highlight our society as information driven With such a steady stream of hard facts mixed with publicised opinions the mainstream population has an opinion on everything Most anyone seems itching to argue their side of an issue making once private beliefs fodder for general consumption A staple of any medium's content is a regular public opinion poll on whatever hot topic strikes the editor's fancy From the significant to the mundane public opinion permeates society Accordingly politicians have taken note of these opinions and adopted stands and values that put them in tune with public sentiment An understanding of the nature of public opinion therefore is paramount in today's world This book assembles and presents a carefully chosen bibliography on public opinion in its many forms The collection of references makes for a valuable resource in studying and researching the critical issue of public opinion Easy access to these pieces of literature are then provided with author title and subject indexes

Doing Qualitative Analysis In Psychology Nicky Hayes, 2013-12-16 In recent years qualitative analysis has become accepted as part of modern psychology Concern about the limitations of conventional laboratory based research combine with a growing interest in real world issues to produce an awareness of the rich potential of qualitative analysis Virtually all psychology students undertake practical work as part of their courses More and more of them are seeking to conduct research which includes qualitative analysis Too often though students lack awareness of the range and diversity of qualitative approaches Qualitative analysis can take many different forms and can use any different sources of data At one end of the spectrum this diversity provides the eclectic psychologists with a rich analytical tool box For those at the other end qualitative analysis is an integral part of a full theoretical critique of positivistic methodologies in psychology This text provides examples of how different psychologists have used qualitative analysis in research Each chapter is based around a real piece of research and the researcher discusses exactly how they went about conducting the analysis The text covers a wide range of theoretical and methodological approaches to qualitative analysis and should be of interest to research psychologists as well as to students

Evangelicalism and National Identity in Ulster, 1921-1998 Patrick Mitchel, 2003-10-30 Evangelical Protestantism in Ulster is the most influential and historically significant sector of Christianity in Northern Ireland This innovative and controversial book explores different Evangelical responses to the declining fate of Ulster Unionism during the period from Partition in 1921 to the 1998 Good Friday Agreement Focusing on how religious belief has interacted with national identity in a context of political conflict it eschews a reductionist or purely historical approach to interpreting religion Rather using a combination of historical and theological material Patrick Mitchel offers a critical assessment of how Evangelical identities in Ulster have embodied the religious beliefs and values to which they subscribe Evangelical Protestantism is often associated only with the Orange Order and with the controversial figure of Ian Paisley This book's fresh analysis of a spectrum of Evangelical opinion including the frequently overlooked moderate Evangelicals provides a more rounded picture that shows why and how Evangelical Christians in Ulster are deeply divided over politics national identity and the current Peace Process Patrick Mitchel concludes with a critical assessment of the political and theological challenges facing different Evangelical identities in the context of identity conflict in Northern Ireland This is an invaluable guide to understanding both the past and contemporary mindset of Ulster Protestantism Children's Rights: Progress and Perspectives Michael Freeman, 2011-10-28 More has been written about children childhood and children s rights in the last 20 years than in the rest of history There are more university courses focusing on children now than ever before The International Journal of Children s Rights has been a major player in all this Its impact is worldwide It has established itself as the leading journal in the field The journal is now in its 19th year and is flourishing This volume has been compiled not only to commemorate the journal s work but also the 20th anniversary of the Convention coming into operation and of the first World Summit on Children An anthology of the best articles published in these formative years this volume offers a representative sample of what the journal has achieved Some of the articles are ones which are frequently cited whilst others are less well known some deal with theory others with practice The case for children s rights is to be found throughout this collection as is the history of children s rights Some articles are devoted to the UN Convention others cover a wide selection of issues relating to different children s rights ranging from children and religion the relationship between women and children to children and health and how children perceive their rights Women Divided Rosemary Sales, 2002-11-01 The ongoing Irish peace process has renewed interest in the current social and political problems of Northern Ireland In bringing together the issues of gender and inequality Women Divided a title in the International Studies of Women and Place series offers new perspectives on women s rights and contemporary political issues Women Divided argues that religious and political sectarianism in Northern Ireland has subordinated women A historical review is followed by an analysis of the contemporary scene state market particularly employment patterns family and church and the role of women s movements The book concludes with an in depth critique of the current peace process and its implications for women s rights in Northern Ireland arguing that women s rights must be a central element in any agenda for peace and reconciliation Exceptional Experience and Health Christine Simmonds-Moore, 2014-01-10 The study of the effect of exceptional experiences and beliefs on health including anomalous placebo or hypnotic healing and mystical religious transpersonal and creative experiences is attracting increasing academic and public interest This collection of essays explores the nature of mind its impact on the body and the relationship between exceptional experiences and physical health mental health and the potential for other types of perception Examining the influence of spiritual practices mental imagery and alternative healing methods such as Reiki and Johrei the essays encourage the expansion of mental health practice to include the full range of exceptional experiences By normalizing experiences that are often pathologized this book recognizes that exceptional human experiences can and do have value for physical and mental health UK Environmental Policy in the 1990s Tim S. Gray, 2016-07-27 The central controversy running through this book is whether Mrs Thatcher s famous green speeches of 1988 marked a fundamental shift by the Conservative Government towards environmentalism or whether they were merely political rhetoric designed to rule out a temporary surge of popular support for the Green Party The conclusion arrived at is mixed in some policy areas a definite shift has occurred but in others it is business as usual An overall change of gear is still awaited
