The Mask Of Priam:

The Mask of Apollo Mary Renault, 2015-08-06 Mary Renault is a shining light to both historical novelists and their readers. She does not pretend the past is like the present or that the people of ancient Greece were just like us. She shows us their strangeness, discerning sure-footed challenges to our values, piquing our curiosity. She leads us through an alien landscape that moves and delights us. HILARY MANTEL Mary Renault's portraits of the ancient world are fierce, complex, and eloquent, infused at every turn with her life-long passion for the Classics. Her characters live vividly both in their own time and in ours. MADELINE MILLER Combining the scholarship of a historian with the imagination of a novelist, Mary Renault brings the ancient Greek stage thrillingly to life. Set in fourth-century B.C. Greece, The Mask of Apollo is narrated by Nikeratos, a tragic actor who takes with him on all his travels a gold mask of Apollo, a relic of the theatre's golden age which is now past. At first his mascot, the mask gradually becomes his conscience, and he refers to it his gravest decisions when he finds himself at the centre of a political crisis in which the philosopher Plato is also involved. Much of the action is set in Syracuse, where Plato's friend Dion is trying to persuade the young tyrant Dionysios the Younger to accept the rule of law. Through Nikeratos' eyes, the reader watches as the clash between the two unleashes all the pent-up violence in the city. All my sense of the ancient world, its values, its style, the scent of its wars and passions comes from Mary Renault. I turned to writing historical fiction because of something I learned from Renault: that it lets you shake off the mental shackles of your own era, all the categories and labels, and write freely about what really matters to you. EMMA DONOGHUE There's much to wonder at in the way she fills in the large dark spaces where we know next to nothing about the times she describes: an important and wonderful writer who set a course into serious-minded, psychologically intense historical fiction that today seems more important than ever. Sam Jordison, Guardian

The Mask of Atreus A. J. Hartley, 2006 When the proprietor of an obscure museum is found dead amidst priceless Greek antiquities, one of which is missing along with the bones of a legendary hero thought to exist only in myth, museum curator Deborah Miller enters into a dangerous realm of mystery, murder, and vengeance. The Art of Vase-Painting in Classical Athens Martin Robertson, 1992 In his new book, Professor Martin Robertson, author of A History of Greek Art (CUP, 1975) and A Shorter History of Greek Art (CUP, 1981), draws together the results of a lifetime's study of Greek vase painting, tracing the history of figure drawing on Athenian pottery from the invention of the red-figure technique in the later archaic period to the abandonment of figured vase decoration two hundred years later. The book covers red-figure and also work produced over the same period in the same workshops in black-figure and other techniques, especially that of drawing in outline on a white ground. The book is intended as a companion volume to Sir John Beazley's The Development of Attic Black-figure, originally published in 1951 by California University Press, and as an examination and defence of Beazley's methods and achievements. This book is a major contribution to the history of Greek vase painting, and anyone seriously interested in the subject, whether scholar, student, curator, collector, or amateur, will find it essential reading.

Reading Acts William Shiell, 2021-11-15 William Shiell proposes that the book of Acts was performed orally by a lector in the early church following Greco Roman rhetorical conventions for recitation and delivery rather than directly read by an audience that was minimally literate Shiell's study outlines the function of the lector in Greco Roman times as a filter through which an audience would receive a text He describes the conventions for performers gestures facial expressions and vocal inflections found in material from Greco Roman literature and art that are mirrored in the book of Acts He examines how a reading of Acts in this light can fill interpretive gaps left by literary and rhetorical critical studies that focus on the reading rather than the hearing of biblical texts The Mask Edward Gordon Craig, 1908 Greek Theatre Production Thomas Bertram Lonsdale Webster, 1970 The Masks of Mary Renault Caroline Zilboorg, 2013-10-10 Born Eileen Mary Challans in London in 1905 Mary Renault wrote six successful contemporary novels before turning to the historical fiction about ancient Greece for which she is best known While Renault's novels are still highly regarded her life and work have never been completely examined Caroline Zilboorg seeks to remedy this in The Masks of Mary Renault by exploring Renault's identity as a gifted writer and a sexual woman in a society in which neither of these identities was clear or easy Although Renault's life was anything but ordinary this fact has often been obscured by her writing The daughter of a doctor she grew up comfortably and attended a boarding school in Bristol She received a degree in English from St Hugh's College in Oxford in 1928 but she chose not to pursue an academic career Instead she decided to attend the Radcliffe Infirmary in Oxford where she trained to be a nurse With the outbreak of the Second World War she was assigned to the Winford Emergency Hospital in Bristol and briefly worked with Dunkirk evacuees She went on to work in the Radcliffe Infirmary's brain surgery ward and was there until 1945 It was during her nurse's training that Renault met Julie Mullard who became her lifelong companion This important lesbian relationship both resolved and posed many problems for Renault not the least of which was how she was to write about issues at once intensely personal and socially challenging In 1939 Renault published her first novel under a pseudonym in order to mask her identity It was a time when she was struggling not only with her vocation nursing and writing but also with her sexual identity in the social and moral context of English life during the war In 1948 Renault left England with Mullard for South Africa and never returned It was in South Africa that she made the shift from her early contemporary novels of manners to the mature historical novels of Hellenic life The classical settings allowed Renault to mask material too explosive to deal with directly while simultaneously giving her an academic freedom to write about subjects vital to her among them war peace career women's roles female and male homosexuality and bisexuality Renault's reception complicates an understanding of her achievement for she has a special status within the academic community where she is both widely read and little written about Her interest in sexuality and specifically in homosexuality and bisexuality in fluid gender roles and identities warrants a rereading and reevaluation of her work Eloquently written and extensively researched The Masks of Mary Renault will be of special value to anyone interested in women's studies or
