scandal Statebuilding Missions and Media Development Kerstin Tomiak, 2021-08-26 This book examines the effects of media interventions in the global South and argues for a more adaptive and context sensitive media development The work investigates media development as part of statebuilding and the effects that Western led media has in and on a newly built state Drawing on extensive fieldwork including interviews observations and social surveys it analyses the effect media interventions has on global South countries from the population s point of view The findings show that in practice media development can be alien to the societies in which a free press is implemented which can lead to unintended and negative consequences for social relations in a country While the book uses South Sudan as a case study it also presents different perspectives and shows that local views on the media are different from those of Western experts and policymakers Therefore the book advocates taking local views seriously and an adaptive media development that is sensitive to the context in which it is set up This book will be of much interest to students of statebuilding media studies development studies and international relations in general Myanmar Media in Transition Lisa Brooten, Jane Madlyn McElhone, Gayathry Venkiteswaran, 2019-05-13 Myanmar Media in Transition Legacies Challenges and Change is the first volume to overview the country s contemporary media landscape providing a critical assessment of the sector during the complex and controversial political transition Moving beyond the focus on journalism and freedom of the press that characterizes many media focused volumes Myanmar Media in Transition also explores developments in fiction filmmaking social movement media and social media Documenting changes from both academic and practitioner perspectives the twenty one chapters reinforce the volume s theoretical arguments by providing on the ground factual and experiential data intended to open useful dialogue between key stakeholders in the media government and civil society sectors Providing an overview of media studies in the country Myanmar Media in Transition addresses current challenges such as the use of social media in spreading hate speech and the shifting boundaries of free expression by placing them within Myanmar s broader historic social political and economic context The Image of Africa in Ghana's Press: The Influence of Global News Organisations Michael Serwornoo, 2021-01-05 The Image of Africa in Ghana s Press is of high conceptual theoretical and methodological quality It gives a good overview of the literature and the state of the art in the fields tackled by the author The originality of the book lies especially in its methodological approach Prof Guido Keel Director of the Institute of Applied Media Studies Zurich University of Applied Sciences The Image of Africa in Ghana s Press is a comprehensive and highly analytical study of the impact of foreign news organisations on the creation of an image of Africa in its own press Identifying a problematic focus on the Western media in previous studies of the African media image Serwornoo uses the Ghanaian press as a case study to explore the effects of centuries of Afro pessimistic discourse in the foreign press on the continent s self description This study brings together a number of theoretical approaches including newsworthiness intermedia agenda setting postcolonial theory and the hierarchy of influences to question the processes underpinning the creation of media content It is particularly innovative in its application of the methodological frameworks of ethnographic content analysis and ethnographic interview techniques to unveil the perspectives of journalists and editors The Image of Africa in Ghana's Press presents a vital contribution of the highest academic standard to the growing literature surrounding Afro pessimism and postcolonial studies It will be of great value to scientists in the field of journalism studies as well as researchers interested in the merging of journalism research postcolonial studies and ethnography Journalism and Journalism Education in Developing Countries Beatrice Dernbach, Beate Illg, 2020-02-17 Free and fair media are at the heart of any democratic set up A thriving field of journalism and zealous and ethical journalists in that sense become torch bearers of a brighter and promising tomorrow In this light the status of journalists the most important actors in the field becomes increasingly important as a matter of study They act as gatekeepers of information that is flooding in the era of new media a wave that is not so new anymore Their roles remain intact and even becomes prominent in the chaos of many to many communication Not concentrating on specific countries selected contributions in the book reflect on the developments of media and journalism education across different countries Introducing the book with an overview about the state of the art of journalism education and the research on a meta level the book moves on to talk about media studies in the Asian countries and in Arab world the African States and Brazil This book is an interesting read for all those who care about a vital media landscape and an open democratic society The recent economic and social developments present both opportunities and risks for journalism Freedom of expression and freedom of press even in democratic countries are under pressure This book provides an international perspective on the different aspects of journalism the situation in which journalists work their working conditions educational backgrounds struggles and successes It is aimed at an international public interested in the field of journalism and freedom of speech It addresses journalists trainers and academics Furthermore institutions in the field of development cooperation education or cultural policy and cultural education are the focus of this work Though the book is focused on journalism and journalism education in developing countries contributions are from across the globe Journalism Education, Training and Employment Bob Franklin, Donica Mensing, 2010-12-14 During this period of rapid and significant change in journalistic practices journalism educators are re examining their own profession and contributing to the invention of new models and practices This edited volume of studies by respected international scholars describes the diverse issues journalism educators are grappling with and the changes they are making in purpose and practice The book is organized into three sections education training and employment that explore common themes How the assumptions embedded in journalism education are being examined and revised in the light of transformative changes in communication How the definitions of journalism and journalists are broadening in scope and what this means for educators How newsrooms and training programs around the world are being re examined and made more effective An introductory essay and section summaries provide context for the thirteen chapters that constitute the collection The section on journalism education explores fundamental ways educators are seeking to make their institutions and practices stronger and more responsive The section on training includes case studies of journalism training programs in sub Saharan Africa Turkey Sweden and the U S The final section examines the job prospects and employment market for journalism students with data from the U S U K Australia and Sweden The scope of issues considered in the book makes it a valuable resource for journalism scholars from around the world as well as doctoral students journalism and communication administrators in universities organizations that fund journalism training programs and practitioners interested in understanding employment and education trends

The Sustainability Imperative in Media Development Michel Leroy, 2025-04-15 This book critically examines how the media assistance and broader development sector have appropriated the catch all concept of sustainability originally rooted in economic and environmental fields to suit their agendas Analysing 289 project evaluations conducted globally between 1999 and 2019 it scrutinizes the tacit discourses underpinning what Bourdieu termed the imperialism of the universal in fostering media systems in the global South The book reveals how processes of self legitimation operate within an increasingly competitive aid market highlighting a shift from post missionary approaches to business driven models Focusing on the often overlooked African context it explores nuanced coping capacity in Uganda and the Eastern DRC Amid questioning of the populist wave as well as power motivated new entrants it challenges the recurring aid pattern emphasizing the urgency of centering social impact and values in media assistance It offers essential insights for scholars and practitioners navigating the evolving geopolitics of development and public diplomacy
