Leslie Gilbert Pine

The Middle Sea:

The Middle Sea John Julius Norwich, 2007 This text examines characters from the history of the Mediterranean dissolute popes and wily emperors generals and queens who were powers behind the throne It also deals with naval and military history from the Crusades to the expulsion of the Moors from Spain The Middle Sea John Julius Norwich, 2006 The Mediterranean has nurtured three of the most dazzling civilizations of antiquity Egypt Greece and Rome It has witnessed the birth or growth of three of our greatest religions Judaism Christianity and Islam It links three of the world's six continents Europe Asia and Africa To the peoples living around its periphery it has served at various times as a cradle and a grave a bond and a barrier a blessing and a battlefield It has inspired writers from Homer and Virgil to Norman Douglas and Patrick Leigh Fermor Geographically it is unlike any other sea in the world in historical importance also it stands alone The Middle Sea Leslie Gilbert Pine, 1950 The Making of the Middle Sea Cyprian Broodbank, 2024-11-19 An award winning history of the Mediterranean from prehistory to the Classical world reissued with an extended new preface by the author For millennia the Mediterranean has been one of the global cockpits of human endeavor World class interpretations exist of its classical and subsequent history but there has been remarkably little holistic exploration of how its societies culture and economies first came into being despite the fact that almost all the fundamental developments originated well before 500 BCE The Making of the Middle Sea offers a full interpretive exploration into the rise of the Mediterranean world from its beginning before the emergence of our own species up to the threshold of classical times Extensively illustrated and ranging across disciplines subject matter and chronology from early humans and the origins of farming and metallurgy to the rise of civilizations Egyptian Levantine Hispanic Minoan Mycenaean Phoenician Etruscan early Greek the book is a masterpiece of archaeological and historical writing Now featuring a new preface exploring the most recent archaeological research on the Mediterranean world Winner of the Wolfson Prize for History in 2014 The Middle Sea Leslie Gilbert Pine, 1950

Around the Middle Sea Forbes MacGregor, 1956 A World Apart Richard Pearce, Roy McTaggart, 2012-10 This book is for the lighthearted bedtime reader of any age The poems are some of several hundred written over many years Some of the short stories are recent others were written as long ago as the 1980s Only in recent times did Richard and Roy discover they both liked to put their thoughts onto paper so it seemed a logical step to combine some of their work and get it into print This is Richard's second publication along similar lines The Western Mediterranean and the World Teofilo F. Ruiz, 2017-10-02 From the Straits of Gibraltar to Sicily the European northern Mediterranean nations to the shores of North Africa the western Mediterranean is a unique cultural and sociopolitical entity which has had a singular role in shaping today's global society The Western Mediterranean and the World is the fascinating story of the rise of that peculiar world and of its evolution from the end of the Western Roman Empire to the present Uniquely rather than present the history of the region as a strict chronological progression the author takes a thematic approach telling his story through a series of vignettes case studies and original accounts so as to provide a more immediate sense of what life in and around the Mediterranean was like from the end of the Roman Empire in the West to the present immigration crisis now unfolding in Mediterranean waters Emphasizing the development of religion and language and the enduring synergies and struggles between Christian Jews and Muslims on both shores of the western sea Dr Ruiz connects the region to the larger world and locates the development of Mediterranean societies within a global context Describes the move from religious and linguistic unity under Roman rule to the fragmented cultural landscape of today Explores the relationship of language culture and geography focusing on the role of language formation and linguistic identity in the emergence of national communities Traces the movements of peoples across regions and their encounters with new geographical cultural and political realities Addresses the emergence of various political identities and how they developed into set patterns of political organization Emphasizes the theme of encounters as seen from Christian Muslim and Jewish perspectives While it is sure to become a definitive text for university courses on Mediterranean history The Western Mediterranean and the World will also have great appeal among scholars of the Mediterranean as well as general readers of history Part of The Blackwell History of the World Series The goal of this ambitious series is to provide an accessible source of knowledge about the entire human past for every curious person in every part of the world It will comprise some two dozen volumes of which some provide synoptic views of the history of particular regions while others consider the world as a whole during a particular period of time The volumes are narrative in form giving balanced attention to social and cultural history in the broadest sense as well as to institutional development and political change Each provides a systematic account of a very large subject but they are also both imaginative and interpretative The Series is intended to be accessible to the widest possible readership and the accessibility of its volumes is matched by the style of presentation and production

The Connected Iron Age Jonathan M. Hall, James F. Osborne, An interdisciplinary consideration of how eastern Mediterranean cultures in the first millennium BCE were meaningfully connected The early first millennium BCE marks one of the most culturally diverse periods in the history of the eastern Mediterranean Surveying the region from Greece to Iraq one finds a host of cultures and political formations all distinct yet all visibly connected in meaningful ways These include the early polities of Geometric period Greece the Phrygian kingdom of central Anatolia the Syro Anatolian city states the seafaring Phoenicians and the biblical Israelites of the southern Levant Egypt's Twenty first through Twenty fifth Dynasties the Urartian kingdom of the eastern Anatolian highlands and the expansionary Neo Assyrian Empire of northern Mesopotamia This volume adopts an interdisciplinary approach to understanding the social and political significance of how interregional networks operated within and between Mediterranean cultures during that era

Writing Cyprus Bahriye Kemal, 2019-10-28 Bahriye Kemal's ground breaking new work serves as the first study of the literatures of Cyprus from a postcolonial and partition perspective Her book explores Anglophone Hellenophone and Turkophone writings from the 1920s to the present Drawing on Yi Fu Tuan's humanistic geography and Henri Lefebvre's Marxist philosophy Kemal proposes a new interdisciplinary spatial model at once theoretical and empirical that demonstrates the power of space and place in postcolonial partition cases The book shows the ways that place and space determine identity so as to create identifications together these places spaces and identifications are always in production In analysing practices of writing inventing experiencing reading and construction the book offers a distinct solidarity that captures the truth of space and place for the production of multiple mutable Cypruses shaped by and for multiple mutable selves ending in a differential Cyprus Mediterranean and world Writing Cyprus offers not only a nuanced understanding of the actual and active production of colonialism postcolonialism and partition that dismantles the dominant binary legacy of historical political deadlock discourse but a fruitful model for understanding other sites of conflict and division
