Environmental Accounting Ecaterina Volosin, 2008-10 Seminar paper from the year 2008 in the subject Business economics Miscellaneous grade 72% 15 University of Glamorgan Business School course Issues in Management Accounting 20 entries in the bibliography language English abstract

As an issue, the environment has been growing in significance in the minds of the community and more recently in the minds of business. Everyone remembers the Exxon Valdez disaster, Shell's run-ins with Greenpeace and Nike's sweatshop scandal. Whether or not these events represented true ecological or social disasters is hotly debated, but one thing is not: they all hit the major news outlets and were public relations nightmares. To avoid such nightmares, many companies are opting for transparency not only in their financial statements but also in their nonfinancial information such as reports on their environmental record, social responsibility and sustainability.

McCrary 2002. In this context, the aim of this paper is to examine the nature of environmental accounting and to describe how companies are responding to pressures to keep accounting records of the impact that their productive processes have on the environment.

Social and Environmental Disclosure by Chinese Firms Yingjun Lu, Indra Abeysekera, 2024-11-01. Given the increased social and environmental problems in China, this book looks into the social and environmental disclosure practices of socially responsible Chinese listed firms by constructing a stakeholder-driven three-dimensional disclosure index. The book contains a three-part study: the first part explores the current status of social and environmental disclosure practices; the second part empirically examines the relationship between corporate social and environmental disclosure and various influencing factors, i.e. stakeholders' power and corporate characteristics; the third part empirically examines the link between corporate social responsibility (CSR) reporting, i.e. publishing a CSR report and the quality of the CSR report and socially responsible reputation. The book finds that the CSR report provided more stakeholder-relevant social and environmental disclosure than the annual report. It also finds that corporate characteristics such as firm size, profitability and industry classification are all statistically significant factors influencing the social and environmental disclosure of the Chinese firms studied. Shareholders significantly influenced firms' social and environmental disclosure, and creditors significantly influenced firms' disclosure related to their environmental performance. The final part of the study reports that publishing a CSR report and CSR reporting quality had a positive influence on firms' socially responsible reputations, and that CEO-chairman duality negatively influenced firms' socially responsible reputation. This book will be of interest to those who are keen to learn more about corporate social responsibilities in the context of Chinese firms.
