The Mask Of Memory

Jason R. Young

The Mask Of Memory:

The Mask of Memory Victor Canning, 1974 The Mask of Memory Jason R. Young, 2026-05-26 Many of the sights and sounds that Americans associate with slavery are rooted in a grand historical myth The image of the Big House sitting atop carefully manicured rolling green hills is in large part a fantasy as is the idea of the plantation as an expansive family home to chivalrous planters and happy slaves Still these myths persist Jason R Young explores the persistence of these myths and the historical memory of slavery by focusing on the elite white mythmakers who helped shape our understanding of slavery In the early twentieth century a group of white writers artists and performers from the cultural hub of Charleston South Carolina created and curated a highly sanitized view of slavery They imagined a once and future plantation society that would reestablish them as the proper heirs of the slave past In the process they crafted a set of dangerously durable and virulent stereotypes about slavery Focusing on literature art and performance Young examines both the power and the folly of these ideas In uncovering the origins of these racial myths The Mask of Memory resists these racial fantasies and challenges their stubborn resurgence in our own time

The Object of Memory Susan Slyomovics, 1998-06 Well researched and written with passion and elegance International Journal of Middle East Studies The Ethos of Noh Eric C. Rath, 2006 This is a description of how memories of the past become traditions as well as the role of these traditions in the institutional development of the noh theater from its beginnings in the 14th century through the late 20th century A Book of Memory Sudhir Kakar, 2014-10-30 An inspired observer of the Indian psyche Sudhir Kakar trained as a psychoanalyst at the Sigmund Freud Institute Frankfurt He set up a clinic in Delhi in 1975 thus embarking on a lifelong search for the wellsprings of Indian identity He went on to establish the new discipline of cultural psychology A Book of Memory records not only the crises of identity and intellect but also the highs and lows of love and pleasure It is fearless and revelatory with regard to the self and its motivations a rare candour illuminating the urbane prose The Rescue of Memory Cheryl Pearl Sucher, 2014-04-28 A gorgeous first novel that traces the courageous coming of age of a young Jewish woman under the influence of her parents Holocaust experience recorded in the fading photographs and film reels buried in her father's closet

The Masks of King Lear Marvin Rosenberg, 1992 LEAR Does Lear walk thus Speak thus Who is it that can tell me who I am Centuries of critics and actors have tried to tell but Lear's identity and the meaning of his action in the play are still touched with enigma This book seeks Shakespeare's intentions in King Lear in new ways It explores major interpretations of distinguished actors and directors as well as of critics from England the United States France Belgium Japan Sweden Norway Germany Italy the Soviet Union Czechoslovakia Romania Hungary Bulgaria and Poland Is the play unsuited for the stage as Charles Lamb and others have declared How in fact has it been staged and how visualized by critics Is Lear designed to be a frail and aging old man A powerful image of authority Mad or senile to begin with A kindly old father Everyman All of these None Does the play end with redemption Unmitigated despair Is it Christian Pagan Mr Rosenberg confronts these and other questions from the base of his study and personal experience of the play To deepen the theatrical side of that experience he began as he did in his The Masks of Othello with an involvement in the staged play he directed and acted in Othello and he followed a production of King Lear through two months of rehearsal and performance One by product of this intense participation was a discovery of some special qualities in the language of the play To achieve a better understanding of these qualities Mr Rosenberg put Lear's vocabulary through a computer and established a concordance of every word both for the play as a whole and for each character Interesting structural elements in Shakespeare's language become apparent Recognizing the difficulty for a critic of responding afresh to Shakespeare's craftsmanship in characterization and in arousing expectation Mr Rosenberg also arranged to expose the play to spectators who had never seen or read it The response of this naive audience after attending performances was curious and illuminating The author believes that any critical approach must be used that will increase our understanding of Shakespeare's work human violence in order to ascertain why people in every historical epoch seem so willing to kill each other He argues that the primal passions unleashed in the cause of genocide are tied to the manipulation of memory for political purposes According to Hirsch leaders often invoke or create memories of real or fictitious past injustices to motivate their followers to kill for political gain or other reasons Generations pass on their particular versions of events which then become history If we understand how cultural memory is created Hirsch says we may then begin to understand how and why episodes of mass murder occur and will be able to act to prevent them In order to revise the politics of memory Hirsch proposes essential reforms in both the modern political state and in systems of education
