The Chicago of Fiction James A. Kaser, 2011-02-01 The importance of Chicago in American culture has made the city s place in the American imagination a crucial topic for literary scholars and cultural historians While databases of bibliographical information on Chicago centered fiction are available they are of little use to scholars researching works written before the 1980s In The Chicago of Fiction A Resource Guide James A Kaser provides detailed synopses for more than 1 200 works of fiction significantly set in Chicago and published between 1852 and 1980 The synopses include plot summaries names of major characters and an indication of physical settings An appendix provides bibliographical information for works dating from 1981 well into the 21st century while a biographical section provides basic information about the authors some of whom are obscure and would be difficult to find in other sources Written to assist researchers in locating works of fiction for analysis the plot summaries highlight ways in which the works touch on major aspects of social history and cultural studies i e class ethnicity gender immigrant experience and race The book is also a useful reader advisory tool for librarians and readers who want to identify materials for leisure reading particularly since genre juvenile and young adult fiction as well as literary fiction are included

Guided Reading Michael P. Ford, 2015-11-27 In an era of change in education the time is right to refocus attention on guided reading practices Guided reading remains an anchor in classroom literacy programs but how has it changed with the new shifts in education In this book Dr Michael P Ford provides a practical resource for guided reading He explains how it evolved why it s still important how to fit it into a comprehensive literacy program how to select texts how to assess and support students and how to position it for intervention Also included is an Appendix with a listing of recommended guided reading books

Carol Shields, Narrative Hunger, and the Possibilities of Fiction Ted Farrell,2003-01-01 Award winning Canadian writer Carol Shields has garnered praise from scholars and an international audience of readers Inspired by the quality and scope of Shields s work Carol Shields Narrative Hunger and the Possibilities of Fiction addresses her creative exploration of postmodernism As the first thorough examination of the Pulitzer Prize winning author this collection of essays establishes the groundwork for future studies of her oeuvre The collection begins with a significant new essay from Shields herself Narrative Hunger and the Overflowing Cupboard perhaps her most substantial commentary upon her own aims as a writer In addition scholars from Canada England the United States and Australia explore the complexity of Shields s work and her contributions to the genre of the novel These lively essays reflect Shields s verve and her playful approach to today s sophisticated critical thinking Among the topics are Shields s use of biography and autobiography metafiction popular romance and symbolism While the essays foreground the unreliability of language and hence our inability to know one another or even ourselves the contributors argue that Shields has taken a step beyond postmodernism by suggesting that we can transcend the limitations of its epistemology Containing several essays on Swann and The Stone Diaries Shields s most popular works and the most extensive annotated bibliography available of works by and about Shields this collection will appeal widely to scholars students and readers of Carol Shields and Canadian fiction

The Nature of Fiction Gregory Currie,1990-10-26 This important book provides a theory about the nature of fiction and about the relation between the author the reader and the fictional text The approach is philosophical that is to say the author offers an account of key concepts such as fictional truth fictional characters and fiction itself The book argues that the concept of fiction can be explained partly in terms of communicative intentions partly in terms of a condition which excludes relations of counterfactual dependence between the world and the text This communicative model is then applied to the following problems how can something be true in the story without being explicitly stated in the text In what ways does interpreting a fictional story depend upon grasping its author s intentions Is there always a unique best interpretation of a fictional text What is the correct semantics for fictional names What is the nature of our emotional response to a fictional work In answering these questions the author explores the complex interaction between author reader and text This interaction requires the reader to construct a fictional author a character in the story whose personality beliefs and emotional states must be interpreted if the reader is to grasp the meaning of the work
