The Life and Letters of Lord Macaulay George Otto Trevelyan,1875 Vital Strife Benjamin C. Parris,2022-08-15 Vital Strife examines the close yet puzzling relationship between sleep and ethical care in early modernity The plays poems and philosophical essays at the heart of this book by Jasper Heywood William Shakespeare Edmund Spenser John Milton and Margaret Cavendish explore the unconscious motions of corporeal life and the drowsy forms of sentience at the boundaries of human thought and intentionality Benjamin Parris shows how these writers although trained under the Renaissance humanist paradigm of attentive care begin to dissolve the humanist coupling of virtue with vigilance by giving credence to the vital power of sleep In contrast to humanist thinkers who equated sleep with carelessness these writers draw on the ancient Stoic principle of oikei sis the process of orienting the living being toward its proper objects of care beginning with itself in asserting the value of sleep while underscoring insomnia s threat to the ethical flourishing of persons and polity alike Parris offers an important revaluation of Stoic philosophy which has too often been misconstrued as renouncing feeling and sympathetic connection with others With its striking new account of the reception of Stoicism and attitudes toward sleep and sleeplessness in early modern thought Vital Strife reveals the period s mounting concern with the regenerative nature of physical life and its elaboration of a newfound ethics of care

Sleep and the Novel Michael Greaney,2018-04-04 Sleep and the Novel is a study of representations of the sleeping body in fiction from 1800 to the present day which traces the ways in which novelists have engaged with this universal indispensable but seemingly nondescript region of human experience Covering the narrativization of sleep in Austen the politicization of sleep in Dickens the queering of sleep in Goncharov the aestheticization of sleep in Proust and the medicalization of sleep in contemporary fiction it examines the ways in which novelists envision the figure of the sleeper the meanings they discover in human sleep and the values they attach to it It argues that literary fiction harbours on its margins a sleeping partner one that we can nickname the Schlafroman or sleep novel whose quiet absorption in the wordlessness and passivity of human slumber subtly complicates the imperatives of self awareness and purposive action that traditionally govern the novel

The Seeds of Time Fredric Jameson, 1994 Long considered the foremost American Marxist theorist Fredric Jameson continues his investigation of postmodernism under late capitalism in The Seeds of Time In three parts Jameson presents the problem of Utopia attempting to diagnose the cultural present and to open a perspective on the future of a world that is all but impossible to predict with any certainty a telling of the future as Jameson calls it with an imperfect deck The Antinomies of Postmodernity highlights the seemingly unresolvable paradoxes of intellectual debate in the age of postmodernity Jameson suggests that these paradoxes revolve around the idea of nature the terms of antifoundationalism and antiessentialism and contemporary society's inability or refusal to consider the idea of Utopia The chapter attempts to sketch the unrepresentable exterior of these debates which is the locus of the future according to Jameson In Utopia Modernism and Death Jameson meditates on the fascinating and terrifying Utopian fiction Chevengur written in the 1920s by the Soviet author Andrei Platonov He discusses the unique character of Utopian visions in the Second World of communism where commodity fetishism has not had as profound an effect on social relations as we have seen in the First World under late capitalism The Seeds of Time continues in The Constraints of Postmodernism with an examination of contemporary architectural trends in an attempt to suggest the limits of the postmodern By delineating these limits Jameson stakes out a prediction of the boundaries of postmodernity the unrepresentable exterior approached in Part One which we need to recognize and surpass
