Social Constructionism And Theology Empirical Studies In Theology:

Social Constructionism and Theology Chris Hermans, Immink, Albert F. de Jong, Lans, 2001-12-01 Scholars of practical theology are increasingly regarding the discipline as one whose scope extends beyond the bounds of an applied theology The concept of action or practice plays a central role in this new understanding At the base of theological reflections by scholars of practical theology are the practices and these are analyzed empirically The aim of the discipline is to transform these practices and develop a hermeneutical action theory or a hermeneutical empirical approach to human actions As a result of its focus on practices practical theology is closely linked to the social sciences Within the social sciences social constructionism is a growing theory Although its forms vary this theory is one to which not only social scientists but also researchers in the psychology and sociology of religion adhere This volume demonstrates the importance of reflection on the emerging concept of social constructionism in the social sciences by scholars of practical theology Normativity And

Empirical Research In Theology Johannes Antonius van der Ven, Michael Scherer-Rath, 2004 In this publication researchers and academics from South Africa Great Britain Switzerland Germany and the Netherlands provide theoretical explanations and examples of empirical research with regard to the fundamental question of the role of theological normativity in empirical research in theological fields Social constructionism and theology [electronic resource]

The (Im)possibility of Forgiveness Dion Forster, 2019-09-10 The findings from this study go beyond biblical theological scholarship on forgiveness Dion Forster boldly succeeds in showing that creating conditions for deeper human connection transforms impossibility into possibility and shines a light on the face of the Other who can now be forgiven Pumla Gobodo Madikizela Professor and Research Chair of Historical Trauma and Transformation Stellenbosch University Dion Forster refuses to accept the conclusion that understandings of forgiveness may be so different and complex across social racial and cultural groups in South Africa that actual forgiveness may be impossible Using Matthew 18 15 35 as a meeting ground he gathers ordinary Methodist Christians for cross cultural intergroup Bible reading He draws upon the philosophical integral theory of Ken Wilber the insights of intergroup contact theory and the methods of critical biblical exegesis to organize analyse and understand this encounter What emerges is a hopeful conclusion that differing conceptions of forgiveness its challenges and possibilities can be understood shared and perhaps actualized across social racial and cultural barriers Bruce C Birch Dean and Professor of Biblical Theology Wesley Theological Seminary Reading Dion Forster on the im possibility of forgiveness I was once again struck by our desperate need to learn more about ourselves and one another but also about the meaning of forgiveness in our respective communities This is an excellent example of the potential of Intercultural Bible Reading Forster not only makes an outstanding academic contribution with implications for New Testament studies Systematic and Public Theology but also for flesh and blood communities wrestling with the possibilities and perils of forgiveness Juliana Claassens Professor of Old

Testament Studies and Head of Department Chair of the Gender Unit Stellenbosch University This book deals with contested and topical matters Biblical hermeneutics has always been contested how to read and understand Biblical passages Things become even more contested when such passages are read inter culturally they become even more contested when the words are about contested personal and social issues like Jesus words on forgiveness in Matthew 18 Empirical studies like this show how deeply contested such readings truly are in the context of South African churches with their painful histories of division and conflict Future academic work will therefore benefit from the creative and careful methodological approach developed in this study However this book offers much more than academic promise precisely because of the theme so topical today and without doubt topical for a long time to come and in many other places in our contemporary world as well Forster offers resources for reading and conversation for everyone concerned with public life today This is public theology in action showing how faith matters without prescribing answers but rather by invitation to join an informed discussion Dirk J Smit The Rimmer and Ruth deVries Professor of Reformed Theology and Public Life Princeton Theological Seminary

Religion in International Relations F. Petito, P. Hatzopoulos, 2003-06-13 Are the secular foundations of international relations sustainable at present This comprehensive study shows how the global resurgence of religion confronts international relations theory with a theoretical challenge comparable to that raised by the end of the Cold War or the emergence of globalization The volume tries to shake the secular foundational myths of the discipline and outline the need for an expansion into religiously inspired spheres of thought It also challenges the most condemning accusation against religion the view that the politicization of religion is always a threat to security and inimical to the resolution of conflict Finally the task of demystifying religion is taken further with an argument for a stronger and progressive political engagement of the worldwide religious traditions in the contemporary globalized era

Theology in Built Environments Sigurd

Bergmann, 2017-07-12 Built space is both a physical entity as well as a socially and historically constructed place. It constantly interacts with human beings, affecting their behavior, thinking, and feeling. Doing religious work in a particular environment implies acknowledging the surroundings to be integral to theology itself. The contributors to this volume view buildings, scriptures, conversations, prayers, preaching, artifacts, music, and drama, and built and natural surroundings as contributors to a contextual theology. The view of the environment in which religion is practiced, as integrated with theology, represents not just a new theme but also a necessity if one is to understand religion's own depth. Reflections about space and place and how they reflect and affect religious experience provide a challenge and an urgent necessity for theology. This is particularly important if religious practitioners are to become aware of how theology is given expression in the existential spatiality of life. Can space set theology free? This is a challenging question, one that the editor hopes can be answered at least in part in this volume. The diversity of theoretical concepts in aesthetics, cultural theory, and architecture are not regarded as a problem to be solved by constructing one overarching dominant theory. Instead, this diversity is viewed in terms of its positive potential to inspire discourse about theology and aesthetics. In this discourse, theology does not need to become fully dependent on one or another theory but should always clearly present its criteria for choosing this or that theoretical framework. This volume shows clearly how different modes of design in sacred spaces capture a sense of the religious.
