Knowledge and Human Liberation Ananta Kumar Giri, 2014-11-01

Human liberation has become an epochal challenge in today's world, requiring not only emancipation from oppressive structures but also from the oppressive self. It is a multidimensional struggle and aspiration in which knowledge, self, social, and spiritual can play a transformative role. Knowledge and Human Liberation: Towards Planetary Realizations undertakes such a journey of transformation and seeks to rethink knowledge vis-à-vis the familiar themes of human interest, critical theory, enlightenment, ethnography, democracy, pluralism, rationality, secularism, and cosmopolitanism. The volume also features a Foreword by John Clammer, United Nations University Tokyo, and an Afterword by Fred Dallmayr, University of Notre Dame.

The Palgrave Handbook of the History of Human Sciences offers a uniquely comprehensive and global overview of the evolution of ideas, concepts, and policies within the human sciences. Drawn from histories of the social and psychological sciences, anthropology, the history and philosophy of science, and the history of ideas, this collection analyses the health and welfare of populations, evidence of the changing nature of our local communities, cities, societies, or global movements, and studies the way our humanness or human nature undergoes shifts because of broader technological shifts or patterns of living. This Handbook serves as an authoritative reference to a vast source of representative scholarly work in interdisciplinary fields, a means of understanding patterns of social change and the conduct of institutions, as well as the histories of these ways of knowing, probe the contexts, circumstances, and conditions which underpin continuity and change in the way we count, analyse, and understand ourselves in our different social worlds. It reflects a critical scholarly interest in both traditional and emerging concerns on the relations between the biological and social sciences, and between these and changes and continuities in societies, and conducts as 21st century research moves.

Wealth, Energy, and Human Values Thomas P. Wallace, 2009 The degradation of the modern American culture including its 2008 financial and economic crisis and the modern rejuvenation of Asian cultures are best understood within the context of 4 000 years of human history Such are the consequences of the dynamics of cultural change responding to societal variables of wealth energy and human values This work provides a unique and formidable science based framework for civilization development that complements and enhances the work of preeminent historians and sociologists Accordingly the foundation for societal progress is placed on restrictive scientific definitions principles and concepts of energy and wealth consumption rather than solely on behavioral perspectives derived from empirical data and historical events Society's dynamic forces are linked to the cultural deterioration and collapse of Ancient Greece and Rome Imperial Spain and Great Britain Specific chapters are devoted to stagnation of Western civilization Asian and Islamic resurgence deterioration of the American culture and ecological degradation of North America's largest estuary the Chesapeake Bay collateral damage of socio economic profitability The characteristics of America's current cultural deterioration parallel those of previous great civilizations These include abuse of wealth and energy resources excessive individual and national debt lack of cultural civility discipline integrity and ethics unaffordable militarism escalating income and wealth disparities unresolved crises in health care and public education and stultifying cultural complexity and bureaucracy Themes include the underlying principles responsible for the eventual deterioration of all known civilizations the basis for the recurring sequential periodicity of civilization success and failure and the roles and significance of militarism and religion in civilization growth decay and rebirth Addressing these themes necessitates the integration of the academic disciplines of history sociology economics and science reflecting human nature and socioeconomic and political realities that fundamentally and continuously alter human values priorities and behavior thus creating human history

Theology University of Chicago. Divinity School, 1918 Vols 2 6 include Theological and Semitic literature for 1898 1901 a bibliographical supplement to the American journal of theology and the American journal of Semitic languages and literatures By W Muss Arnolt Separately paged     Vulnerability and Human Rights Bryan S. Turner, 2010-12-31 The mass violence of the twentieth century s two world wars followed more recently by decentralized and privatized warfare manifested in terrorism ethnic cleansing and other localized forms of killing has led to a heightened awareness of human beings vulnerability and the precarious nature of the institutions they create to protect themselves from violence and exploitation This vulnerability something humans share amid the diversity of cultural beliefs and values that mark their differences provides solid ground on which to construct a framework of human rights Bryan Turner undertakes this task here developing a sociology of rights from a sociology of the human body His blending of empirical research with normative analysis constitutes an important step forward for the discipline of sociology Like anthropology sociology has traditionally eschewed the study of justice as beyond the limits of a discipline that pays homage to cultural relativism and the value neutrality of positivistic science Turner's expanded approach accordingly involves a truly interdisciplinary dialogue with the literature of economics law medicine philosophy political science and religion

Awareness, and Automation Dennis A. Vincenzi, Mustapha Mouloua, Peter A. Hancock, 2005-01-06 In 2000 the Conference on Automation joined forces with a partner group on situation awareness SA The rising complexity of systems demands that one can be aware of a large range of environmental and task based stimulation in order to match what is done with what has to be done Thus SA and automation based interaction fall naturally together and this conference is the second embodiment of this union Moving into the 21st century further diversification of the applications of automation will continue for example the revolution in genetic technology Given the broad nature of this form of human machine interaction it is vital to apply past lessons to map a future for the symbiotic relationship between humans and the artifacts they create It is as part of this ongoing endeavor that the present volume is offered
