Space Science Science:

Earth and Space Science, 1971 Concepts in Space Science R.R. Daniel, 2002 Introduction to Space Science Ji Wu, 2021-11-09 This book highlights the technological and managerial fundamentals and frontier questions of space science. Space science is a new interdisciplinary and comprehensive subject that takes spacecraft as the main tools to study the planet Earth, the solar terrestrial space, the solar system, and even the whole universe to answer significant questions covering the formation and evolution of the solar system and the universe, the origin and evolution of life, and the structure of the material. The book introduces major scientific questions in various branches of space science and provides related technological and managerial knowledge. It also discusses the necessity of international cooperation and elaborates on the strategic planning of space science in China. The book can be used as a reference book or textbook for scientists, engineers, college students, and the public participating in space science programs.

Space Science in the Twenty-first Century: Life sciences National Research Council (U.S.). Space Science Board, 1988 Space Science in the Twenty-First Century National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Space Science Board, Report of the Study Steering Group, 1988-02-01 Space Science United States. Congress. House. Committee on Science and Technology. Subcommittee on Space Science and Applications, 1986 Space Science in the Twenty-first Century: Overview National Research Council (U.S.). Space Science Board, 1988 Forging the Future of Space Science National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Aeronautics and Space Engineering Board, Space Studies Board, 2010-03-08 From September 2007 to June 2008, the Space Studies Board conducted an international public seminar series with each monthly talk highlighting a different topic in space and Earth science. The principal lectures from the series are compiled in Forging the Future of Space Science. The topics of these events covered the full spectrum of space and Earth science research from global climate change to the cosmic origins of life, to the exploration of the Moon and Mars, to the scientific research required to support human spaceflight. The prevailing messages throughout the seminar series, as demonstrated by the lectures in this book, are how much we have accomplished over the past 50 years, how profound are our discoveries, how much contributions from the space program affect our daily lives, and yet how much remains to be done. The age of discovery in space and Earth science is just beginning. Opportunities abound that will forever alter our destiny.

A Meeting with the Universe United States. National Aeronautics and Space Administration, 1981 A Meeting with the Universe is the story of what we learned about the universe and ourselves by going into space. It is not a textbook for scientists. It is written for everyone who shared the excitement and wonder of the last few years: students, teachers, scientists, other professional people, and curious citizens of all kinds. It is not a NASA history. It is a history of space exploration by NASA, by universities, by other government agencies, and by industries, all of whom have played major roles. We have not attempted to apportion credit; here, space has been studied by many, and the discoveries belong to us all. The book itself is a novel experiment in writing about science for non scientific readers It was not produced by science writers or journalists but written and edited entirely by a group of NASA scientists all of whom are deeply involved in space science activities and many of whom actively participated in the discoveries they describe We are now at a watershed in space After 20 years of challenging and exciting activity we have done most of the easy things and made most of the obvious discoveries What do we do next How do we tackle the many new questions that have arisen about the Sun the Earth the other worlds the universe around us and ourselves These are not just scientific questions Their answers involve the understanding of the Earth s geology its weather and its climate factors that will affect the survival of our civilization perhaps even of our species Although we have only begun our movement into space we have already traveled far and seen much We have a shining vision of the universe and our future in it Without that vision without the will to follow it something important in us perhaps we ourselves will perish From the preface Dr John E Naugle Chief Scientist NASA Introduction to Space Sciences and Spacecraft Applications Bruce A.
