Spirit Dance At Meziadin:

Spirit Dance at Meziadin Alex Rose, 2000 This book explores the issue of the Nisga a Treaty highlighting with detail the history of the Nisga a from pre contact to present day Indigenous Justice Jennifer Hendry, Melissa L. Tatum, Miriam Jorgensen, Deirdre Howard-Wagner, 2018-05-18 This highly topical collection of essays addresses contemporary issues facing Indigenous communities from a broad range of multi and interdisciplinary perspectives Drawing from across the social sciences and humanities this important volume challenges the established norms theories and methodologies within the field and argues for the potential of a multidimensional approach to solving problems of Indigenous justice Stemming from an international conference on Spaces of Indigenous Justice Indigenous Justice is richly illustrated with case studies and comprises contributions from scholars working across the fields of law socio legal studies sociology public policy politico legal theory and Indigenous studies As such the editors of this timely and engaging volume draw upon a wide range of experience to argue for a radical shift in how we engage with Indigenous studies First Peoples In Canada Alan D. McMillan, Eldon Yellowhorn, 2009-12-01 First Peoples in Canada provides an overview of all the Aboriginal groups in Canada Incorporating the latest research in anthropology archaeology ethnography and history this new edition describes traditional ways of life traces cultural changes that resulted from contacts with the Europeans and examines the controversial issues of land claims and self government that now affect Aboriginal societies Most importantly this generously illustrated edition incorporates a Nativist perspective in the analysis of Aboriginal cultures Indigenous Encounters with Neoliberalism Isabel Altamirano-Jiménez, 2013-05-21 The recognition of Indigenous rights and the management of land and resources have always been fraught with complex power relations and conflicting expressions of identity Indigenous Encounters with Neoliberalism explores how this issue is playing out in two countries very differently marked by neoliberalism s local expressions Canada and Mexico Weaving together four distinct case studies this book presents insights from Indigenous feminism critical geography political economy and postcolonial studies These examples highlight Indigenous people s responses to neoliberalism reflecting the tensions that result from how Indigenous identity gender and the environment have been connected Indigenous women s perspectives are particularly illuminating as they articulate diverse concerns within a wider political framework They Desire a Better Country/Ils désirent une patrie meilleure Lawrence Scanlan, 2017-02-08 Twice a year in summer and in winter appointments to the Order of Canada are posted in newspapers across the country The range of professions represented are often dizzying but there are common themes in the choices excellence service to the nation passion innovation commitment dedication brilliance The order s motto effectively captures the generous and selfless spirit of these people Desiderantes meliorem patriam they desire a better country The Order of Canada our nation s highest honour was launched fifty years ago in 1967 by Prime Minister Lester B Pearson Since then almost seven thousand Canadians have received the award for service to their communities the nation and in some cases the world To celebrate the Order of Canada s fiftieth anniversary in 2017 the Rideau Hall Foundation commissioned this exceptional book with the aim of encouraging Canadians to learn about some of the remarkable individuals who have garnered this prestigious award And though this book captures only a handful of their stories it is a reflection of the inspiration all Order of Canada members bestow upon us Aboriginal Canada Revisited Kerstin Knopf,2008-09-13 Exploring a variety of topics including health politics education art literature media and film Aboriginal Canada Revisited draws a portrait of the current political and cultural position of Canada s Aboriginal peoples While lauding improvements made in the past decades the contributors draw attention to the systemic problems that continue to marginalize Aboriginal people within Canadian society From the Introduction This collection helps to highlight areas where the colonial legacy still takes its toll to acknowledge the manifold ways of Aboriginal cultural expression and to demonstrate where Aboriginal and non Aboriginal people are starting to find common ground Contributors include Aboriginal and non Aboriginal scholars from Europe and Canada including Marlene Atleo University of Manitoba Mansell Griffin Nisga a Village of Gitwinksihlkw British Columbia Robert Harding University College of the Fraser Valley Tricia Logan University of Manitoba Steffi Retzlaff McMaster University Siobh n Smith University of British Columbia Barbara Walberg Confederation College Reclaiming Indigenous Governance William Nikolakis,Stephen Cornell,Harry W. Nelson,2019-10-22 Reclaiming Indigenous Governance examines the efforts of Indigenous peoples in four important countries to reclaim their right to self govern Showcasing Native nations this timely book presents diverse perspectives of both practitioners and researchers involved in Indigenous governance in Canada Australia New Zealand and the United States the CANZUS states Indigenous governance is dynamic an ongoing relationship between Indigenous peoples and settler states The relationship may be vigorously contested but it is often fragile one that ebbs and flows where hard won gains can be swiftly lost by the policy reversals of central governments The legacy of colonial relationships continues to limit advances in self government Yet Indigenous peoples in the CANZUS countries are no strangers to setbacks and their growing movement provides ample evidence of resilience resourcefulness and determination to take back control of their own destiny Demonstrating the struggles and achievements of Indigenous peoples the chapter authors draw on the wisdom of Indigenous leaders and others involved in rebuilding institutions for governance strategic issues and managing lands and resources This volume brings together the experiences reflections and insights of practitioners confronting the challenges of governing as well as researchers seeking to learn what Indigenous governing involves in these contexts Three things emerge the enormity of the Indigenous governance task the creative agency of Indigenous peoples determined to pursue their own objectives and the diverse paths they choose to reach their goal The Colonial Present Kerry Coast,2013-10-23 No treaties were made with indigenous nations residing in those territories where now there is a Canadian province called British Columbia Instead a breathtaking policy of criminalization assimilation and land rights and sovereignty extinguishment has been vigorously carried out against them Present day governments continue that approach now 150 years old in processes which have recently been re named and cosmetically improved but remain unconstitutional and are prohibited by the 1948 Genocide Convention which terms as genocide inter alia deliberately inflicting on the group conditions of life calculated to bring about its physical destruction in whole or in part Neither Britain nor Canada nor the settlers of British Columbia themselves have ever honourably addressed the peoples whose lands and resources form British Columbia The indigenous nations in what is now called British Columbia have never joined Canada but had citizenship imposed on them The province of BC has never fulfilled Canada s constitutional requirements of purchasing lands from the indigenous owners before settling The ongoing colonization of British Columbia relies on the settler population s indifference to the indigenous peoples plights and rights The Colonial Present documents the colonizer s manufacture of a new mythology to dehumanize the native peoples and strip them of their rightful place The interests of resource industries have dominated accounts of indigenous peoples throughout the mainstream media the academic presses and the courts They have substantially corrupted and impoverished the non native understanding of indigenous peoples on whose homelands they live and work and to which they seem to feel entitled The indigenous nations and individuals have suffered excruciating losses But the highest expression of official BC aspirations for reconciliation is only that they should release title to their homelands accept a small financial land and program funding settlement and submit to the British Columbia Treaty Commission agenda reducing them in legal terms to incorporated associations exercising management capacities barely distinguishable from those of BC municipalities while by fee simple title their lands and rich resources are ceded to the Queen This book is an exploration of how such a stunning string of events has happened and British Columbians continuing attempts to rationalize them

Racism, Eh? Charmaine Nelson, Camille Antoinette Nelson, 2004 Racism Eh is the first publication that examines racism within the broad Canadian context This anthology brings together some of the visionaries who are seeking to illuminate the topics of race and racism in Canada through the analysis of historical and contemporary issues which address race and racism as both material and psychic phenomena Fundamentally interdisciplinary in nature this text will be an invaluable resource for undergraduate and graduate students academics studying or practicing within the Humanities and the Social Sciences and anyone seeking information on what has been a little explored and poorly understood Canadian issue pub desc

Let Right Be Done Hamar Foster, Heather Raven, Jeremy Webber, 2011-11-01 In the early 1970s many questioned whether Aboriginal title existed in Canada and rejected the notion that Aboriginal peoples should have rights different from those of other citizens But in 1973 the Supreme Court of Canada issued a landmark decision in the Calder case confirming that Aboriginal title constituted a right within Canadian law Let Right Be Done examines the doctrine of Aboriginal title thirty years later and puts the Calder case in its legal historical and political context both nationally and internationally With its innovative blend of scholarly analysis and input from many of those intimately involved in the case this book should be essential reading for anyone interested in

Aboriginal law treaty negotiations and the history of the BC Indian land question Inalienable Properties Jamie Baxter, 2020-05-31 As many Indigenous communities return to self governance and self determination they are taking their own approaches to property rights and community development Based on case studies in four Indigenous communities the Westbank Membertou Nisga a and James Bay Cree nations Jamie Baxter traces how local leaders have set the course for land rights and development during formative periods of legal and economic upheaval Drawing on new research about institutional change in organizational settings Baxter explores when and how community leaders have sustained inalienable land rights without turning to either persuasion or coercive force the two levers of power normally associated with political leadership Inalienable Properties challenges the view that liberalized land markets are the inevitable result of legal and economic change It shows how inalienability can result from intentional choices and is linked to structures of decision making that have long lasting consequences for communities

Beyond Rights Carole Blackburn, 2021-12-15 In 2000 the Nisga a treaty marked the culmination of over one hundred years of Nisga a people protesting petitioning litigating and negotiating for recognition of their rights and land title Beyond Rights explores this groundbreaking achievement and its impact The Nisga a were trailblazers in gaining Supreme Court recognition of unextinguished Aboriginal title and the treaty marked a turning point in the relationship between First Nations and provincial and federal governments By embedding three key elements self government title and control of citizenship the Nisga a treaty tackled fundamental issues concerning state sovereignty the underlying title of the Crown and the distribution of rights Using this pivotal case study Beyond Rights analyzes both the potential and the limits of treaty making as a way to address historical injustice and to achieve contemporary legal recognition It also assesses the possibilities for a distinct Indigenous citizenship in a settler state with a long history of exclusion and assimilation

Weaponizing Maps Joe Bryan, Denis Wood, 2015-03-05 Maps play an indispensable role in indigenous peoples efforts to secure land rights in the Americas and beyond Yet indigenous peoples did not invent participatory mapping techniques on their own they appropriated them from techniques developed for colonial rule and counterinsurgency campaigns and refined by anthropologists and geographers Through a series of historical and contemporary examples from Nicaragua Canada and Mexico this book explores the tension between military applications of participatory mapping and its use for political mobilization and advocacy The authors analyze the emergence of indigenous territories as spaces defined by a collective way of life and as a particular kind of battleground

Pathways to Positive Public Administration Patrick Lucas, Tina Nabatchi, Janine O'Flynn, Paul O'Hart, 2024-08-06 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 License It is free to read download and share on Elgaronline.com Situated in an era of low trust in government and a pervasive negativity bias that has shaped the field this insightful volume examines the foundations practices and tools of a distinctly positive strand of public administration PPA It advocates for a more optimistic approach to the study of what government does how they do it and to what effect

and Ecological Economics Ronald Trosper, 2009-02-03 This book explores one indigenous society and how they managed to live sustainably with their ecosystems for over two thousand years showing how human systems connect environmental ethics and sustainable ecological practices through institutions      Aboriginality Alan Twigg, 2005 Following the success of First Invaders Ronsdale 2004 Alan Twigg turns his attention to First Nations writers unearthing more than 300 books by more than 170 mostly unheralded British Columbia aboriginal authors Taking the reader from residential schools to art galleries this lively and unprecedented panorama of British Columbia includes trailblazer Pauline Johnson political organizer George Manuel and Haida carver Bill Reid Equally important Aboriginality sheds new light on fascinating lesser known figures such as Chief William Sepass and Howard Adams to name only two Nearly half the author profiles are women including Marilyn Dumont Lizette Hall and Heather Harris Each author is presented in historical and chronological context along with background material on aboriginal history as well as rare photos illustrations and a comprehensive bibliography Alan Twigg's Aboriginality is unprecedented and indispensable Howard White publisher Encyclopedia of British Columbia

Up-coast Richard Rajala, 2006 In Up Coast award winning author Richard A Rajala offers the first comprehensive history of the forest industry on British Columbia's central and north coast He integrates social political and environmental themes to depict the relationship of coastal people and communities to the forest from the late 19th century to the present The account begins with the emergence of a small scale industry tied to the needs of salmon canneries and early settlements and traces the development of a diverse structure involving sawmills tie and pole producers and hand loggers struggling to profit from participation in domestic and foreign markets But from the early 20th century on government policies favoured the interests of giant pulp and paper firms such as Pacific Mills at Ocean Falls A turn to sustained yield forestry after World War II promoted further concentration of ownership a pattern that saw Columbia Cellulose capture the Skeena and Nass watersheds to meet the fibre needs of its troubled Prince Rupert pulp enterprise At the same time postwar development drew the region into a role as hinterland log extraction site for southern plants fed by enormous Tree Farm Licenses Relating these themes to a tradition of activism against capitalist inequities Up Coast discusses First Nations union and community protests against corporate exploitation of labour and resources In addressing the modern era of land claims environmentalism and capital flight Rajala turns to the complex and unresolved struggle for a more equitable and sustainable human relationship with British Columbia's forests      Quill & Quire , 2001      Our Society Paul Ubaldo Angelini, 2003      Handbook of North American Indians, Volume 2 William C.
