

The background of the top half of the cover is a photograph of a person standing on a dark, rocky outcrop, seen from behind with their arms raised in a gesture of praise or surrender. The person is wearing a light-colored tank top and patterned shorts. The sky is a mix of blue, orange, and yellow, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. Several birds are visible in flight against the sky. The title 'SPIRITUAL HIGH' is superimposed on the sky in large, white, serif capital letters.

the Elite Michelle A. Purdy, 2018-08-17 When traditionally white public schools in the South became sites of massive resistance in the wake of the Supreme Court's Brown v Board of Education decision numerous white students exited the public system altogether with parents choosing homeschooling or private segregationist academies But some historically white elite private schools opted to desegregate The black students that attended these schools courageously navigated institutional and interpersonal racism but ultimately emerged as upwardly mobile leaders Transforming the Elite tells this story Focusing on the experiences of the first black students to desegregate Atlanta's well known The Westminster Schools and national efforts to diversify private schools Michelle A Purdy combines social history with policy analysis in a dynamic narrative that expertly re-creates this overlooked history Through gripping oral histories and rich archival research this book showcases educational changes for black southerners during the civil rights movement including the political tensions confronted struggles faced and school cultures transformed during private school desegregation This history foreshadows contemporary complexities at the heart of the black community's mixed feelings about charter schools school choice and education reform Mommy I'm Still In Here Kate McLaughlin, 2008-03-15 Mommy I'm Still In Here clarifies myths and misunderstandings about bipolar disorder through the lives of Kate McLaughlin's two teenaged children and provides vital information to a public frequently misled by sensationalist media and inaccurate Hollywood portrayals This book supports

Balstrup,2020-09-17 The secular pluralist culture of the West encourages a subjective approach to spiritual truth where stimulating emotional experiences such as those provided by film can contribute to personal conceptions of the sacred Examining Stanley Kubrick's 2001 A Space Odyssey 1968 as the principal case study and Gaspar Noé's Enter the Void 2009 and Lars von Trier's Melancholia 2011 as comparative examples Sarah Balstrup argues that these directors harness the affective properties of film to generate altered states of perception in a manner analogous to religious practice Powerful feelings of dissociation and indescribable significance typical of mystical testimony appear in viewer responses to these films demonstrating the continued sacralisation of such states of mind In their own way each film confronts the viewer with an apocalyptic revelation of the impersonal forces of the universe moving away from personhood and the human narrative into pure sensation They present a non deterministic spiritual truth that can be intuited but not explained mirroring developments in the religious sphere Investigating the relationship between cinematic technique and religious experience Spiritual Sensations offers an alternative approach to the study of religion and film that has been principally focused on narrative symbolism and the dramatisation of values Spiritual Sensations makes a further contribution to the field by analysing films contextually considering viewers subjective responses in light of religious and cultural change

Drug Abuse: Prevention and Treatment Mangai Natarajan, 2017-05-15 Ever since the Shanghai convention in 1909 the threat posed to human well being by drug abuse has led countries around the world to take action to deal with their drug problems There are wide variations in the policies pursued but most countries try to reduce both the supply of and the demand for drugs Unfortunately there is little research consensus on the respective merits of these two approaches or about the best ways to pursue them Consequently control and prevention policies are mostly driven by political considerations economic realities and cultural expectations though research has played an important part in formulating and evaluating treatments for drug addiction This volume reviews studies on drug abuse prevention and treatment strategies under five main areas 1 Reducing supply strategies to control the flow of drugs from production to retail distribution 2 Reducing demand prevention of drug use at all stages of involvement and consumption levels 3 Reducing harm promoting situational risk reduction practices for regular users addicts and recreational users 4 Reducing addiction drug treatment options for various groups in various settings and 5 Drug policies and prescriptions focused on debates about prohibition and legalization
