For Beginners

Spirituality Simplified

Forget all the mystical stuff - Spirituality is simply experiencing whatever is beyond the physical, and using what you learn to improve life for yourself and others. It's not about consuming second-hand information, but finding the truth for yourself

How can it improve my life?

Initially, spirituality brings excitement, meaning, and expands your existence beyond the mundane everyday. As you develop psychic abilities, learn more of the truth, and transform on a deep level, you'll simply have more tools to do everything. You'll make better decisions, and improve more than you ever thought possible. With true spirituality (not the airy-fairy kind), you're able to be able to fight whatever holds you back directly. And all you need to start is intention and visualisation!

Where do I start?

Focus	Why it's important	Starting Exercise
1. Developing your perception / psychic abilities	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• To perform other techniques, you need to be able to perceive what you're doing</li><li>• Means you can check if second-hand information is true, preventing deception</li></ul>	Sit down in a quiet environment where you won't be disturbed. Close your eyes and inwardly state "I experience my psychic abilities now" with firm intention. Note the slight impression you get - is it like seeing, feeling, hearing, or knowing? State you intend to generally and specifically improve it (in truthfulness, clarity, healthiness, ease)
2. Perceiving your spiritual self	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Easiest way to start applying psychic ability</li><li>• Proves you're way more than just a body and brain</li><li>• Essential for later improving spiritually</li></ul>	State "I perceive the parts of me that are beyond the physical". You may feel a larger body beyond your skin, or see different layers of reality in which you exist. Try perceiving specific parts
3. Removing artificialities (the one spiritual teachers NEVER talk about!)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• These are unnatural implants in your spiritual self that hold you back</li><li>• Unless you remove them, there will always be a barrier to your growth</li><li>• (May sound crazy, but as you develop psychically, you'll see them yourself)</li></ul>	Ask your psychic abilities to show you the easiest artificial implants within you to remove. Select one and intend to completely and permanently remove it, as you visualise it leaving your body. Keep pushing until it's outside you. Destroy or banish it, then heal the area it came from (all through intention and visualisation)

The Future of Religious Studies in India Clemens Cavallin, Åke Sander, Sudha Sitharaman, 2020-11-23 This book looks at how religious studies is framed and taught in India. It addresses the contradiction between the country's vibrant religious life and the dearth of comparative and social scientific religious studies programs across Indian universities. The volume studies the efforts by Rabindranath Tagore in Santiniketan and Mohan Malaviya in Varanasi to introduce and institutionalize religious studies in India. Discusses the notions of religion and spirituality and situates the failure of the secularization thesis in the context of modern India. Provides concrete suggestions on how to develop religious studies in relation to global citizenship and Indian cultural heritage with the hope of initiating a larger discussion. A unique contribution to the study of religion in society and education. The book will be indispensable to students and researchers of theology, history, philosophy, sociology, secularization, globalization, religious studies, education studies, and South Asian studies.      Minnesota Magazine, 1915

The Essential Nature of Man Religion has its basis in the essential difference between man and the brute the brutes have no religion It is true that the old uncritical writers on natural history attributed to the elephant among other laudable qualities the virtue of religiousness but the religion of elephants belongs to the realm of fable Cuvier one of the greatest authorities on the animal kingdom assigns on the strength of his personal observations no higher grade of intelligence to the elephant than to the dog But what is this essential difference between man and the brute The most simple general and also the most popular answer to this question is consciousness but consciousness in the strict sense for the consciousness implied in the feeling of self as an individual in discrimination by the senses in the perception and even judgment of outward things according to definite sensible signs cannot be denied to the brutes Consciousness in the strictest sense is present only in a being to whom his species his essential nature is an object of thought The brute is indeed conscious of himself as an individual and he has accordingly the feeling of self as the common centre of successive sensations but not as a species hence he is without that consciousness which in its nature as in its name is akin to science Where there is this higher consciousness there is a capability of science Science is the cognisance of species In practical life we have to do with individuals in science with species But only a being to whom his own species his own nature is an object of thought can make the essential nature of other things or beings an object of thought Hence the brute has only a simple man a twofold life in the brute the inner life is one with the outer man has both an inner and an outer life The inner life of man is the life which has relation to his species to his general as distinguished from his individual nature Man thinks that is he converses with himself The brute can exercise no function which has relation to its species without another individual external to itself but man can perform the functions of thought and speech which strictly imply such a relation apart from another individual Man is himself at once I and thou he can put himself in the place of another for this reason that to him his species his essential nature and not merely his individuality is an object of thought Religion being identical with the distinctive characteristic of man is then identical with self consciousness with the consciousness which man has of his nature But religion expressed generally is consciousness of the infinite thus it is and can be nothing else than the consciousness which man has of his own not finite and limited but infinite nature A really finite being has not even the faintest adumbration still less consciousness of an infinite being for the limit of the nature is also the limit of the consciousness The consciousness of the caterpillar whose life is confined to a particular species of plant does not extend itself beyond this narrow domain It does indeed discriminate between this plant and other plants but more it knows not A consciousness so limited but on account of that very limitation so infallible we do not call consciousness but instinct Consciousness in the strict or proper sense is identical with consciousness of the infinite a limited consciousness is no consciousness consciousness is essentially infinite in its nature 1 The consciousness of the 3 infinite is nothing else than the consciousness of the infinity of the consciousness or in the consciousness of the infinite the conscious subject has for his object the infinity of his own nature To be continue in this
