The Making Of Linguistics:

The Making and Breaking of Classification Models in Linguistics Jane Klavan, 2024-06-04 The book provides a methodological blueprint for the study of constructional alternations using corpus linguistic methods in combination with different types of experimental data The book looks at a case study from Estonian This morphologically rich language is typologically different from Indo European languages such as English Corpus based studies allow us to detect patterns in the data and determine what is typical in the language Experiments are needed to determine the upper and lower limits of human classification behaviour They give us an idea of what is possible in a language and show how human classification behaviour is susceptible to more variation than corpus based models lead us to believe Corpora and forced choice data tell us that when we produce language we prefer one construction Acceptability judgement data tell us that when we comprehend language we judge both constructions as acceptable The book makes a theoretical contribution to the what why and how of constructional alternations

The Making of the Humanities Rens Bod, Jaap Maat, Thijs Weststeijn, 2025-10-01 This much awaited second volume investigates the changes in subject method and institutional context of the humanistic disciplines around 1800 offering a wealth of insights for specialists and students alike Point of departure is the pivotal question whether there was a paradigm shift in the humanities around 1800 or whether these changes were part of a much longer process The authors provide an overarching perspective including philology musicology art history linguistics historiography philosophy and literary theory They also make clear that the influence from the East from the Ottoman Empire to China was crucial for the development of the European humanistic disciplines
