Remarkable Dinah Cox, 2016-05-16 Set within the resilient Great Plains these stories are marked by the region s people landscape and the distinctive way it is both regressive in its politics yet also stumbling toward something better While not all stories are explicitly set in Oklahoma the state is almost a character neither protagonist nor antagonist but instead the weird next door neighbor you re perhaps too ashamed of to take anywhere Who is the embarrassing one you or Oklahoma Dinah Cox lives in her hometown of Stillwater Oklahoma where she teaches in the English department at Oklahoma State University and is an associate editor at Cimarron Review

Race and Suicide in South Africa Fatima Meer, 2022-10-05 Originally published in 1976 Race and Suicide in South Africa synthesises the two dimensions of suicide the personal and the social phenomenon Its approach is Durkheimian in the use of court records and phenomenological in the examination of actual cases About 1500 cases of suicide in Durban from 1940 70 are analysed in terms of race sex occupation marital status economic status family type and size residential area

time and method used What emerges is a revealing picture of suicide in South African ethnic groups The findings confute the idea of Durkheim and others that behaviour in suicide conforms to certain universal principles and suggest the crucial role of particular social conditions in determining suicide trends while at the same time challenging the proposition that a high suicide rate is associated with high status Instead the author found that there were common emotional syndromes among suicides but there were contributed to by different social factors
