TO FILL SKIES W/PILOTS PB PISANO DOMINICK A, 2001-03-17 Launched in 1939 the Civilian Pilot Training Program CPTP was one of the largest government sponsored vocational education programs of its time In To Fill the Skies with Pilots Dominick A Pisano explores the successes and failures of the program from its conception as a hybrid civilian military mandate in peacetime through the war years and into the immediate postwar period As originally conceived the CPTP would serve both war preparedness goals and New Deal economic ends Using the facilities of colleges universities and commercial flying schools the CPTP was designed to provide a pool of civilian pilots for military service in the event of war The program also sought to give an economic boost to the light plane industry and the network of small airports and support services associated with civilian aviation As Pisano demonstrates the CPTP s multiple objectives ultimately contributed to its demise Although the program did train tens of thousands of pilots who later flew during the war mostly in noncombat missions military leaders faulted the project for not being more in line with specific recruitment and training needs After attempting to adjust to these needs the CPTP then faced a difficult and ultimately unsuccessful transition back to civilian purposes in the postwar era By charting the history of the CPTP Pisano sheds new light on the politics of aviation during these pivotal years as well as on civil military relations and New Deal policy making

SELLING RADIO PB SMULYAN SUSAN,1996-09-17 And now a word from our sponsor When the first radio stations signed on in the 1920s this phrase was unknown to listeners Fifteen years later however advertising ruled the airwaves Selling Radio recounts the initial difficult coupling of broadcasting and advertising shows how the triumph of advertising transformed the content of radio programming and exposes the complicity of business technology and government in reducing the promise of radio to the adage that time is money Susan Smulyan argues that the emergence of commercialized broadcasting was not an inevitable development but rather the result of a bitter struggle over the form and content of the new technology Initially schools churches and small businesses sponsored stations broadcasting local sporting events and such home grown comedy and musical acts as The Happiness Boys In the mid 1920s the enthusiasm that greeted the idea of a national broadcasting system quickly soured with the announcement that wired networks using AT T s long lines would be financed by selling radio time to advertisers Early opponents of commercial radio included not only listeners but also station owners educators religious leaders and Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover all of whom decried the worthless stuff of advertising Even prospective advertisers doubted that radio ads would work Selling Radio describes how the radio industry overcame the opposition and in the process dramatically altered the content of broadcasting As listeners were reduced to consumers folksy regional programs were replaced with slick fully scripted shows and schedules created by sponsors to attract a nationwide audience With the passage of the Communications Act of 1934 the paradigm of commercial driven programming was established and later adopted without question by the next great communications technology television Feminist Bookstore News ,1995
