United States. Department of Housing and Urban Development. Library,1964 Planning Cultures in Europe Frank Othengrafen,2016-12-05 Bringing together an interdisciplinary team from across the EU this book connects elements of cultural and planning theories to explain differences and peculiarities among EU member states A culturized planning model is introduced to consider the rules of the game how culture affects planning practices not only on an explicit surface but also on a hidden implicit level The model consists of three analytical dimensions planning artifacts planning environment and societal environment This book adopts these dimensions to compare planning cultures of different European countries This sheds light not only on the organizational or institutional structure of planning but also the influence of deeper cultural values and layers on planning and implementation processes Plans, Pragmatism and People R. A. French,1995 Explores the impact on cities in the successor states of the Soviet socialist city seen as an amalgam of socialist features derived from Marxist theory and its orientation to a high level of centralized state power and planned economy elements surviving from the earlier capitalism new elements of rediscovered capitalism and the wild cards of individuals and technological change Traces urban development policy and realities from before the revolution to its eclipse then discusses enduring problems the changing social geography the increasing tyranny of the car and folding the past into the present Paper edition unseen 19 95 Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR Developing Iran Hamidreza Mahboubi Soufiani,2023-10-20 This book examines the emergence of modern company towns in Iran by delineating the architectural political and industrial histories of three distinct resource based company town projects built in association with the Big Three powers of World War II The book s narrative builds upon a tripartite research design that chronologically traces the formation and development of the oil steel and copper industries respectively favoured by Great Britain the Soviet Union and the United States in this part of the world By applying three sets of comparative studies the book provides critical vantage points to three different ideological design paradigms postcolonial regionalism socialist universalism and rationalist modern nation building From a global political context the book contributes to the disclosure of new information about the geopolitical confrontation of these three nations in the Global South to increase their sphere of influence after the Second World War Furthermore it demonstrates how postwar architectural modernism was adopted by each power and adapted to their ideological mind frame to fulfil distinct social cultural political and economic targets This book examines multiple interconnections between architecture politics and industrial development by adopting a transdisciplinary approach based on comprehensive fieldwork site surveys and the analysis of original multilingual documents As such it will be of interest to researchers and students of architecture history international relations and Middle Eastern studies
