Space Architecture The Work Of John Frabanito And Associates For Nasa:

Space Architecture John Zukowsky, John Frassanito & Associates, 1999 Book CD When visitors to the National Air and Space Museum in Washington D C walk through the Skylab of 1967 73 they experience the vehicles interior space but learn nothing about the industrial design of the spacecraft nor the designers who created it The Politics of the Artificial Victor Margolin, 2018-01-11 Emerging from the world of commercial art and product styling design has now become completely integrated into human life Its marks are all around us from the chairs we sit on to the Web sites on our computer screens One of the pioneers of design studies and still one of its most distinguished practitioners Victor Margolin here offers a timely meditation on design and its study at the turn of the millennium and charts new directions for the future development of both fields Divided into sections on the practice and study of design the essays in The Politics of the Artificial cover such topics as design history design research design as a political tool sustainable design and the problems of design s relation to advanced technologies Margolin also examines the work of key practitioners such as the matrix designer Ken Isaacs Throughout the book Margolin demonstrates the underlying connections between the many ways of reflecting on and practicing design He argues for the creation of an international interdisciplinary field of design research and proposes a new ethical agenda for designers and researchers that encompasses the responsibility to users the problems of sustainability and the complicated questions of how to set boundaries for applying advanced technology to solve the problems of human life Opinionated and erudite Victor Margolin s The Politics of the Artificial breaks fresh ground in its call for a new approach to design research and practice Designers engineers architects anthropologists sociologists and historians will all benefit from its insights

Space Architecture Rachel Armstrong, 2000-06-29 This Architectural Design title poses a unique challenge to architects It incites designers to respond to the limitless potential that outer space presents at the beginning of the third millennium No longer man s final frontier restricted to the activities of government space agencies the extraterrestrial environment is soon to be opened up by private enterprises and individuals Featured work by those such as WAT G Shimizu Systems and the X Prize contenders prove that entrepreneurial companies are already producing independent pioneering designs for the first tourists Contributing specialists from a wide range of disciplines endorse these developments the engineer David Ashford describes the viability of developing commercial passenger planes for space tourism within decades and the economist Patrick Collins analyses the commercial rewards to be reaped from outer space The social legal and scientific effects of creating what could ultimately be an unlimited ecological zone beyond Earth are explored further Just how far reaching the effects will be for the practice of architecture is suggested both by John Zukowsky s comprehensive overview of space architecture and Ted Krueger who organised an architectural workshop with NASA This is not however to overlook space s artistic impact on architectural design in the latter 20th century Space Architecture also recognises the seductive power that high technology space imagery has had for contemporary architects and their debt to film and TV as well as cult figures such as David Bowie
