Spider Behaviour Marie Elisabeth Herberstein, 2011-01-27 Spiders are often underestimated as suitable behavioural models because of the general belief that due to their small brains their behaviour is innate and mostly invariable Challenging this assumption this fascinating book shows that rather than having a limited behavioural repertoire spiders show surprising cognitive abilities changing their behaviour to suit their situational needs The team of authors unravels the considerable intra specific as well as intra individual variability and plasticity in different behaviours ranging from foraging and web building to communication and courtship An introductory chapter on spider biology systematics and evolution provides the reader with the necessary background information to understand the discussed behaviours and helps to place them into an evolutionary context Highlighting an under explored area of behaviour this book will provide new ideas for behavioural researchers and students unfamiliar with spiders as well as a valuable resource for those already working in this intriguing field

A Spider's World Friedrich G. Barth,2013-03-09 Spiders are wonderful creatures Their varied and complex range of behavior and highly developed sensory systems are excellently adapted to the environmental conditions as is proven by their evolutionary success Over 400 million years spiders have developed their sensory organs to a fascinating technical perfection and complexity In his intriguing book Professor Friedrich G Barth puts this technical perfection into the context of biology in which the interaction between environment and sensory organs and the selectivity of the senses as a link between environment and behavior play a major role

Spider Webs William Eberhard,2020-12-22 In this lavishly illustrated first ever book on how spider webs are built function and evolved William Eberhard provides a comprehensive overview of spider functional morphology and behavior related to web building and of the surprising physical agility and mental abilities of orb weavers For instance one spider spins more than three precisely spaced morphologically complex spiral attachments per second for up to fifteen minutes at a time Spiders even adjust the mechanical properties of their famously strong silken lines to different parts of their webs and different environments and make dramatic modifications in orb designs to adapt to available spaces This extensive adaptive flexibility involving decisions influenced by up to sixteen different cues is unexpected in such small supposedly simple animals As Eberhard reveals the extraordinary diversity of webs includes ingenious solutions to gain access to prey in esoteric habitats from blazing hot and shifting sand dunes to capture ants to the surfaces of tropical lakes to capture water striders Some webs are nets that are cast onto prey while others form baskets into which the spider flicks prey Some aerial webs are tramways used by spiders searching for chemical cues from their prey below while others feature landing sites for flying insects and spiders where the spider then stalks its prey In some webs long trip lines are delicately sustained just above the ground by tiny rigid silk poles Stemming from the author s more than five decades observing spider webs this book will be the definitive reference for years to come

Social-Ecological Restoration in Paddy-Dominated Landscapes Nisikawa Usio,Tadashi Miyashita,2015-01-20 With a focus on environmentally friendly rice farming this unique book integrates both ecosystem and human dimensions of ecological restoration to provide strategies to promote sustainable agriculture and rural development Paddy fields have multiple functions beyond their role of producing rice They serve as refuge habitats for a range of wildlife that once inhabited floodplain wetlands and contain a number of unique and threatened aquatic species They also provide various ecosystem services for regional communities such as water retention erosion control flood control fish culture and educational opportunities However rice paddies are threatened worldwide due to the modernization of agriculture and abandonment of farmland caused by depopulation and the aging of rural communities

Therefore multiple ecological and sociological aspects must be considered in the ecological restoration of paddy fields This book aims to do so by incorporating various disciplines of natural and social sciences Strategies for sustainable agriculture are reviewed including financial incentives for farmers and the use of flagship wildlife species such as the crested ibis to promote ecological restoration With the increasing popularity of environmentally friendly rice farming in parts of Asia and the western United States this book offers model cases for sustainable management of paddy dominated landscapes

Barentine,2016-04-04 This book compiles an array of interesting constellations that fell by the wayside before the IAU established the modern canon of constellations That decision left out lesser known ones whose history is nevertheless interesting but at last author John Barentine is giving them their due This book is a companion to The Lost Constellations highlighting the more obscure configurations The 16 constellations found in this volume fall into one or more of three broad categories asterisms such as the Big Dipper in Ursa Major single sourced constellations introduced on surviving charts by a cartographer perhaps currying the favor of sponsors and re brands new figures meant to displace existing constellations often for an ideological reason All of them reveal something unique about the development of humanity s map of the sky The Spider's Tale J. SPIDER Cecil Warburton, 2024-02-11

THERE are certain days of the year when the immense wealth of spider industry going on all around us is revealed in a way calculated to strike even the least observant We all know and derive no peculiarly pleasant thrill from the knowledge that we can if so minded find abundance of cobwebs and their occupants by visiting the cellar or the tool house and probably we have all at times noticed with a languid interest large circular webs on our favourite rose bushes with a spider motionless in the centre But some spring or autumn morning when the night has been foggy and the sun has only just succeeded in dispersing the mists every bush and hedge is seen to be draped every square foot of lawn and meadow to be carpeted with spiders silk There has been no special activity in the domain of these creatures but every silken line is beaded with drops perhaps fifty times its diameter and what yesterday required careful observation to detect is now visible yards away and we realise for once something of the prodigious activity constantly going on though ordinarily unnoted And it never entirely ceases True hibernation if it ever occurs is not the rule among spiders and there is no time of the year when some species may not be found at work Beat trees or bushes over an old umbrella or sweep grass and herbage with a sweeping net in summer and you will never draw a blank some spiders are sure to be found In winter such measures are profitless but if you take the trouble to grub among ground vegetation or shake fallen leaves over a newspaper or search under stones or logs of wood you will have no difficulty in finding spiders enough and by no means dormant I have even seen an enthusiastic collector remove inches of snow and disinter rare species from among the roots of the grass beneath
