

The background of the entire image is a photograph of two soldiers in full combat gear, including helmets and camouflage uniforms, moving through a dense jungle. Sunlight filters through the trees, creating a hazy, atmospheric effect. The soldiers are positioned in the upper half of the frame, with one slightly ahead of the other.

Development of Biomedical Engineering in Vietnam Vo Van Toi, Truong Quang Dang Khoa, 2010-04-03 Vietnam is a rapidly developing socially dynamic country where interest in biomedical engineering activities has grown considerably in recent years The leadership of the Vietnamese government and of research and educational institutions are well aware of the importance of this field for the development of the country and have instituted policies to promote its development The political economic and social environment within the country offers unique opportunities for the international community and this conference was intended to provide a vehicle for the sharing of experiences development of support and collaboration networks for research and exchange of ideas on how to improve the educational and entrepreneurial environment to better address the urgent needs of Vietnam In January 2004 under the sponsorship of the U S National Science Foundation a U S delegation that consisted of Biomedical Engineering professors from different universities in the United States visited several universities and research institutions in Vietnam to assess the state of development of this field This delegation proposed a five year plan that was enthusiastically embraced by the international scientific communities to actively develop collaborations with Vietnam Within this framework in July 2005 the First International Conference on the Development of Biomedical Engineering in Vietnam was held in Ho Chi Minh City From that conference a Consortium of Vietnam International Universities was created to advise and assist the development of Biomedical Engineering in Vietnamese universities Losing Vietnam Ira A. Hunt, 2013-07-16 An intelligence officer stationed in Southeast Asia offers a detailed insightful documented and authentic account of US policy failure in the region Lewis Sorley author of Westmoreland In the early 1970s the United States began to withdraw combat forces from Southeast Asia Though the American government promised to support the South Vietnamese and Cambodian forces in their continued fight against the Viet Cong the funding was drastically reduced over time The strain on America s allies in the region was immense as Major General Ira Hunt demonstrates in Losing Vietnam As deputy commander of the United States Support Activities Group Headquarters USAAG in Nakhon Phanom Thailand Hunt received all Southeast Asia operational reports reconnaissance information and electronic intercepts placing him at the forefront of military intelligence and analysis in the area He also met frequently with senior military leaders of Cambodia and South Vietnam contacts who shared their insights and gave him personal accounts of the ground wars raging in the region In Losing Vietnam Major Hunt details the catastrophic effects of reduced funding and of conducting wars by budget This detailed and fascinating work highlights how analytical studies provided to commanders and staff agencies improved decision making in military operations By assessing allied capabilities and the strength of enemy operations Hunt effectively demonstrates that America's lack of financial support and resolve doomed Cambodia and South Vietnam to defeat
