Neo-Romantic Landscapes Stella Hockenhull,2009-03-26 Neo Romantic Landscapes offers a reappraisal of the 1940s films of Powell and Pressburger focusing on their use of landscape Questioning the established notion that the two film makers owing to their non British personal roots are located as un British and other Stella Hockenhull draws a correlation between the two media of film and painting to suggest otherwise Emphasising the spiritual aspects of landscape and nature at a time when the experience and imagery of the war years generated a particular kind of affect arising from the aftermath of destruction she locates Powell and Pressburger's wartime films in their historical and cultural context notably Neo Romanticism By offering a close analysis of films such as A Canterbury Tale I Know Where I m Going Black Narcissus and Gone to Earth she finds similar aesthetic qualities in a number of British landscape paintings executed contemporaneously Drawing on press reviews for contemporary spectator response Neo Romantic Landscapes offers a redirection of Film Studies foregrounding the aesthetic pleasures of cinema in excess of narrative plausibility thus resituating Powell and Pressburger in the British cultural traditions of the visual arts

The Modernity of English Art, 1914-30 David Peters

Corbett, 1997 The modernity of English art reconceptualises the history of English painting from 1914 to the end of the 1920s Whereas most accounts have tended to see the period as marked by a tension between the native tradition and Modernism this ground breaking book rethinks the 1920s by situating both Modernist and non Modernist painters within a wider cultural history Established figures such as Paul Nash Edward Wadsworth and Wyndham Lewis as well as lesser known artists like Charles Sims John Armstrong and Ethelbert White are discussed and illustrated in a series of innovative readings within this context The modernity of English art offers a new account of painting in England after 1914 and argues for a strongly revisionist view of the significance of the modern during this important but neglected period in English art Art and Identity in 1950s Britain "Catherine Jolivette, 2017-07-05 During the years following World War II debates about the British landscape fused with questions of national identity as the country reconstructed its sense of self For better or for worse artists statesmen and ordinary citizens saw themselves reflected in the landscape and in turn helped to shape the way that others envisioned the land While landscape art is frequently imagined in terms of painting this book examines the role of landscape in terms of a broader definition of visual culture to include the discussion not only of works of oil on canvas but also prints sculpture photography advertising fashion journalism artists biographies and the multi media stage of the national exhibition Making extensive use of archival materials newspaper reviews radio broadcasts interviews with artists letters and exhibition planning documents Catherine Jolivette explores the intersection of landscape art with a variety of discourses including the role of women in contemporary society the status of immigrant artists in Britain developments in science and technology and the promotion of British art and culture abroad Shadow Sites Kitty Hauser, 2007-03-29 At certain times of the day at sunrise and sunset the outlines of prehistoric fields barrows and hill forts in the British landscape may be thrown into relief Such shadow sites best seen from above and captured by an airborne camera are both examples of and metaphors for a particular way of seeing the landscape At a time of rapid modernisation and urbanisation in mid twentieth century Britain an archaeological vision of the British landscape reassured and enchanted anumber of writers artists photographers and film makers From John Piper Eric Ravilious and Shell guide books to photographs of bomb damage aerial archaeology and The Wizard of Oz Kitty Hauser delves into evocative interpretations of the landscape and looks at the affinities betweenphotography as a medium to capture traces of the past as well as their absence The Derek Williams Collection at the National Museum of Wales National Museum of Wales, Mark L. Evans, 1989 Myth and the Creative Process Jacob E. Nyenhuis, 2003 Highlighting the interaction between myth and artist word and image Jacob Nyenthuis here presents a catalogue of these works one that will enlighten Ayrton's British following while introducing him to an American Legacies of Romanticism Carmen Casaliggi, Paul March-Russell, 2013-03-05 This book visits audience BOOK JACKET the Romantic legacy that was central to the development of literature and culture from the 1830s onward Although critical accounts have examined aspects of this long history of indebtedness this is the first study to survey both Nineteenth and

Twentieth century culture The authors consider the changing notion of Romanticism looking at the diversity of its writers the applicability of the term and the ways in which Romanticism has been reconstituted The chapters cover relevant historical periods and literary trends including the Romantic Gothic the Victorian era and Modernism as part of a dialectical response to the Romantic legacy Contributors also examine how Romanticism has been reconstituted within postmodern and postcolonial literature as both a reassessment of the Modernist critique and of the imperial contexts that have throughout this time frame underpinned the Romantic legacy bringing into focus the contemporaneity of Romanticism and its political legacy This collection reveals the diversity and continuing relevance of the genre in new and exciting ways offering insights into writers such as Browning Ruskin Pater Wilde Lewis MacNeice and Auster Art, Propaganda and Aerial Warfare in Britain during the Second World War Rebecca Searle, 2020-07-23 The War Artists Advisory Committee WAAC were responsible for the production of some of the most iconic images of the Second World War Despite its rich historical value this collection has been poorly utilised by historians and hasn t been subjected to the levels of analysis afforded to other forms of wartime culture This innovative study addresses this gap by bringing official war art into dialogue with the social economic and military histories of the Second World War Rebecca Searle explores the tensions between the documentarist and propagandistic roles of the WAAC in their representation of aerial warfare in the battle for production the Battle of Britain the Blitz and the bombing of Germany Her analyses demonstrate that whilst there was a strong correlation between war art and propaganda the WAAC depicted many aspects of experience that were absent from wartime propaganda such as class divisions within the services gendered hierarchies within industries civilian death and the true nature of the bombing of Germany In addition she shows that propagandistic constructions were not entirely separate from lived experience but reflected experience and shaped the way that individuals made sense of the war Accessibly written highly illustrated and packed with valuable examples of the use of war art as historical source this book will enhance our understanding of the social and cultural history of Britain during the Second World War A Journey Through Ruins Patrick Wright, 2009-02-26 A unique evocation of Britain at the height of Margaret Thatcher's rule A Journey Through Ruins views the transformation of the country through the unexpected prism of every day life in East London Written at a time when the looming but still unfinished tower of Canary Wharf was still wrapped in protective blue plastic its cast of characters includes council tenants trapped in disintegrating tower blocks depressed gentrifiers worrying about negative equity metal detectorists sharp eyed estate agents and management consultants and even Prince Charles Cutting through the teeming surface of London it investigates a number of wider themes the rise and dramatic fall of council housing the coming of privatization the changing memory of the Second World War once used to justify post war urban development and reform but now seen as a sacrifice betrayed Written half a century after the blitz the book reviews the rise and fall of the London of the post war settlement It remains one of the very best accounts of what it was like to live through the Thatcher years This
