Westphall,2015-02-05 In Books and Religious Devotion Allan Westphall presents a study of the book collecting habits and annotation practices of Thomas Connary an Irish immigrant farmer who lived in New Hampshire in the latter half of the nineteenth century Connary led a pious life that revolved around the use annotation and sharing of religious books His surviving annotated volumes provide a revealing glimpse into the utility of books for a common reader and they show how one remarkable eccentric reader turned religious books into near icons Through a careful excavation of book adaptations and enhancements Westphall gives us insight into the range of opportunities provided by the material book for recording and communicating Connary s religious fervor The study also investigates the broader nineteenth century cultural setting in which books are seen as testimonies of personal faith and come to function as instruments of social interaction in both domestic and public spheres Underlying Connary s many and varied interactions with books is his belief that working in books as physical objects can be a devout exercise instrumental in human salvation English Convents in Exile, 1600-1800, Part I, vol 2 Caroline

Bowden, Laurence Lux-Sterritt, Nicky Hallett, Elizabeth Perry, Victoria Van Hyning, 2024-08-01 Between 1600 and 1800 around 4 000 Catholic women left England for a life of exile in the convents of France Flanders Portugal and America These closed communities offered religious contemplation and safety but also provided an environment of concentrated female intellectualism The nuns writings from this time form a unique resource

The Concept of Freedom in the Writings of St. Francis de Sales Eunan McDonnell, 2009 Through the examination of the concept of freedom in the writings of St Francis de Sales the author concludes that in contradistinction to a contemporary understanding of freedom perceived as self determination a Salesian understanding privileges freedom s relationship to the good This situates St Francis de Sales in the classical Thomistic tradition of freedom s necessary relationship to the good but involves a methodological shift as he employs the Renaissance starting point of the turn to the subject This study demonstrates how St Francis arrives inductively at what St Thomas demonstrated deductively namely the essential relationship of freedom to the good Along with this Thomistic influence the author analyses the Salesian indebtedness to Augustinian anthropology which explains the primacy St Francis gives to the will and consequently to love Love understood as the heart s movement towards the good allows the Salesian approach to move beyond the confines of a traditional faculty psychology to embrace a more biblical understanding of the human person This examination of love s relationship to freedom reveals their teleological and archaeological natures coming back to our origins wherein we discover the source of our freedom bestowed on us as a gift from God
