Medieval Authorship and Cultural Exchange in the Late Fifteenth Century Rombert Stapel, 2020-12-28 Medieval Authorship and Cultural Exchange in the Late Fifteenth Century is a multidisciplinary study of late medieval authorship and the military orders framed as a whodunit that uncovers the anonymous author of the Utrecht Chronicle of the Teutonic Order Through a close analysis of the Utrecht Chronicle of the Teutonic Order and its manuscripts and by exploiting a wide range of scholarly techniques from traditional philology and extensive codicological examinations to modern digital humanities techniques the book argues that the recently resurfaced Vienna manuscript is actually an author's copy written in direct cooperation with the original author This important assertion leads to a reinterpretation of the text its sources and composition authorship and the context in which it was conceived It allows us to associate the text with an upsurge of historiographical activities by various military orders across the continent seemingly in response to the publication and aggressive dissemination of the account of the Siege of Rhodes by Guillaume Caoursin in 1480 Furthermore the text can be positioned at the crossroads between different cultural spheres ranging from the Baltic region to the Low Countries spanning French German Dutch and Latin linguistic traditions This book will appeal to scholars and students of medieval history as well as those interested in cultural history and the military religious orders

The Medieval Chronicle, 2022-11-07 In the summer of 1996 the first international conference was held on the medieval chronicle a genre which until then had received but scant attention from historians or specialists in literary history or art history There are several reasons why the chronicle is particularly suited as the topic of an international conference In the first place there is its ubiquity all over Europe and throughout the Middle Ages chronicles were written both in Latin and in the vernacular and not only in Europe but also in the countries neighbouring on it like those of the Arabic world Secondly all chronicles raise such questions as by whom for whom or for what purpose were they written how do they reconstruct the past what determined the choice of verse or prose or what kind of literary influences are discernable in them Finally many chronicles have been beautifully illuminated and the relation between text and image leads to a wholly different set of questions It is the aim of the present volume to provide a representative survey of the on going research in the field of chronicle studies illustrated by examples from specific chronicles from a wide variety of countries periods and cultural backgrounds

The Prose Brut and Other Late Medieval Chronicles Jaclyn Rajsic, Erik Kooper, Dominique T. Hoche, 2016 Essays on the medieval chronicle tradition shedding light on history writing manuscript studies and the history of the book and the post medieval reception of such texts The histories of chronicles composed in England during the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries and onwards with a focus on texts belonging to or engaging with the Prose Brut tradition are the focus of this volume The contributors examine the composition dissemination and reception of historical texts written in Anglo Norman Latin and English including the Prose Brut chronicle c 1300 and later Castleford s Chronicle c 1327 and Nicholas Trevet s Les Cronicles c 1334 looking at questions of the processes of writing rewriting printing and editing history They cross traditional boundaries of subject and period taking multi disciplinary approaches to their studies in order to underscore the shifting historical social and political contexts in which medieval English chronicles were used and read from the fourteenth century through to the present day As such the volume honours the pioneering work of the late Professor Lister M Matheson whose research in this area demonstrated that a full understanding of medieval historical literature demands attention to both the content of the works in question and to the material circumstances of producing those works JACLYN RAJSIC is a Lecturer in Medieval Literature in the School of English and Drama at Queen Mary University of London ERIK KOOPER taught Old and Middle English at Utrecht University until his retirement in 2007 DOMINIQUE HOICHE Is an Associate Professor at West Liberty University in West Virginia Contributors Elizabeth J Bryan Caroline D Eckhardt A S G Edwards Dan Embree Alexander L Kaufman Edward Donald Kennedy Erik Kooper Julia Marvin William Marx Krista A Murchison Heather Pagan Jaclyn Rajsic Christine M Rose Neil Weijer
