The Mansions Of Space:

The Mansions of Space John Morressy, 1983 Jod Enskeline a free trader agrees to help the priests of the planet Peter's Rock search for the Holy Shroud in return for their priceless collection of ancient books from Earth

Creating Your Own Space María Davis, 2021-03-04 The relationship between women and houses has always been complex Many influential writers have used the space of the house to portray women's conflicts with the society of their time On the one hand houses can represent a place of physical psychological and moral restrictions and on the other they often serve as a metaphor for economic freedom and social acceptance This usage is particularly pronounced in works written in the nineteenth and twentieth century when restrictions on women's roles were changing anxieties about space sometimes seem to dominate the literature of both nineteenth century women and their twentieth century descendants The Metaphor of the House in Feminist Literature uses a feminist literary criticism approach in order to examine the use of the house as metaphor in nineteenth and twentieth century literature

Space and the Postmodern Fantastic in Contemporary Literature Patricia Garcia, 2015-04-24 Arising from the philosophical conviction that our sense of space plays a direct role in our apprehension and construction of reality both factual and fictional this book investigates how conceptions of postmodern space have transformed the history of the impossible in literature Deeply influenced by the work of Jorge Luis Borges and Julio Cortázar there has been an unprecedented rise in the number of fantastic texts in which the impossible is bound to space space not as scene of action but as impossible element performing a fantastic transgression within the storyworld This book conceptualizes and contextualizes this postmodern fantastic use of space that disrupts the reader's comfortable notion of space as objective reality in favor of the concept of space as socially mediated constructed and conventional In an illustration of the transnational nature of this phenomenon García analyzes a varied corpus of the Fantastic in the past four decades from different cultures and languages merging literary analysis with classical questions of space related to the fields of philosophy urban studies and anthropology Texts include authors such as Julio Cortázar Argentina John Barth USA J.G. Ballard UK Jacques Sternberg Belgium Fernando Iwasaki Per Juan José Millás Spain and Ric Faye France This book contributes to Literary Theory and Comparative Literature in the areas of the Fantastic narratology and Geocriticism and informs the continuing interdisciplinary debate on how human beings make sense of space

God, Space, and City in the Roman Imagination Richard Jenkyns, 2013-11-28 God Space and City in the Roman Imagination is a unique exploration of the relationship between the ancient Romans visual and literary cultures and their imagination Drawing on a vast range of ancient sources poetry and prose texts and material culture from all levels of Roman society it analyses how the Romans used conceptualized viewed and moved around their city Jenkyns pays particular attention to the other inhabitants of Rome the gods and investigates how the Romans experienced and encountered them with a particular emphasis on the personal and subjective aspects of religious life Through studying interior spaces both secular basilicas colonnades and forums and sacred spaces the temples where the Romans looked upon their gods and their representation in poetry the volume also follows the development of an architecture of the interior in the great Roman public works of the first and second centuries AD While providing new insights into the working of the Romans imagination it also offers powerful challenges to some long established orthodoxies about Roman religion and cultural behaviour
