MacDonald,2016-07-23 The Marchioness of Lossie as she was now called for the family was one of the two or three in Scotland in which the title descends to an heiress had left Lossie House almost immediately upon her father s death under the guardianship of a certain dowager countess Lady Bellair had taken her first to Edinburgh and then to London Tidings of her Mal George MacDonald 10 December 1824 18 September 1905 was a Scottish author poet and Christian minister He was a pioneering figure in the field of fantasy literature and the mentor of fellow writer Lewis Carroll His writings have been cited as a major literary influence by many notable authors including W H Auden C S Lewis J R R Tolkien Walter de la Mare E Nesbit and Madeleine L Engle C S Lewis wrote that he regarded MacDonald as his master Picking up a copy of Phantastes one day at a train station bookstall I began to read A few hours later said Lewis I knew that I had crossed a great frontier G K Chesterton cited The Princess and the Goblin as a book that had made a difference to my whole existence Elizabeth Yates wrote of Sir Gibbie It moved me the way books did when as a child the great gates of literature began to open and first encounters with noble thoughts and utterances were unspeakably thrilling Even Mark Twain who initially disliked MacDonald became friends with him and there is some evidence that Twain was influenced by MacDonald Christian author Oswald Chambers 1874 1917 wrote in Christian Disciplines vol 1 pub 1934 that it is a striking indication of the trend and shallowness of the modern reading public that George MacDonald s books have been so neglected In addition to his fairy tales MacDonald wrote several works on Christian apologetics including several that defended his view of Christian Universalism The Marquis of Lossie Volume 1 George MacDonald,2018-10-11 The Marquis of Lossie Volume 1 By

George MacDonald His book education which he owed mainly to the friendship of the parish schoolmaster although nothing marvellous or in Scotland very peculiar had opened for him in all directions doors of thought and inquiry but the desire of knowledge was in his case again through the influences of Mr Graham subservient to an almost restless yearning after the truth of things a passion so rare that the ordinary mind can hardly master even the fact of its existence
