The book is the last in a series written by this author which depicts the adventures of an extended family of fur trappers as they struggle to survive in the Yukon Territory. Samuel, an adventurer from Seattle who moved to Dawson City to open a business selling products such as woodstoves, axes, ironware for cooking, and dog sled runners, managed to earn a profit in his first year of operation. Looking to increase his income, he opens a fur brokerage business in a small building constructed behind his ironware store. Samuel's close relationship with the patriarchal couple of the family provides him with a glimpse of what true survival entails as he becomes acquainted with the members of this close network of friends and relatives. The Ironware Store depicts daily life in the Yukon and the struggle to exist in a harsh but stunning environment. Discover what chilling event drastically changes the lives of the men and women who have made the wilds near Dawson their home, an ending no one was expecting. The Nostalgic Tales Jivisha Thakore, 2021-08-23 Out West, 1906 Contains monthly column of the Sequoia League. Land of Sunshine, 1906 Includes reports etc. of the Southwest Society of the Archaeological Institutes of America. Mirror Worlds David Gelernter, 1993-01-28 Technology doesn't flow smoothly; it's the big surprises that matter. And Yale computer expert David Gelernter sees one such giant leap right on the horizon. Today's small scale software programs are about to be joined by vast public software works that will revolutionize computing and transform society as a whole. One such vast program is the Mirror World. Imagine looking at your computer screen and seeing reality: an image of your city, for instance, complete with moving traffic patterns or a picture that sketches the state of an entire far flung corporation. At this second, these representations are called Mirror Worlds, and according to Gelernter, they will soon be available to everyone. Mirror Worlds are high tech voodoo dolls; by interacting with the images you interact with reality. Indeed, Mirror Worlds will revolutionize the use of computers, transforming them from mere handy tools to crystal balls which will allow us to see the world more vividly and see into it more deeply. Reality will be replaced gradually, piece by piece, by a software imitation we will live inside the imitation and the surprising thing is this will be a great humanistic advance We gain control over our world plus a huge new measure of insight and vision In this fascinating book part speculation part explanation Gelernter takes us on a tour of the computer technology of the near future Mirror Worlds he contends will allow us to explore the world in unprecedented depth and detail without ever changing out of our pajamas A hospital administrator might wander through an entire medical complex via a desktop computer Any citizen might explore the performance of the local schools chat electronically with teachers and other Mirror World visitors plant software agents to report back on interesting topics decide to run for the local school board hire a campaign manager and conduct the better part of the campaign itself all by interacting with the Mirror World Gelernter doesn't just speculate about how this amazing new software will be used he shows us how it will be made explaining carefully and in detail how to build a Mirror World using technology already available We learn about disembodied machines trellises ensembles and other computer components which sound obscure but which Gelernter explains using familiar metaphors and terms He tells us that a Mirror World is a microcosm just like a Japanese garden or a Gothic cathedral and that a computer program is translated by the computer in the same way a symphony is translated by a violinist into music Mirror Worlds offers a lucid and humanistic account of the coming software revolution told by a computer scientist at the cutting edge of his field
