Girls in Power Laura Fingerson, 2012-02-01 Girls in Power offers a fascinating and unique look at the social aspects of menstruation in the lives of adolescent girls and also in the lives of adolescent boys Although there has been much research on other aspects of gender and the body this is one of the few books to examine menstruation and the first to explore how it plays a part in power interactions between boys and girls Talking openly in single and mixed gender settings individuals and groups of high school age girls and boys share their interpretations and experiences of menstruation Author Laura Fingerson reveals that while teens have negative feelings about menstruation teen girls use their experiences of menstruation as a source of embodied power in their interactions with other girls and with boys She also explores how boys deal with their own reduced power The book extends our theoretical and analytical understanding of youth gender power and embodiment by providing a more balanced view of adolescent social life

Dews,Carolyn Leste Law,1995-04-19 Affecting stories of faculty and graduate students from working class on their struggles in academia The Consequentiality of Communication Stuart J. Sigman,2013-11-05 In a bold attempt to redirect the ways theories of communication are conceived and research on communication processes are conducted this volume questions prevailing communication scholarship that emphasizes the cultural psychological and sociological variables that impact on and or are impacted by communication Instead of focusing on the consequences of communication this books urges readers to examine the consequentiality of communication what it is about the communication process that enables it to play a defining role in our lives Communication is not a neutral conveyor of meanings derived from culture cognition or social structure and is not explained by correlations with external variables Meaning emerges from the communication process itself it is dependent upon what transpires during the real time moments of communicators behaving with each other To properly study this new paradigm a new vocabulary for thinking about the consequentiality of communication is needed and proposed Four theoretical orientations are used to stake out this new territory coordinated management of meaning neo rhetorical theory conversation analysis and social communication theory While there are points of agreement and overlap on the need to study communication as inherently consequential there are also differences across the four theories in the value of rules as an explanatory concept on the relationship between structure and process and on the very constitution of a theory Thus this book has the benefit of articulating a new paradigm for communication scholarship without losing sight of the discipline s rich diversity Redefining Theory and Practice to Guide Social Transformation: Emerging Research and Opportunities Fisher-Yoshida, Beth,Camilo Lopez, Joan,2020-12-25 The application of theory to practice in addressing social transformation still has a lot of room for growth and improvement This is also true of theory being informed by practice Too often there are gaps between what is studied in the academy and what is needed in the field The academy develops theories in isolation from the everyday lives of people especially in post conflict environments Communities seeking innovative ways to address their social needs can benefit from the learning of theories and research conducted within academia At the same time these methods need to be relevant to the local contexts within which they are being used While there are certain norms of communication in the academy of how research is conducted and disseminated there needs to be a translation into practical terms to be used in the field Redefining Theory and Practice to Guide Social Transformation Emerging Research and Opportunities addresses the need practitioners and social change agents have in finding processes and practices to use in the field to engage with and transform communities This critical reference book provides an innovative fieldwork method that leads to social transformation and suggests ways to further develop the relationship between academic theories and practices around social conflicts with the existing local knowledge The chapters include mini case studies that have been developed over the years from the authors work with youth and community leaders with the objective of providing a methodology that allows practitioners to approach the field by engaging with local actors in ways that are generative and trustworthy yet rigorous While highlighting the practices notions and technologies that are at work in conflict post conflict or transitioning out of conflict settings by local community leaders this book is ideally for practitioners in the field of conflict peacebuilding and social and conflict transformation community leaders and social organizers as well as practitioners stakeholders researchers academicians and students interested in social transformation
