inner psychological conflicts of a woman and making her women characters emerge as self dependent individuals with a space of one's own. Through her bunch of wonderful novels Shashi Deshpande aims to highlight that everyone in this society should be treated as equals as human beings there should not be any compartmentalization on the basis of gender. Women should be given equal opportunity and weightage at par with men. This is possible only when women are independent in truest sense and they hold self reliance and self esteem. As a writer of human beings in general and women in particular Shashi Deshpande has wonderfully considered all these aspects in her writings with her ingenious narrative skill and creative spirit. This book has attempted to explore the journey of Deshpande's protagonists in quest of an exclusive identity which has the essence of individuality and self confidence and which make them stand apart from the stereotypical tags given by traditional patriarchal society. Amidst hindrances and oppressions of various kinds how Deshpande's women characters come out of their shell to carve a niche for themselves by utilizing their potential and willpower has formed the crux of the book. Comprehensive and analytical in nature the present book would prove an asset to students of English literature.

A Fluid Sense of Self Silvia Schultermandl, Sebnem Toplu, 2010. In this era of increasing global mobility identities are too complex to be captured by concepts that rely on national borders for reference. Such identities are not unified or stable but are fluid entities which constantly push at the boundaries of the nation state thereby re defining themselves and the nation state simultaneously. Contemporary literature pays specific attention to internal and external notions of belonging. Politics of Motion and definitions of self resulting from interpersonal relationships. Politics of Longing. This collection looks at texts by authors who are British American or Canadian but for whom a self definition according national parameters is insufficient.

National Identity and Cultural Representation in the Novels of Arundhati Roy and Kiran Desai Sonali Das, 2018-04-18. Shakespeare's Shrews Beatrice Righetti, 2024-12-12 Shakespeare's Shrews Italian Traditions of Paradoxes and the Woman's Debate investigates the echoes of two early modern discourses paradoxical writing and the woman's question or querelle des femmes in the representation of the Shakespearean shrew in The Taming of the Shrew Much Ado About Nothing and Othello This comparative cross cultural study explores the English reception of these traditions through the circulation translation and adaptation of Italian works such as Ludovico Ariosto's Orlando Furioso Baldassare Castiglione's Il libro del cortegiano and Ercole and Torquato Tasso's Dell'ammogliarsi The enticing interplay of these two discourses is further complicated by their presence in the writing of early modern male and female authors The examination of Shakespeare's adaptation of these traditions in his shrew character highlights two key findings the thematic fragmentation of the woman's question and the evolving role of paradoxes from figures of speech to Thinking with the Familiar in Contemporary Literature and Culture 'Out of the Ordinary', 2019-09-24 What grows out of the ordinary This volume focuses on that which has been regarded as ordinary self evident and formulaic in literary and cultural phenomena such as diasporic cuisine pet adoption narratives Prairie writing romance between stepsiblings the program of a political party and everyday shopping in poetry The book argues that by engaging with that which is perceived as ordinary we also gain understanding of how otherness becomes defined and constituted The volume seeks new ways to access that which might lie in between or beyond the opposition between exploitation and emancipation and contests the hegemonic logic of revealing oppression and rebuilding liberation in contemporary critical theory to create new ways of

Front Cover Iconography and Algerian Women's Writing Pamela A.

Pears, 2015-10-29 The front covers of books written by Algerian women serve as the primary source of investigation in Front Cover Iconography and Algerian Women Writers. These covers have implications that extend beyond selling the book. What we see on one side of the page or in this case the cover recto controls what we read on the reverse in this case the text itself verso. Using theories of the paratext including those of Gérard Genette and Jonathan Gray, this book determines how four dominant iconographies used on the covers of Algerian women's writing: Orientalist art, the veil, the desert, and the author portrait, work with and against the texts they represent. These images have an impact on the initial reception of the book but beyond that, book covers determine how both the informed and uninformed reader categorize and interpret francophone Algerian women's writing in France and beyond. As the covers help to sell the works, they also produce messages represented via their iconographies that embed themselves into the texts. A sometimes explicit and at the very least implicit dialog between the visual paratextual representation and the written textual one is created; a dialog that extends beyond the life of the physical book to a sort of canonical paradigm for reading these authors' works. Thus even if the cover image appears ephemeral, it never truly disappears. Its powerful control over critical reception and ultimately interpretation of francophone Algerian women's writing remains.

Radical Feminism and Women's Writing Chandra Nisha Singh, 2007

The Book Places A Body Of Women's Fiction Against The Ideological Territory Of Radical Feminism With A Firm Belief In Its Social Political And Intellectual Essentiality. The Absence Of This Specific Discourse In Women's Texts Stirs An Urge For A Different Kind Of Gender Sensitivity Than Their Limited And Undefined Approach Provides. The Book Takes Into Its View A Huge Compendium Of Women's Fiction In Hindi And In Indian English Most Of Which Has Been Victim Of Hegemonic Biases And Overall Marginalization.

Women Writing Intimacy and Resistance Valérie Baisnée-Keay, Corinne Bigot, Nicoleta

Alexoae-Zagni, Nathalie Saudo-Welby, Stephanie Genty, 2025-05-27 This collection explores how women writers in the English speaking world transform personal intimacy into political engagement, challenging cultural oppression across genres: life writing, novels, poetry, and theatre from the 19th century to today. Guided by the feminist slogan 'the personal is political', it bridges feminist, decolonial, ethnic, and queer studies, revealing how gender-based domination intersects with other forms of oppression. The authors highlight how these writers across various forms of expression imagine new modes of resistance and carve out space for social change.

Nineteenth-Century Women's Writing in Wales Jane Aaron, 2010-02-15

The first volume in the new series Gender Studies in Wales, this book argues that the way in which people came to perceive and to represent themselves as Welsh was profoundly affected by the gender ideologies prevalent during the Romantic and Victorian periods. Nineteenth-Century Women's Writing in Wales: Nation, Gender, and Identity introduces readers to a hundred Welsh women authors at work during the years 1780-1900, some writing in Welsh and some in English. In so doing, it rescues many of these authors from critical neglect and oblivion. In the second half of the nineteenth century, in particular, Welsh women writers in both languages were numerous and enjoyed a degree of influence on Welsh culture easily commensurate with that of women writers today By covering the nineteenth century chronologically this book traces the coming into being of the Welsh nation as its women in particular saw it and as they helped to create it
