Constructing Identity in Contemporary Architecture Peter Herrle, Stephanus Schmitz, 2009 The global spread of uniform modes of production and cultural values has been accompanied by a dissemination of stereotypes of modern architecture styles almost everywhere around the globe Paradoxically the reverse process has also emerged In some countries the elites feel the necessity to counterbalance the loss of identity and defend their own cultures against the intruding forces of globalization What started as a defensive notion has developed into a more progressive attempt to re create what has allegedly been lost This trend is being strongly expressed in discourses about architecture in countries of the South Who are the actors feeling compelled to construct new identities How are these new identities in architecture created in various parts of the world And which are the ingredients borrowed from various historical and ethnic traditions and other sources These and other questions are discussed in five case studies from different parts of the world written by renowned scholars from Brazil Mexico Egypt India and Singapore The Architecture and Cities of Northern Mexico from Independence to the Present Edward R. Burian, 2015-08-15 The states of Northern Mexico Tamaulipas Nuevo León Coahuila Chihuahua Durango

Sonora Sinaloa and Baja California Norte and Sur have architecture urbanism and landscape design that offer numerous lessons in how to build well but this constructed environment is largely undervalued or unknown To make this architecture better known to a wide professional academic and public audience this book presents the first comprehensive overview in either English or Spanish of the architecture urban landscapes and cities of Northern Mexico from the country's emergence as a modern nation in 1821 to the present day Profusely illustrated with color and black and white photographs maps and analytical drawings of urban cores of major cities The Architecture and Cities of Northern Mexico systematically examines significant works of architecture in large cities and small towns in each state from the earliest buildings in the urban core to the newest at the periphery Edward R Burian describes the most memorable works of architecture in each city in greater detail in terms of their spatial organization materials and sensory experience He also includes a concise geographical and historical summary of the region that provides a useful background for the discussions of the works of architecture Burian concludes the book with a brief commentary on lessons learned and possible futures for the architectural culture of the region as well as the first comprehensive biographical listing of the architects practicing in Northern Mexico during the past two centuries
