Intimacies of Violence in the Settler Colony Penelope Edmonds,Amanda Nettelbeck,2018-05-25 Violence and intimacy were critically intertwined at all stages of the settler colonial encounter and yet we know surprisingly little of how they were connected in the shaping of colonial economies Extending a reading of economies as labour relations into new arenas this innovative collection of essays examines new understandings of the nexus between violence and intimacy in settler colonial economies of the British Pacific Rim The sites it explores include cross cultural exchange in sealing and maritime communities labour relations on the frontier inside the pastoral station and in the colonial home and the material and emotional economies of exploration Following the curious mobility of texts objects and frameworks of knowledge this volume teases out the diversity of ways in which violence and intimacy were expressed in the economies of everyday encounters on the ground In doing so it broadens the horizon of debate about the nature of colonial economies and the intercultural encounters that were enmeshed within them

Damned if I do Philip Nitschke,Peter Corris,2013-09-01 This is the revealing personal story of the man behind the controversial pro euthanasia movement told in his own words Medical doctor humanist author and founder director of Exit International Philip Nitschke s life has always been in the spotlight The books spans Philip s early days from his curious activist student days in Adelaide to working with Aboriginal land rights groups in Australia s Far North to his successful campaign to have euthanasia legalised in Australia

Writing Home Glenn Morrison, 2017-01-30 Writing Home explores the literary representation of Australian places by those who have walked them In particular it examines how Aboriginal and settler narratives of walking have shaped portrayals of Australia's Red Centre and consequently ideas of nation and belonging Central Australia has long been characterised as a frontier the supposed divide between black and white ancient and modern But persistently representing it in this way is preventing Australians from reimagining this internationally significant region as home Writing Home argues that the frontier no longer adequately describes Central Australia and that the Aboriginal songlines make a significant but under acknowledged contribution to Australian discourses of hybridity belonging and home Drawing on anthropology cultural theory journalism politics and philosophy the book traces shifting perceptions of Australian place and space since precolonial times through six recounted walking journeys of the Red Centre
