Forces of the Hanseatic League David Nicolle, 2014-04-20 A commercial and defensive federation of merchant guilds based in harbour towns along the North Sea and Baltic coasts the Hanseatic League eventually dominated maritime trade in Northern Europe and spread its influence much further afield The League was formed to protect the economic and political interests of member cities throughout a vast and complex trading network During its 300 years of dominance the League's large ships called cogs were at the forefront of maritime technology were early users of cannon and were manned by strong fighting crews to defend them from pirates in both open sea and river warfare David Nicolle explores these approaches as well as the fortifications and gunpowder weapons they invested in to protect them from the sieges they were subjected to Featuring specially commissioned artwork this is first detailed illustrated study in English of the fighting men weapons and ships of the greatest mercantile and naval power of medieval northern Europe

The Sea in World History Stephen K. Stein, 2017-04-24 This two volume set documents the essential role of the sea and maritime activity across history from travel and food production to commerce and conquest In all eras water transport has served as the cheapest and most efficient means of moving cargo and people over any significant distance Only relatively recently have railroads and aircraft provided an alternative Most of the world's bulk goods continue to travel primarily by ship over water Even today 95 percent of the cargo that enters and leaves the United States does so by ship Similarly people around the world rely on the sea for food and in recent years the sea has become an important source of oil and other resources with the longterm effects of our continuing efforts to extract resources from the sea further highlighting environmental concerns that range from pollution to the exhaustion of fish stocks This chronologically organized two volume reference addresses the history of the sea beginning with ancient civilizations 4000 to 1000 BCE and ending with the modern era 1945 to the present day Each of the eight chapters is further broken down into sections that focus on specific nations or regions offering detailed descriptions of that area of the world and shorter entries on specific topics individuals and events The book spans maritime history covering major seafaring peoples and nations famous explorers travelers and commanders events battles and wars key technologies including famous ships important processes and ongoing events such as piracy and the slave trade and more Readers will benefit from dozens of primary source documents ranging from ancient Egyptian tales of seafaring to texts by renowned travelers like Marco Polo Zheng He and Ibn Battuta that provide firsthand accounts from the age of discovery as well as accounts of battle from World War I and II and more modern accounts of the sea

The World History of Beekeeping and Honey Hunting Eva Crane,1999-10-13 First published in 2000 This comprehensive book represents the first attempt to write a world history of people s use of social bees how bees nests were initially hunted for their honey and wax and later how the bees were kept in purpose made hives Evidence survives from early times in the form of artefacts pictures and written records and also human traditions of dealing with bees Since 1949 the author has had opportunities to travel in over sixty countries and to see traditional and modern hive beekeeping and also honey collection from nests She learned much that helped her to piece together some of the long history in the different continents

History of the Literary Cultures of East-Central Europe Marcel Cornis-Pope,John Neubauer,2006-09-13 Continuing the work undertaken in Vol 1 of the History of the Literary Cultures of East Central Europe Vol 2 considers various topographic sites multicultural cities border areas cross cultural corridors multiethnic regions that cut across national boundaries rendering them permeable to the flow of hybrid cultural messages By focusing on the literary cultures of specific geographical locations this volume intends to put into practice a new type of comparative study Traditional comparative literary studies establish transnational comparisons and contrasts but thereby reconfirm however inadvertently the very national borders they play down This volume inverts the expansive momentum of comparative studies towards ever broader regional European and world literary histories While the theater of this volume is still the literary culture of East Central Europe the contributors focus on pinpointed local traditions and geographic nodal points Their histories of Riga Plovdiv Timi oara or Budapest of Transylvania or the Danube corridor to take a few examples reveal how each of these sites was during the last two hundred years a home for a variety of foreign or ethnic literary traditions next to the one now dominant within the national borders By foregrounding such non national or hybrid traditions this volume pleads for a diversification and pluralization of local and national histories A genuine comparatist revival of literary history should involve the recognition that treading on native grounds means actually treading on grounds cultivated by diverse people

Frege Dale Jacquette,2019-04-04 Gottlob Frege 1848 1925 is one of the founding figures of analytic philosophy whose contributions to logic philosophical semantics philosophy of language and philosophy of mathematics set the agenda for future generations of theorists in these and related areas Dale Jacquette s lively and incisive biography charts Frege s life from its beginnings in small town north Germany through his student days in Jena to his development as an enduringly influential thinker Along the way Jacquette considers Frege s ground breaking Begriffsschrift 1879 in which he formulated his ideal logical language his magisterial Grundgesetze der Arithmetik 1893 and 1903 and his complex relation to thinkers including Husserl and especially Russell whose Paradox had such drastic implications for Frege's logicism Jacqueline concludes with a thoughtful assessment of Frege's legacy His rich and informative biography will appeal to all who are interested in Frege's philosophy

International Status in the Shadow of Empire Cait Storr, 2020-09-17 Nauru is often figured as an anomaly in the international order This book offers a new account of Nauru's imperial history and examines its significance to the histories of international law Drawing on theories of jurisdiction and bureaucracy it reconstructs four shifts in Nauru's status from German protectorate to League of Nations C Mandate to UN Trust Territory to sovereign state as a means of redescribing the transition from the nineteenth century imperial order to the twentieth century state system The book argues that as international status shifts imperial form accretes as Nauru's status shifted what occurred at the local level was a gradual process of bureaucratisation Two conclusions emerge from this argument The first is that imperial administration in Nauru produced the Republic's post independence failures The second is that international recognition of sovereign status is best understood as marking a beginning not an end of the process of decolonisation

Place and Politics: Local Identity, Civic Culture, and German Nationalism in North Germany during the Revolutionary Era Katherine Aaslestad, 2005-12-01 This study examines North Germany during the transformative era of the French Revolution Napoleonic occupation and Wars of Liberation it reveals international exploitation military occupation economic destruction of the city state Hamburg as well as the republic's liberation and post Napoleonic autonomy Examining shifts within local culture and the role of public opinion on civic morality this book underscores the relationship between the civic ethics public language and collective memory in the construction of political identity and concludes that the transformation in values at the local level ultimately provides the crucial direction in the process of modern nation building Throughout the 1800s the public commemoration and memory of occupation and liberation rather than the actual Napoleonic experience shaped the development of German nationalism

The Baltic Sea Region Witold Maciejewski, 2002

The Hansa Towns Helen Zimmern, 1889

War, Politics and Finance in Late Medieval English Towns Christian Drummond Liddy, 2005 The strengthening of ties between crown and locality in the fourteenth century is epitomised by the relationships between York and Bristol then amongst the largest and wealthiest urban communities in England and the crown This book combines a detailed study of the individuals who ruled Bristol and York at the time with a close analysis of the texts which illustrate the relationship between the two cities and the king thus offering a new perspective on relations between town and crown in late medieval England

Beginning with an analysis of the various demands financial political and commercial made upon the towns by the Hundred Years War the author argues that such pressures facilitated the development of a partnership in government between the crown and the two towns meaning that the elite inhabitants became increasingly important in national affairs The book goes on to explore in detail the nature of urban aspirations within the kingdom arguing that the royal charters granting the towns their coveted county status were crucial in binding their ruling elites into the apparatus of royal government and giving them a powerful voice in national politics

Photography, Reconstruction and the Cultural History of the Postwar European City
Tom Allbeson, 2020-11-16

Examining imagery of urban space in Britain France and West Germany up to the early 1960s this book reveals how photography shaped individual architectural projects and national rebuilding efforts alike Exploring the impact of urban photography at a pivotal moment in contemporary European architecture and culture this book addresses case studies spanning the destruction of the war to the modernizing reconfiguration of city spaces including ruin photobooks about bombed cities architectural photography of housing projects and imagery of urban life from popular photomagazines as well as internationally renowned projects like UNESCO s Paris Headquarters Coventry Cathedral and Berlin s Gedächtniskirche This book reveals that the ways of seeing shaped in the postwar years by urban photography were a vital aspect of not only discourses on the postwar city but also debates central to popular culture from commemoration and modernization to democratization and Europeanization This book will be a fascinating read for researchers in the fields of photography and visual studies architectural and urban history and cultural memory and contemporary European history
