a critical analysis of Hindu perspectives on these issues The cultural and political as well as theological nature of these conflicts is illustrated by drawing attention to parallels with contemporary Islamic and Buddhist responses to modern science and Darwinism The book explores various ancient and classical Hindu models to explain the origin of the universe encompassing creationist as well as evolutionary but non Darwinian interpretations of how we came to be Complex schemes of cosmic evolution were developed alongside creationist proofs for the existence of God utilizing distinctly Hindu versions of the design argument After examining diverse elements of the Hindu Dharmic traditions that laid the groundwork for an ambivalent response to Darwinism when it first became known in India the book highlights the significance of the colonial context Analysing critically the question of compatibility between traditional Dharmic theories of knowledge and the epistemological assumptions underlying contemporary scientific methodology the book raises broad questions regarding the frequently alleged harmony of Hinduism the eternal Dharma with modern science and with Darwinian evolution in particular

Lewis,Olav Hammer,2010-11-19 There has been a significant but little noticed aspect of the interface between science and religion namely the widespread tendency of religions to appeal to science in support of their truth claims Though the appeal to science is most evident in more recent religions like Christian Science and Scientology no major faith tradition is exempt from this pattern Members of almost every religion desire to see their truths supported by the authority of science especially in the midst of the present historical period when all of the comforting old certainties seem problematic and threatened The present collection examines this pattern in a wide variety of different religions and spiritual movements and demonstrates the many different ways in which religions appeal to the authority of science The result is a wide ranging and uniquely compelling study of how religions adapt their message to one of the major challenges presented by the contemporary world
