Textile World, 1918 The War Aims and Strategies of Adolf Hitler Oscar Pinkus, 2005-06-29 Many have commented upon Hitler's inexplicable behavior during World War II He failed to invade England he neglected his air force he engaged enemies on multiple fronts Viewed in terms of Germany's struggle against the West these and other actions made little sense In truth however the war against Western powers had little to do with Hitler's grand plan to conquer Russia and lands to the east of Germany eradicate or enslave their populations and create a vast Teutonic empire In light of this goal Hitler's actions were consistent throughout In line with his dictum of All or Nothing once Hitler failed to defeat Russia in December 1941 he conducted the rest of the war with the sole purpose of inflicting maximum bloodshed and desolation including upon Germany itself Weakened sensing defeat he knew he was a drowning man and he was determined to take friend and foe alike down with him This evaluation of Hitler's objectives in World War II expands upon a theory gaining prominence among historians Hitler's true motive was a crusade against the East and he had little interest in waging war with England much less the United States It examines the different nature of the war on the Eastern and Western fronts the disparate treatment afforded the two groups of POWs and civilians and Hitler's scorched earth policy adopted after his primary objective proved beyond his grasp In poignant painful detail it recreates the Russians' devastating four year struggle against Germany which went much further towards ensuring its defeat than any of the comparatively belated Western efforts
