Jihād in West Africa during the Age of Revolutions Paul E. Lovejoy, 2016-11-30 In Jihād in West Africa during the Age of Revolutions a preeminent historian of Africa argues that scholars of the Americas and the Atlantic world have not given Africa its due consideration as part of either the Atlantic world or the age of revolutions The book examines the jihād movement in the context of the age of revolutions commonly associated with the American and French revolutions and the erosion of European imperialist powers and shows how West Africa too experienced a period of profound political change in the late eighteenth through the mid nineteenth centuries Paul E Lovejoy argues that West Africa was a vital actor in the Atlantic world and has wrongly been excluded from analyses of the period Among its chief contributions the book reconceptualizes slavery Lovejoy shows that during the decades in question slavery expanded extensively not only in the southern United States Cuba and Brazil but also in the jihād states of West Africa In particular this expansion occurred in the Muslim states of the Sokoto Caliphate Fuuta Jalon and Fuuta Toro At the same time he offers new information on the role antislavery activity in West Africa played in the Atlantic slave trade and the African diaspora Finally Jihād in West Africa during the Age of Revolutions provides unprecedented context for the political and cultural role of Islam in Africa and of the concept of jihād in particular from the eighteenth century into the present Understanding that there is a long tradition of jihād in West Africa Lovejoy argues helps correct the current distortion in understanding the contemporary jihād movement in the Middle East Afghanistan Pakistan and Africa

Writing the

History of Global Slavery Trevor Burnard, 2023-11-29 This Element shows that existing models of global slavery derived from sociology and modelled closely on antebellum American slavery being normative should be replaced a global slavery that is less American and more global It argues that we can understand the global history of slavery if we connect it more closely to another important world institution empires in ways that historicise the study of history as an institution with a history that changes over time and space Moreover we can learn from scholars of modern slavery and use more than we do the enormous proliferation of usable sources about the lives experiences and thoughts of the enslaved from ancient to modern times to make these voices of the enslaved crucial drivers of how we conceptualise and describe the varied kinds of global slavery in world history This title is also available as Open Access on Cambridge Core Rethinking the African Diaspora Edna G. Bay, Kristin Mann, 2013-09-13 As a result of new research we can now paint a more complex picture of peoples and cultures in the south Atlantic from the earliest period of the slave trade up to the present The nine papers in this volume indicate that a dynamic and continuous movement of peoples east as well as west across the Atlantic forged diverse and vibrant re inventions and re interpretations of the rich mix of cultures represented by Africans and peoples of African descent on both continents Politics in Francophone Africa Victor T. Le Vine, 2004 Explores the elements that have shaped the particular political dynamics of the 14 former French colonies in west and equatorial Africa while allowing them to remain part of a unique francophone sociopolitical community
