Maeglin, 1991 Public Policies and the Misuse of Forest Resources World Resources Institute, 1988-09-30 Six contributors explore the role of governments in accelerating the rate of forest destruction by providing direct and indirect subsidies to support what would otherwise be non commercial logging operations Without these financial incentives most timber operations in the tropics would cease In a series of country by country investigations including examples from the developed and developing worlds this book documents the government policies that are leading to the misuse of forest resources Each is written by an authority on the country and each contains descriptive analytical and empirical material on key policies and their effects The final country analysis focuses on the United States where the consequences of the subsidized timber sales by the US Forest Service from most of the national forests are discussed The book concludes with an overview of the impact of forest policies and the role of bilateral and multilateral agencies in their formulation By directing attention toward the political dimension involved in forest clearance this book will provide a clearer insight into the basic reasons why forests continue to be destroyed despite the outcry raised by conservationists The New Generation of Watershed Management Programmes and Projects, 2006-01-01 On the occasion of the International Year of Mountains 2002 FAO and its partners undertook a large scale assessment and global review of the current status and future trends of integrated and participatory watershed management The overall objectives were to promote the exchange and dissemination of experiences in implementing watershed management projects in the decade from 1990 to 2000 and to identify the vision for a new generation of watershed management programmes and projects This resource book represents a summary and critical analysis of the rich discussions and vast materials that emerged during the review as well as the review's findings and recommendations It presents the state of the art in watershed management promotes further reflection and creative thinking and proposes new ideas and approaches for future watershed management programmes and projects This publication has been written primarily for field level watershed management practitioners and local decision makers involved in watershed management at the district or municipality level It will also be a useful source of information for other readers such as senior officers and consultants specialized in other areas evaluators policy makers and students of watershed management

Microfinance and Forest-based Small-scale Enterprises Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2005-01-01 Communities around the world rely on forests for their livelihoods and the sustainable development of small scale often family run enterprises is increasingly recognised as a key to poverty reduction This publication examines the needs of such small scale enterprises for access to microfinance services given the seasonal and often unpredictable nature of forest based activities It looks at different types of financial institutions such as banks non governmental organisations co operatives and credit unions as well as group lending leasing insurance and cash transfers The strengths and weaknesses of different approaches are considered through four case studies which draw on experiences in Nepal Guatemala the Sudan and Peru
