Crime and Punishment in Istanbul Fariba Zarinebaf,2011-01-10 This vividly detailed revisionist history exposes the underworld of the largest metropolis of the early modern Mediterranean and through it the entire fabric of a complex multicultural society Fariba Zarinebaf maps the history of crime and punishment in Istanbul over more than one hundred years considering transgressions such as riots prostitution theft and murder and at the same time tracing how the state controlled and punished its unruly population Taking us through the city's streets workshops and houses she gives voice to ordinary people the man accused of stealing the woman accused of prostitution and the vagabond expelled from the city She finds that Istanbul in this period remains mischaracterized in part by the sensational and exotic accounts of European travelers who portrayed it as the embodiment of Ottoman decline rife with decadence sin and disease Linking the history of crime and punishment to the dramatic political economic and social transformations that occurred in the eighteenth century Zarinebaf finds in fact that Istanbul had much more in common with other emerging modern cities in Europe and even in America

Preparing the Mothers of Tomorrow Ela Greenberg, 2012-11-30 From the late nineteenth century onward men and women throughout the Middle East discussed debated and negotiated the roles of young girls and women in producing modern nations In Palestine girls education was pivotal to discussions about motherhood Their education was seen as having the potential to transform the family so that it could meet both modern and nationalist expectations Ela Greenberg offers the first study to examine the education of Muslim girls in Palestine from the end of the Ottoman administration through the British colonial rule Relying upon extensive archival sources official reports the Palestinian Arabic press and interviews she describes the changes that took place in girls education during this time Greenberg describes how local Muslims often portrayed as indifferent to girls education actually responded to the inadequacies of existing government education by sending their daughters to missionary schools despite religious tensions or by creating their own private nationalist institutions Greenberg shows that members of all socioeconomic classes understood the triad of girls education modernity and the nationalist struggle as educated girls would become the mothers of tomorrow who would raise nationalist and modern children While this was the aim of the various schools in Palestine not all educated Muslim girls followed this path as some used their education even if it was elementary at best to become teachers nurses and activists in women s organizations edition of The City in the Islamic World was published to celebrate the occasion The Urban Social History of the Middle East, 1750-1950 Peter Sluglett, 2008-12-08 The great cities of the Middle East and North Africa have long attracted the attention and interest of historians With the discovery and wider use over the last few decades of Islamic court records and Ottoman administrative documents our knowledge of Middle Eastern cities between the seventeenth and early twentieth centuries has vastly expanded Drawing upon a treasure trove of documents and using a variety of methodologies the contributors succeed in providing a significant overview of the ways in which Middle Eastern cities can be studied as well as an excellent introduction to current literature in the field In the Shadow of the Wall Vincent Lemire, 2023-04-04 The Maghrebi Quarter of Jerusalem long sat in the shadow of the Western Wall the last vestige of the Second Temple Three days after the June 67 War Israeli forces razed the Quarter its narrow alleys widened and homes removed to create the Western Wall Plaza With this book Vincent Lemire offers the first history of the Maghrebi Quarter spanning 800 years from its founding by Saladin in 1187 to house North African Muslim pilgrims through to its destruction To bring this vanished district back to life Lemire gathers its now scattered documentation in the archives of Muslim pious foundations in Jerusalem and the Red Cross in Geneva in Ottoman archives in Istanbul and Israeli state archives He engages testimonies of former residents and looks to recent archaeological digs that have resurfaced household objects buried during the destruction Today the Western Wall Plaza extends over the former Maghrebi Quarter It is one of the most identifiable places in the world yet one of the most occluded in history In the Shadow of the Wall offers a new point of entry to understand this consequential place The Cambridge History of Turkey Kate Fleet, Suraiya N. Faroqhi, Reşat Kasaba, 2006-11-02 Volume 3 of The Cambridge History of Turkey covers the period from 1603 to 1839
