Daymond,2013-05-13 This is the first collection of feminist critical essays by and about women in South Africa to appear outside of that country Many of the pieces were written after February 1990 when President de Klerk lifted the ban on black political organizations The recognition that a just society cannot be achieved without freedom from gender oppression as well as racial oppression informs these essays and has a direct bearing on the creation of a new society in South Africa Rethinking South Africa's Past Christopher J. Lee,Andrew Offenburger,2025-03-18 This book presents key historical scholarship published in Safundi from 1999 to 2024 tracing South Africa's past through approaches of comparative history transnational history and visual history in addition to addressing the importance of topics like gender labor and class dynamics as well as regional historiographies The first section of the book focuses on comparative history as a founding method for Safundi given the journal's origins in American and South African studies while also recalibrating this approach through a variety of topics cities biographies and practices of violence rather than nation states writ large Drawing upon innovative sources of evidence the second section moves beyond the comparative method to address transnational histories as a new narrative technique for storytelling and analysis Whether issues of education immigration or visiting musicians to South Africa these chapters demonstrate the importance of a post national approach for understanding the past The sections that follow fan out into other subject areas including the uses of visual history gender roles class cultures and environmental history all of which illuminate connections between South African history and other parts of the world This book will be an indispensable resource for scholars students activists and policymakers as well as those readers who are generally interested in understanding South Africa s complex history over the past several centuries White on Black in South Africa Michael Wade,2016-07-27 The English speaking whites of South Africa participate in the larger culture of the English speaking world while rejecting its unspoken consensual positions on many basic issues This study analyses texts of different kinds produced by the group to examine the way these deviant English speakers see themselves and particularly how this self image is influenced by the presence of the blacks who constitute a crucial part of their perceptual field Economically powerful but politically marginal for many years the English speaking whites have always been mediators of their community s experience to the world culture of the English language the study shows how the act of mediation operates in more than one direction producing a literary tradition that is essentially and perhaps surprisingly dissident The Journal of Commonwealth Literature ,1989 Issues for 1965 include section Annual bibliography of Commonwealth literature 1964 Bibliography of African Literatures Peter Limb,Jean-Marie Volet,1996 Provides extensive coverage of the writings of both established and promising new authors in all continental African countries and Madagascar Arranged primarily by language with emphasis on literatures in English and French
