Worlding the south Sarah Comyn, Porscha Fermanis, 2021-07-06 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license This collection brings together for the first time literary studies of British colonies in nineteenth century Australia New Zealand South Africa South America Southeast Asia and the South Pacific Islands Drawing on hemispheric studies Indigenous studies and southern theory to decentre British and other European metropoles the collection offers a groundbreaking challenge to national paradigms and traditional literary periodisations and canons by prioritising southern cultural networks in multiple regional centres from Cape Town to Dunedin Worlding the south examines the dialectics of literary worldedness in ways that recognise inequalities of power textual and material violence and literary and cultural resistance The collection revises current literary histories of the British world by arguing for the distinctiveness of settler colonialism in the southern hemisphere and by incorporating Indigenous diasporic and south south perspectives Zambesi Lawrence Dritsas,2010-03-31 Zambesi tells the story of David Livingstone s Zambesi Expedition It exposes the rivalry among some of Victorian Britain s leading establishment figures and institutions including the Foreign Office the Royal Society Royal Geographical Society British Museum Kew Gardens and the Admiralty as abolitionists scientists and entrepreneurs sought to promote and protect their differing interests Making use of letters documents and materials neglected by previous writers and researchers the author reveals how tensions arose from the very beginning between those in pursuit of knowledge for its own sake and the proponents of the civilizing missions who saw scientific knowledge as the utilitarian means to a social end The result is an exciting story involving one of England s most feted Victorian heroes that offers important new insights in the practice and politics of expeditionary science in Victorian England This is the definitive account of the expedition to date Explorers DK,2010-09-20 From the first people to leave Africa to the first to leave the planet the urge to explore the unknown has driven human progress Explorers tells the story of humanity s explorations taking the reader into the lives of some of the most intrepid people ever known Throughout history exploration has arisen from a wide range of impulses from trade and the search for lands to colonize to scientific curiosity and missionary zeal This book tells the story of explorers of every type from those chasing glory to those seeking enlightenment In its pages readers will meet some of history s most famous trail blazers people whose courage opened frontiers turned voids into maps forged nations connected cultures and added to humankind s knowledge of the world by leaps and bounds Each life is captured in context by considering the knowledge of the world in which the explorers lived the factors that gave rise to their expeditions and the technology available to them at the time Their discoveries and the consequences are also considered in depth and highlighted with beautiful maps photographs and illustrations The tales of the explorers assistants and companions are woven into the overall story along with an examination of the qualities that made them drop everything in pursuit of discovery Imperial Boredom Jeffrey A. Auerbach,2018-09-26 Imperial Boredom offers a radical reconsideration of the British Empire during its heyday in the nineteenth century Challenging the long established view that the empire was about adventure and excitement with heroic men and intrepid women eagerly spreading commerce and civilization around the globe this thoroughly researched engagingly written and lavishly illustrated account suggests instead that boredom was central to the experience of empire Combining individual stories of pain and perseverance with broader analysis Professor Auerbach considers what it was actually like to sail to Australia to serve as a soldier in South Africa or to accompany a colonial official to the hill stations of India He reveals that for numerous men and women from explorers to governors tourists to settlers the Victorian Empire was dull and disappointing Drawing on diaries letters memoirs and travelogues Imperial Boredom demonstrates that all across the empire men and women found the landscapes monotonous the physical and psychological distance from home debilitating the routines of everyday life wearisome and their work tedious and unfulfilling The empires early years may have been about wonder and marvel but the Victorian Empire was a far less exciting project Many books about the British Empire focus on what happened this book concentrates on how people felt Light on Darkness? T. Jack Thompson, 2012-04-20 In its earliest days photography was seen as depicting its subjects with such objectivity as to be inherently free of ideological bias Today we are rightly more skeptical at least most of the time When it comes to photography from the past we tend to set some of our skepticism aside But should we In Light on Darkness T Jack Thompson a leading historian of African Christianity revisits the body of photography generated by British missionaries to sub Saharan Africa in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries and demonstrates that much more is going on in these images than meets the eye This volume offers a careful reassessment of missionary photographers their photographs and their African and European audiences Several dozen fascinating photographs from the period are included

Entrepreneurial Ventures in Chemistry Peter Reed, 2016-03-09

The Muspratt family form a fascinating dynasty in the history of British commerce and manufacturing Associated principally with the development of the chemical industry in Liverpool James Muspratt 1793 1884 was the first person to make alkali on a large scale using the Leblanc Process the three generations of the family also contributed to wider Victorian and Edwardian culture through their interests in politics education founding the Liverpool College of Chemistry in 1848 art literature and theatre This is the first study to present the history of the Muspratts as a family group and to consider the entrepreneurial spirit they brought to chemical manufacture in Britain and to their many other ventures

Art and the End of Apartheid

John Peffer, 2009 Black South African artists have typically had their work labeled African art or township art qualifiers that when contrasted with simply modernist art have been used to marginalize their work both in South Africa and internationally This is the The first book to fully explore cosmopolitan modern art by black South Africans under apartheid

Who's who and why, 1914 Bibliography of Australia John Alexander Ferguson, 1977

Curating empire Sarah Longair, John

McAleer, 2017-02-01 Curating empire explores the diverse roles played by museums and their curators in moulding and representing the British imperial experience This collection demonstrates how individuals their curatorial practices and intellectual and political agendas influenced the development of a variety of museums across the globe Taken together these contributions suggest that museums are not just sites for accessing history but need to be considered as historical sites of significance in themselves Individual essays examine the work of curators in museums in Britain and the colonies the historical display and interpretation of empire in Britain and the establishment of museum networks in the British imperial context Curating empire sheds new light on the relationship between museums as repositories for objects and cultural institutions for conveying knowledge and the politics of culture and the formation of identities throughout the British Empire
