Social Relations In A Philippine Market Self Interest And Subjectivity:

Social Relations in a Philippine Market William G. Davis,1973-01-01 The Economic Sociology of Immigration Alejandro Portes,1995-06-22 Portes suggests that immigration constitutes an especially appropriate Mertonian strategic research site for economic sociology in that it provides very good opportunities for investigating the embeddedness of economic relationships in social situations the contributors expand the conventional domain of economic sociology quite literally in both time and space Contemporary Sociology Alejandro Portes and his splendid band of collaborators make clear that the causes processes and consequences of migration vary dramatically from group to group that a group s history makes a profound difference to its fate in the American economy They have produced a sinewy book a book worth arguing with Charles Tilly Columbia University The Economic Sociology of Immigration forges a dynamic link between the theoretical innovations of economic sociology with the latest empirical findings from immigration research an area of critical concern as the problems of ethnic poverty and inequality become increasingly profound Alejandro Portes lucid overview of sociological approaches to economic phenomena provides the framework for six thoughtful wide ranging investigations into ethnic and immigrant labor networks and social resources entrepreneurship and cultural assimilation Mark Granovetter illustrates how small businesses built on the bonds of ethnicity and kinship can under certain conditions flourish remarkably well Bryan R Roberts demonstrates how immigrant groups expectations of the duration of their stay influence their propensity toward entrepreneurship Ivan Light and Carolyn Rosenstein chart how specific metropolitan environments have stimulated or impeded entrepreneurial ventures in five ethnic populations Saskia Sassen provides a revealing analysis of the unexpectedly flexible and vital labor market networks maintained between immigrants and their native countries while M Patricia Fernandez Kelly looks specifically at the black inner city to examine how insular cultural values hinder the acquisition of skills and jobs outside the neighborhood Alejandro Portes also depicts the difference between the attitudes of American born youths and those of recent immigrants and its effect on the economic success of immigrant children Where Shrimp Eat Better than People Wilma Dunaway,Maria Cecilia Macabuac,2022-10-31 East South and Southeast Asia are home to two thirds of the world s hungry people but they produce more than three quarters of the world s fish and nearly half of other foods Through integration into the world food system these Asian fisheries export their most nutritious foods and import less healthy substitutes Worldwide their exports sell cheap because women the hungriest Asians provide unpaid subsidies to production processes In the 21st century Asian peasants produce more than 60 percent of the regional food supply but their survival is threatened by hunger public depeasantization policies climate change land grabbing urbanization and debt bondage Where Shrimp Eat Better than People Globalized Fisheries Nutritional Unequal Exchange and Asian Hunger is now available in paperback for individual customers Textile Economies Walter E. Little,Patricia A. McAnany,2011-09-22 Textiles have been a highly valued and central part of the politics of human societies across culture divides and over millennia The economy of textiles provides insight into the fabric of social relations local and global politics and diverse ideologies Textiles are a material element of society that fosters the study of continuities and disjunctions in the economic and social realities of past and present societies From stick loom weaving to transnational factories the production of cloth and its transformation into clothing and other woven goods offers a way to study the linkages between economics and politics The volume is oriented around a number of themes textile production textiles as trade goods textiles as symbols textiles in tourism and textiles in the transnational processes Textile Economies appeals to a broad range of scholars interested in the intersection of material culture political economy and globalization such as archaeologists cultural anthropologists economists museum curators and historians Urban Food Marketing and Third World Rural Development T. Scarlett Epstein, 2019-07-19 Originally published in 1982 This book explores the nature of food marketing in Third World countries Economic development invariably involves a transition from the traditional subsistence and or barter economics to increasing participation in cash transactions In many less developed countries this transition has been facilitated by enterprising middlemen who provide the link between dispersed small satellite producers and urban buyers In spite of these developments producer seller markets still operate in numerous countries particularly the newly independent Pacific island states and large parts of Africa and Asia This book examines the phenomenon of producer seller markets basing the study on the situation in New Guinea The author then uses this data to construct theoretical propositions for the marketing of various food items and examines the producer seller market arguing that the lack of inter regional economic interdependence is likely to promote secessional movements particularly in states where two or more ethnic groups exist Globalization from Below Gordon Mathews, Gustavo Lins Ribeiro, Carlos Alba Vega, 2012-08-21 This book explores globalization as actually experienced by most of the world s people buying goods from street vendors brought by traders moving past borders and across continents under the radar of the law The dimensions and practices of globalization from below are depicted and analyzed in detail by a team of international scholars Topics covered include the New Silk Road African traders in China street hawking in Calcutta and pirate CDs in Mexico The chapters provide intimate portrayals of routes markets and people in locations across the globe and explore theories that can help make sense of these complex and fascinating case studies Students of globalization economic anthropology and developing world economics will find the book invaluable

Economies and the Transformation of Landscape Lisa Cliggett, Christopher A. Pool, 2008 Economies and the Transformation of Landscape explores both the general and specific ways in which local economic ventures around the world such as mining ranching and farming affect the environment Critical Craft Clare M. Wilkinson-Weber, Alicia Ory DeNicola, 2020-05-26 From Oaxacan wood carvings to dessert kitchens in provincial France Critical Craft presents thirteen ethnographies which examine what defines and makes craft in a wide variety of practices from around the world Challenging the conventional understanding of craft as a survival a revival or something that resists capitalism the book turns instead to the designers DIY enthusiasts traditional artisans and technical programmers who consider their labor to be craft in order to comprehend how they make sense of it The authors ethnographic studies focus on the individuals and communities who claim a practice as their own bypassing the question of craft survival to ask how and why activities termed craft are mobilized and reproduced Moving beyond regional studies of heritage artisanship the authors suggest that ideas of craft are by definition part of a larger cosmopolitan dialogue of power and identity By paying careful attention to these sometimes conflicting voices this collection shows that there is great flexibility in terms of which activities are labelled craft In fact there are many related ideas of craft and these shape distinct engagements with materials people and the economy Case studies from countries including Mexico Nigeria India Taiwan the Philippines and France draw together evidence based on linguistics microsociology and participant observation to explore the shifting terrain on which those engaged in craft are operating What emerges is a fascinating picture which shows how claims about craft are an integral part of contemporary global change

American Imperial Pastoral Rebecca Tinio McKenna, 2017-01-20 In 1904 renowned architect Daniel Burnham the Progressive Era urban planner who famously Made No Little Plans set off for the Philippines the new US colonial acquisition Charged with designing environments for the occupation government Burnham set out to convey the ambitions and the dominance of the regime drawing on neo classical formalism for the Pacific colony The spaces he created most notably in the summer capital of Baguio gave physical form to American rule and its contradictions In American Imperial Pastoral Rebecca Tinio McKenna examines the design construction and use of Baguio making visible the physical shape labor and sustaining practices of the US s new empire especially the disposessions that underwrote market expansion In the process she demonstrates how colonialists conducted market making through state building and vice versa Where much has been made of the racial dynamics of US colonialism in the region McKenna emphasizes capitalist practices and design ideals giving us a fresh and nuanced understanding of the American occupation of the Philippines

Market Frictions Kirsten W. Endres, 2019-06-06 Based on ethnographic research conducted over several years Market Frictions examines the tensions and frictions that emerge from the interaction of global market forces urban planning policies and small scale trading activities in the Vietnamese border city of L o Cai Here it is revealed how small scale traders and market vendors experience the marketplace reflect upon their trading activities and negotiate current state policies and regulations It shows how traditional Vietnamese marketplaces have continually been reshaped and adapted to meet the changing political economic circumstances and civilizational ideals of the time

Beyond the Marketplace Roger Friedland, A. F. Robertson, 2019-08-21 For at least a half century there has been active debate on the nature of the economy between classical and neoclassical economists and advocates of a more substantivist approach most recently cultural anthropologists The essays are uniformly well written and excellently documented Heartily recommended for academic libraries community college level up S M Soiffer Choice Sierra Leone's Settler Women Traders E. Frances White, 2025-10-01 The early part of the nineteenth century saw the establishment of West Africa's Sierra Leone settlement as an important center for the expanding trade economy A surprising number of Sierra Leonean traders were Krio women whose crosscultural background helped them to mediate the contact between European and African markets In Sierra Leone's Settler Women Traders E Frances White has unearthed the fascinating social and economic history of these women traders from the late eighteenth to the mid twentieth century Using a lively mixture of newspaper accounts contemporary observations colonial documents and oral histories this book tells the story of former slaves and captives from Jamaica North America and other areas of West Africa who became successful traders linking their regional trade networks with the international economy The study traces the eventual decline of the Sierra Leone traders influence under the extension of colonial rule and documents the gradual shift of Krio women into professional and semiprofessional occupations Sierra Leone's Settler Women Traders rescues these women from the invisibility that often befalls colonial subcultures and sheds new light on the role of women as cultural brokers across ethnic boundaries resulting in a study that makes a significant contribution to the ongoing debate over the impact of colonial rule on women in Africa Fishing for Fairness Michael Fabinyi, 2012-01-01 FISHING FOR FAIRNESS develops an explicitly cultural perspective on environmental politics in the Philippines by analysing the responses of fishers to marine resource regulations In the resource frontier of the Calamianes Islands fishing conservation and tourism provide the context where competing visions of how to engage with marine resources are played out The book draws on data from ethnographic fieldwork with fishers government and NGO officials fish traders and tourism operators to show how the strategic responses of fishers to management initiatives are couched within particular cultural idioms Tapping into broader notions of morality in the Philippines fishers express a discourse that emphasises their poverty and the obligations of the wealthy to treat them with fairness By deploying this discourse fishers are able to reframe what are on the surface questions of environmental management into issues about poverty within particular social relationships By using a cultural political ecology framework to analyse fishers responses to regulation the book emphasises the distinctive ways in which marginalised people in the Philippines resist and reframe resource management initiatives FISHING FOR FAIRNESS will appeal to both academics and policy makers interested in marine resource management political ecology anthropology and development studies particularly throughout the Asia Pacific Routledge Library Editions: Food Supply and Policy Various, 2021-08-29 Reissuing works originally published between 1952 and 1999 this set provides a wide spread of scholarship on issues surrounding food provision throughout the world The earlier books look at import and export changes during times when previous trade routes and options changed while later ones mostly consider food assistance policies poverty and famine and welfare These books cover third world studies economics anthropology politics environment agriculture and population studies as well as food and nutrition

Reciprocity in Ancient Greece

Christopher Gill, Norman Postlethwaite, Richard Seaford, 1998-05-28 In this collection of new essays an international group of experts explores the significance of reciprocity the principle and practice of voluntary requital of benefit for benefit or harm for harm in ancient Greek culture Reciprocity has been seen as an important notion for anthropologists studying economic and social relations A key question has been whether reciprocity constitutes an alternative pattern to the commercial political and ethical relationships characteristic of modern Western society This volume takes the question forward in connection with Greek culture from Homer to the Hellenistic period Building on previous research on this topic especially on Homeric society it provides a wide ranging examination of reciprocity in Greek epic and drama historiography oratory religion and ethical philosophy It asks fundamental questions about the importance of reciprocity in different phases of Greek history the interplay between reciprocity and the ideology of Athenian democracy and between reciprocity and altruism in ethical thought Clear and non technical with all Greek translated this volume will make debate on this important subject available to a wide circle of readers in classical literary anthropological and historical studies

Gendered Commodity Chains Wilma A.

Dunaway, 2013-12-18 Gendered Commodity Chains is the first book to consider the fundamental role of gender in global commodity chains It challenges long held assumptions of global economic systems by identifying the crucial role social reproduction plays in production and by declaring the household as an important site of production In affirming the importance of women s work in global production this cutting edge volume fills an important gender gap in the field of global commodity and value chain analysis With thirteen chapters by an international group of scholars from sociology anthropology economics women s studies and geography this volume begins with an eye opening feminist critique of existing commodity chain literature Throughout its remaining five parts Gendered Commodity Chains addresses ways women s work can be integrated into commodity chain research the forms women s labor takes threats to social reproduction the impact of indigenous and peasant households on commodity chains the rapidly expanding arenas of global carework and sex trafficking and finally opportunities for worker resistance This broadly interdisciplinary volume provides conceptual and methodological guides for academics graduate students researchers and activists interested in the gendered nature of commodity chains

East Asian Visions Indermit Singh Gill, Yukon Huang, Homi J. Kharas, 2007 Despite the diversity in income levels languages culture resource endowments and political systems the countries of East Asia are more integrated now than they have ever been Goods money and ideas are being traded across the region East Asia is redefining itself from a collection of disparate nations that looked mainly to markets in the west to a more self reliant innovative and networked region Countries in this region are strengthening ties with each other and seeking more strategic partnerships with the rest of the world East Asian Visions is a collection of essays that convey firsthand how some of the most influential thinkers in East Asia view these challenges The writers are eminent policy makers statesmen and scholars They write about how competition with the west has bred success how crises in the region have provoked introspection and how the rise of China is catalyzing change
