Social Formation And Symbolic Landscape:

Social Formation and Symbolic Landscape Denis E. Cosgrove, 1998 Hailed as a landmark in its field since its first publication in 1984 Denis E Cosgrove's Social Formation and Symbolic Landscape has been influential well beyond geography It has continued to spark lively debate among historians geographers art historians social theorists landscape architects and others interested in the social and cultural politics of landscape Social Formation and Symbolic Landscape Denis Cosgrove, 1998 Symbolic Landscapes Gary Backhaus, John Murungi, 2008-11-09 Symbolic Landscapes presents a definitive collection of landscape place studies that explores symbolic cultural levels of geographical meanings Essays written by philosophers geographers architects social scientists art historians and literati bring specific modes of expertise and perspectives to this transdisciplinary and interdisciplinary study of the symbolic level human existential spatiality Placing emphasis on the pre cognitive genesis of symbolic meaning as well as embodied experiential lived geography the volume offers a fresh quasi phenomenological approach The editors articulate the epistemological doctrine that perception and imagination form a continuum in which both are always implicated as complements This approach makes a case for the interrelation of the geography of perception and the geography of imagination which means that human cultural geography offers only an abstraction if indeed an aesthetic geography is constituted merely as a sub field Human cultural geography can only approach spatial reality through recognizing the intimate interrelative dialectic between the imaginative and perceptual meanings of our landscapes place worlds This volume reinvigorates the importance of the topic of symbolism in human cultural geography landscape studies philosophy of place architecture and planning and will stand among the classics in the field Geographical Imagination and the Authority of Images Denis E. Cosgrove, 2006 Geographical imagination and the authority of images collects three papers and an interview on the themes presented and discussed during the 2005 Hettner lectures Cosgrove examines the roles that vision and imagination have played in shaping material and represented landscapes at scales ranging from the local and regional to the global and cosmic The book presents substantive studies of cosmographic and global mapping the picturesque tradition and suburban Los Angeles and the use of aeTranspennine England as a geographical art gallery Embedded in these are theoretical and ethical reflections on the ways that we come to know the world ourselves and each other through geographical engagements especially when these are mediated through graphic images The interview locates these themes within the context of Denis Cosgrove's development as a geographer and his response to debates within the discipline about the roles of imagination culture and representation within geographies's humanities tradition Contents Peter Meusburger Hans Gebhardt Introduction Hettner Lecture 2005 in Heidelberg Denis Cosgrove Apollo's eye a cultural geography of the globe Denis Cosgrove Landscape culture and modernity Denis Cosgrove Regional art Transpennine geography remembered and exhibited Tim Freytag Heike Joens Vision and the culturalae in geography a biographical interview with Denis Cosgrove The Klaus Tschira Foundations gGmbH u Photographic thought of in relation to other typically more established fields Indeed one of the most valuable utilities of spatial history is its capacity to facilitate conversations across those fields Consequently it must be discussed in relation to a variety of historiographical contexts Each of these have their own intellectual genealogies institutional settings and conceptual path dependencies With this in mind this guide surveys the following areas territoriality infrastructure and borders nature environment and landscape city and home social space and political protest spaces of knowledge spatial imaginaries cartographic representations and historical GIS research

Reshaping the Frontier Landscape: Dongchuan in Eighteenth-century Southwest China Fei HUANG,2018-04-03 In Reshaping the Frontier Landscape Dongchuan in Eighteenth century Southwest China Fei HUANG examines the process of reshaping the landscape of Dongchuan a remote frontier city in Southwest China in the eighteenth century Rich copper deposits transformed Dongchuan into one of the key outposts of the Qing dynasty a nexus of encounters between various groups competing for power and space The frontier landscape bears silent witness to the changes in its people s daily lives and in their memories and imaginations The literati officials itinerant merchants commoners and the indigenous people who lived there shaped and reshaped the local landscape by their physical efforts and cultural representations This book demonstrates how multiple landscape experiences developed among various people in dependencies conflicts and negotiations in the imperial frontier

Seductions of Place Carolyn L. Cartier,Alan A. Lew,2005 The seductiveness of touristed landscapes is simultaneously local and global as travelled places are formed and reworked by the activities of diverse mobile people in their desires to experience situated sensuous qualities of difference

Cartier and Lew's interesting and informative book explores contemporary issues in travel and tourism and human geography and the complex cultural political and economic activities at stake in touristed landscapes as a result of globalization. This book assesses travel and tourism as simultaneously cultural and economic processes through ideas about place seduction and the formation of landscapes. Throughout examples are given from urban and environmental touristed landscapes from major world cities to tropical islands and chapter contributions include an analysis of the representational character of landscape and the built environment, historic constructions of place seduction, the importance of class, racial and gender dimensions of place, how mobility and the seduction of place orient identity formation, the environmental impacts of tourism economies. Broad in scope, this book is ideal for social scientists and humanists who are interested in contemporary debates about place studies, mobility and the located realities of globalization.

Preservation, Tourism and Nationalism Joshua Hagen, 2006. By tracing Rothenburg's historical development as a place of national importance, this book examines the cultural politics of historical preservation and tourism in general. It shows how Germany as well as the rest of Europe and North America used Roman.

Geographies of Media and Communication Paul C. Adams, 2009-03-09. Geographies of Media and Communication. From the invention of the telegraph to the emergence of the Internet, communications technologies have transformed the ways that people and places relate to each other. Geographies of Media and Communication is the first textbook to treat all aspects of geography's variegated encounter with communication. Connecting geographical ideas with communication theories such as intertextuality, audience-centered theory and semiotics, Paul C. Adams explores media representations of places, the spatial diffusion of communication technologies and the power of communication technologies to transform places and to dictate who does and does not belong in them.

Representing Africa John McAleer, 2017-03-01. Southern Africa played a varied but vital role in Britain's maritime and imperial stories; it was one of the most intricate pieces in the British imperial strategic jigsaw and representations of southern African landscape and maritime spaces reflect its multifaceted position. Representing Africa examines the ways in which British travellers, explorers and artists viewed southern Africa in a period of evolving and expanding British interest in the region. Drawing on a wide range of archival sources, contemporary travelogues and visual images, many of which have not previously been published in this context, this book posits landscape as a useful prism through which to view changing British attitudes towards Africa. Richly illustrated, this book will be essential reading for scholars and students interested in British African imperial and exploration history, art history and landscape and environment studies.

Making the San Fernando Valley Laura R. Barraclough, 2011-01-01. In the first book-length scholarly study of the San Fernando Valley, home to one-third of the population of Los Angeles, Laura R. Barraclough combines ambitious historical sweep with an on-the-ground investigation of contemporary life in this iconic western suburb She is particularly intrigued by the Valley's many rural elements such as dirt roads tack and feed stores horse keeping districts citrus groves and movie ranches Far from natural or undeveloped spaces these rural characteristics are she shows the result of deliberate urban planning decisions that have shaped the Valley over the course of more than a hundred years The Valley's entwined history of urban development and rural preservation has real ramifications today for patterns of racial and class inequality and especially for the evolving meaning of whiteness Immersing herself in meetings of homeowners associations equestrian organizations and redistricting committees Barraclough uncovers the racial biases embedded in rhetoric about open space and western heritage The Valley's urban cowboys enjoy exclusive semirural landscapes alongside the opportunities afforded by one of the world's largest cities Despite this enviable position they have at their disposal powerful articulations of both white victimization and with little contradiction color blind politics
